The Carmel Pine Cone

and Carmel Valley Outlook

OUR 67TH YEAR, NO. 50

DECEMBER 10, 1981

THE BULLDOZER'S BLADE may be slowed a bit in Carmel Valley by environmental concerns, as articulated in the final draft of the environmental impact report for the Carmel Valley Master Plan. (Robert Miskimon photo).

New CV Master Plan EIR in January:

EIR for CV Master Plan may halt growth when adverse effects threaten

By ROBERT MISKIMON

CONTROL mechanisms to halt development in Carmel Valley when adverse environmental effects reach certain levels should be given serious consideration for inclusion in the revised Carmel Valley Master Plan.

The final draft of the court-ordered environmental impact report on the Master Plan suggests that the Board of Supervisors consider several "trigger" mechanisms proposed by the Carmel Valley Property Owners association.

In response to the draft EIR issued last July, the CVPOA recommended that development in the Valley be halted whenever unacceptable levels of ground water pollution, traffic flow, air pollution, water depletion, or noise levels occurred.

In its final EIR document, Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco responded to most of the detailed comments by individuals and organizations filed during the public review process.

"Only comments which point out inaccuracies, request clarification on specific points, or which recommend clearly meritorious changes to the EIR are responded to," the consultant noted in the final EIR.

However, there are "numerous other suggestions which may be useful and hence should be carefully considered in any revisions of the proposed Master Plan.

"Particularly noteworthy are the various 'triggering mechanisms' suggested by the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, the city of Carmel-by-the-Sea and others," the consultant said.

The Carmel City Council, in a resolution passed July 15, endorsed the concept of development controls tied to environmental effects, as proposed by the CVPOA.

The Board of Supervisors is tentatively scheduled to hold public hearings on the final Carmel Valley Master Plan EIR either Jan. 5 or Jan. 12, 1982, said Lynne Mounday, county staff planner.

Before the board certifies the EIR, it could take any of several actions with various effects upon the final shape of the Carmel Valley Master Plan. A Monterey County Superior Court moratorium has halted any new Valley development until June of 1982, to allow the Master Plan to be revised and re-adopted.

"The Board of Supervisors could re-adopt the Master Plan with no changes if it made a finding that because of overriding social or economic considerations, they deem the mitigation measures in the EIR unfeasible," Mounday explained.

"Or it could adopt some of the mitigation measures and eliminate others with the same kind of findings. The board could adopt all the mitigation measures in the EIR and almost rebuild the Master Plan from the ground floor."

ANOTHER COURSE of action open to the supervisors would be to continue the moratorium on new development and consider the Carmel Valley Master Plan EIR a part of Monterey Peninsula area portion of the county general plan update, Mounday said.

If it took the latter course of action, it would mean another delay of at least a year until the Monterey Peninsula portion of the county general plan is revised, he said. The legal challenge to the Carmel Valley Master Plan brought by the city of Carmel did not produce specific directions to the Board of Supervisors, beyond preparation of an EIR, Mounday noted.

"There is a clear legal direction the board couldn't adopt the Master Plan without an environmental impact report," Mounday said. "But the court didn't go beyond that."

In at least one instance, the consultant agreed that a trigger mechanism in the Valley Master Plan would be feasible.

Carmel Valley attorney Zan Henson — who brought the Carmel lawsuit against the county which resulted in the EIR — asked whether it would be possible to create a mitigation measure to link traffic levels with buildout increments.

"Although it would necessitate constant traffic measurements and permit monitoring, such a system would be feasible and is applied elsewhere in California," the final EIR states.

The Mendocino Local Coastal Program contains a "highway capacity limitation" for Highway 1 which prohibits new building permits after full highway capacity is reached until additional capacity becomes available."

The question of acceptable development limits on the Odello property south of Carmel was side-stepped by the consultant in the final EIR. The Carmel area LCP drawn up by the Board of Supervisors would have allowed development of as many as 250 residential and visitor units on the eastern 134 acres of Odello land, but those limits are subject to change before the final LCP is adopted by the Coastal Commission.

In response to a question from the Carmel City Council on the Odello property, the EIR states:

"Specific analysis of individual projects is clearly beyond the scope of the EIR, unless the Master Plan specifically incorporates a particular project. The Odello project is not incorporated into the Master Plan but is subject to the annual quota and allocation, as are a considerable number of other projects currently proposed for the Valley."

IF THE ODELLO project is approved,

About football coach

Dear Editor:

It appears to me that the citizenry of this, presumably wealthy and affluent community is missing the whole point of the resulting controversy over the lack of success of the gallant young men who tried to form a respectable Carmel High football team.

Carmel, by all appearances, is one of the prime areas of the country for a leader of young people to want to pursue a career. Football is considered to be a major sport and usually the one the best to coach career-wise.

Therefore, if a school district in a wealthy community in one of the most beautiful areas of the country cannot attract an outstanding football coach the entire system needs to be reorganized.

Possessive?

The following letter refers to a portion of Terri Lee Robbe's column of Nov. 5, 1981, in which she listed some of the people attending a social event. Terri Lee listed actor Lorne Greene, "and his Nancy" among the guests.

Dear Editor:

Always enjoy reading the Carmel Pine Cone. However, women haven't been "his" anything... since the 13th Amendment to the Constitution in 1865. They aren't possessions, they're people.

'Thank you's'

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter in hopes that you will print my "thank you's" in your paper.

On Nov. 27, while visiting my aunt and uncle (D. & Mrs. E. R. Marshall) my daughter and I, along with two others, had the misfortune to be involved in a car accident at Carmel Valley Rd. and Rancho Road.

Now the thank you: to the paramedics, the fire dept. Officer Aubalos (badge 8883) and the hospital.

My daughter was injured in her back and the care, compassion and expert medical knowledge that was shown her was unsurpassed anywhere. We were both taken to the hospital and later released after more good care, but one expects more from the hospital.

I do hope that I can express my gratitude to these many persons, whose names I don't know, through your paper. Carmel Valley can well be proud of this group of people. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Agrees with writer

Dear Editor:

Dick Heuer's letter in last week's paper concerning the erstwhile peaceful Carmel River's recent costly "bank robberies" was timely. His reminding us of the fact — obvious, once we pause to think about it — that it is the responsibility of all of us who live in the area served by Cal-Am, and not just that of the owners of land adjacent to the streambed — is well-founded and one we all must ponder.

If a few people object loudly enough to paying their fair share of the costs of correcting the ongoing problem, the solution — if any — can be delayed for months and years.

Heuer's conclusion seems eminently correct: the drawdown of the water table, for the use of all in the Cal-Am district, is the culprit — not the landowners, and not the always welcome rains!

But there was no mention of the ultimate responsibility of our Supervisors in granting so many approvals of homes, condos, subdivisions throughout the Valley area. The incipient shortage of water has been brought to the Supervisors' attention many times by many speakers and letter-writers — according to the democratic process, we were told. The shortage of land as well as water was not foreseen by most of us.

But even if it had been, would our Supes, whose hearts are evidently in the corner with the developers (with the single exception of the Supe from South County) have paid any heed?

My own answer, based on nearly ten years of observation of a large variety of Supes' votes, would have to be a resounding Negative!

May those Supes, present and retired, enjoy their "brown water coffee" and its bitter aftertaste — except, of course, that Supes can always afford to buy bottled water. Residents of Seaside and other users of Cal-Am's supplies very often cannot.

Yours truly,
Virginia Merz

More positive approach

Dear Editor:

Our Carmel Unified School District is doing an excellent job in educating our youth and providing them with the ingredients to become responsible citizens. The Pine Cone during this past year, has not given "equal time" to publishing information relating to the positive programs and happenings at the schools.

For example, the high school girls' swim team won the league championship and received only minor recognition in your paper.

For the new year I would like you to resolve to take a more positive approach to the happenings at our schools and in our community, like the Pine Cone of the past.

Best Regards,

Qualifications for chief

Dear Editor:

City Administrator Doug Peterson's remarks (Pine Cone, Dec. 3) demonstrate his awareness of broader, more definitive qualifications for police chief.

Certainly, long-time service in the department and familiarity with the residents and businesses are valuable (if they don't interfere with the objectivity needed in the city's head law officer.)

But administrative and management abilities are mandatory, the capacity for leadership of the department is vital, and demonstration of sensitivity to real problems of the community should be criteria for a chief of police.

How fortunate it would be to choose a candidate with all of the above qualifications!

Recruiting for wrong job?

Dear Editor:

With regard to the Carmel Chief of Police vacancy, I cannot find any justification for the City Administrator to conduct "outside" recruiting when we have in Captain Fischer an outstanding police officer who knows the local situation and in every respect is eminently qualified to be chief.

He has been recommended by his current boss, Chief Ellis, and to my thinking, if Bob Fischer is good enough for Bill Ellis, he should be good enough for Doug Peterson.

Maybe we are conducting "outside" recruiting for the wrong position.

Sincerely,
Stan Ewig

Wants Fischer

Dear Editor:

I want Captain Fischer to be our chief of police, and so do most people in Carmel.

Our city manager may well choose him, or even some superior chief, but my question is this: Why are we subject to the power of the city manager? Why, in a democracy, is the choice left to an employee of the people's representatives?

How do we know this tiny Carmel bureaucracy has the same interests as the people it is supposed to serve? This system contains more potential danger than we should allow.

A tale of two frustrated citizens

By AL EISNER

MAYOR BARNEY LAIOLO has some pretty harsh things to say about certain members of the Carmel City Council (see story adjoining page).

He is particularly exercised because of the astounding action taken by a majority of the lawmaking body which removed Councilman Howard Brunn from the General Plan Advisory Committee because he was too "growth oriented." Brunn, who was in Europe at the time, couldn't even defend himself.

(An irony that seems to have escaped notice around here is that Brunn was elected largely through the efforts of the Old Carmel lobby, which was formed to represent the interests of the residents of Carmel.)

The mayor's frustration has been building ever since his election almost two years ago. He has been on the short end of many votes on issues that were defined as "resident-oriented" or "business oriented."

It's time we laid that phoney distinction to rest. The interests of the residents of Carmel are intertwined with the interests of the business community.

A healthy business district is essential for the well-being of the residential district.

The apparent stalemate on the revision of the General Plan is due to the constant bickering on the council and the insistence of a council majority that the interests of the residents of Carmel are paramount... as a matter of fact, it would seem it is the only thing that matters.

ANOTHER FRUSTRATED person in town is Dr. Toland Doud. A retired dentist, Doud is a member of the family that owns a substantial portion of the business district of Carmel.

His energies right now are being directed towards convincing the city that Capt. Bob Fischer ought to be named chief of police. (See article page 3 and advertisement page 5.)

He has been out on the streets obtaining signatures on petitions which will be presented to the council when it meets Tuesday night.

Why is Doud frustrated? Because he is well aware that the majority of the members of the council will heed only the voices of residents of Carmel. He has carefully avoided seeking signatures from non-residents.

But, he said to me woefully this week, what about the businesspeople and property owners in Carmel? Don't they count at all?

Doud, who lives just outside the city limits, said that an unemployed recently in reference to the appointment of Captain Bob Fischer to the position of Chief of Police of the City of Carmel.

As I stated, Bob worked for me for 23 years prior to my retirement almost six years ago. During that time his performance of duties was exemplary. He started as a patrolman and during the years, attended all schools offered to him to further his career in police work.

During my tenure, Bob attended the National F.B.I. Academy graduating in the top ten of his class. There was never any doubt in my mind that Bob Fischer was capable of moving up to be head of his department. He has proven his loyalty to the Carmel Police Department many times over the years he has been employed by this City.

While I was National President of the dishwasher living in a garage apartment has a voice in Carmel government, while his credentials are questionable.

He and his family own priceless commercial property in downtown Carmel including much of the highly-sensitive frontage on Ocean Avenue. Yet, Doud and other responsible businessmen, are apparently going to be systematically excluded from taking part in the formulation of a new General Plan that will guide the direction the city is going to take in the foreseeable future.

The reason? They are businesspeople, and not residents. Phooey! Does Doud love Carmel any less than others because he owns commercial property downtown?

The expertise of hundreds of seasoned businesspeople who could make a significant contribution to the general plan process is being scorned. The decisions will then be made, apparently, by a group of well-meaning amateurs who are willing to make long-winded speeches about the need to "save Carmel," but who don't have the faintest notion of how to achieve that laudable goal.

I guess membership on the committee will be open only to those persons willing to swear a secret oath to do all they can to strangle the business district in the mistaken belief that this will in some vague way, help preserve Carmel.

Doud stated that he might buy a house in Carmel so he could sign the petition. I went further. "Buy a house in the city limits," I suggested, "and then run for the city council."

If we are ever going to rid ourselves of the impotent, ineffective people who have a majority vote on our city council now, it will be when people with broader perspective agree to run for office.

Maybe the most positive thing the Carmel Business Association could do within the next couple of months is buy a couple of houses (or maybe even just rent them) for some worthy people who might agree to campaign for a seat on the city council.

The style of this council has been to obscure, delay, obfuscate, confuse, stall and talk a lot. Whenever a new "threat" appears, the response has been to enact a moratorium. When these moratoriums expire, will there be meaningful legislation that will take care of the supposed problem, or will their bankrupt policies finally be exposed as inept and inadequate?

The municipal elections are coming up in just a few short months. That will be the time to take action to make sure that our government is in the hands of people with mature ideas and sound judgment.

F.B.I. N.A., I had to attend meetings throughout the United States. I came into contact with many heads of police departments, and I would say without a doubt, Bob Fischer would match up with any of them, if not better.

I still ask you Mr. Peterson, why solicit applications from the "outside" when Capt. Fischer is every bit as qualified as any man you may hire from outside? Plus, to his advantage, he is known by the citizens of Carmel, and he knows them and the town as well.

Yours very truly,
Clyde P. Klaumann

Petition drive says: 'Fischer for Chief'

THE DRIVE to have Capt. Robert Fischer appointed the next Carmel police chief picked up momentum this week as supporters collected signatures to present the City Council Dec. 15.

William Pentony of Carmel said he became upset last month when he learned the city was to open up the recruitment for a successor to Chief Bill Ellis to applicants from outside Carmel.

Pentony expressed his views in a letter to the editor in the Pine Cone/Outlook; numerous other letters — on both sides of the issue — subsequently appeared.

Pentony then decided to take his campaign one step further and to collect signatures to urge the Carmel City Council to promote Fischer after Ellis retires Dec. 31.

Captain Fischer's supporters hope to have at least 1,000 signatures of Carmel residents to present the council Dec. 15, although the hiring of a new police chief ultimately rests with City Administrator Doug Peterson.

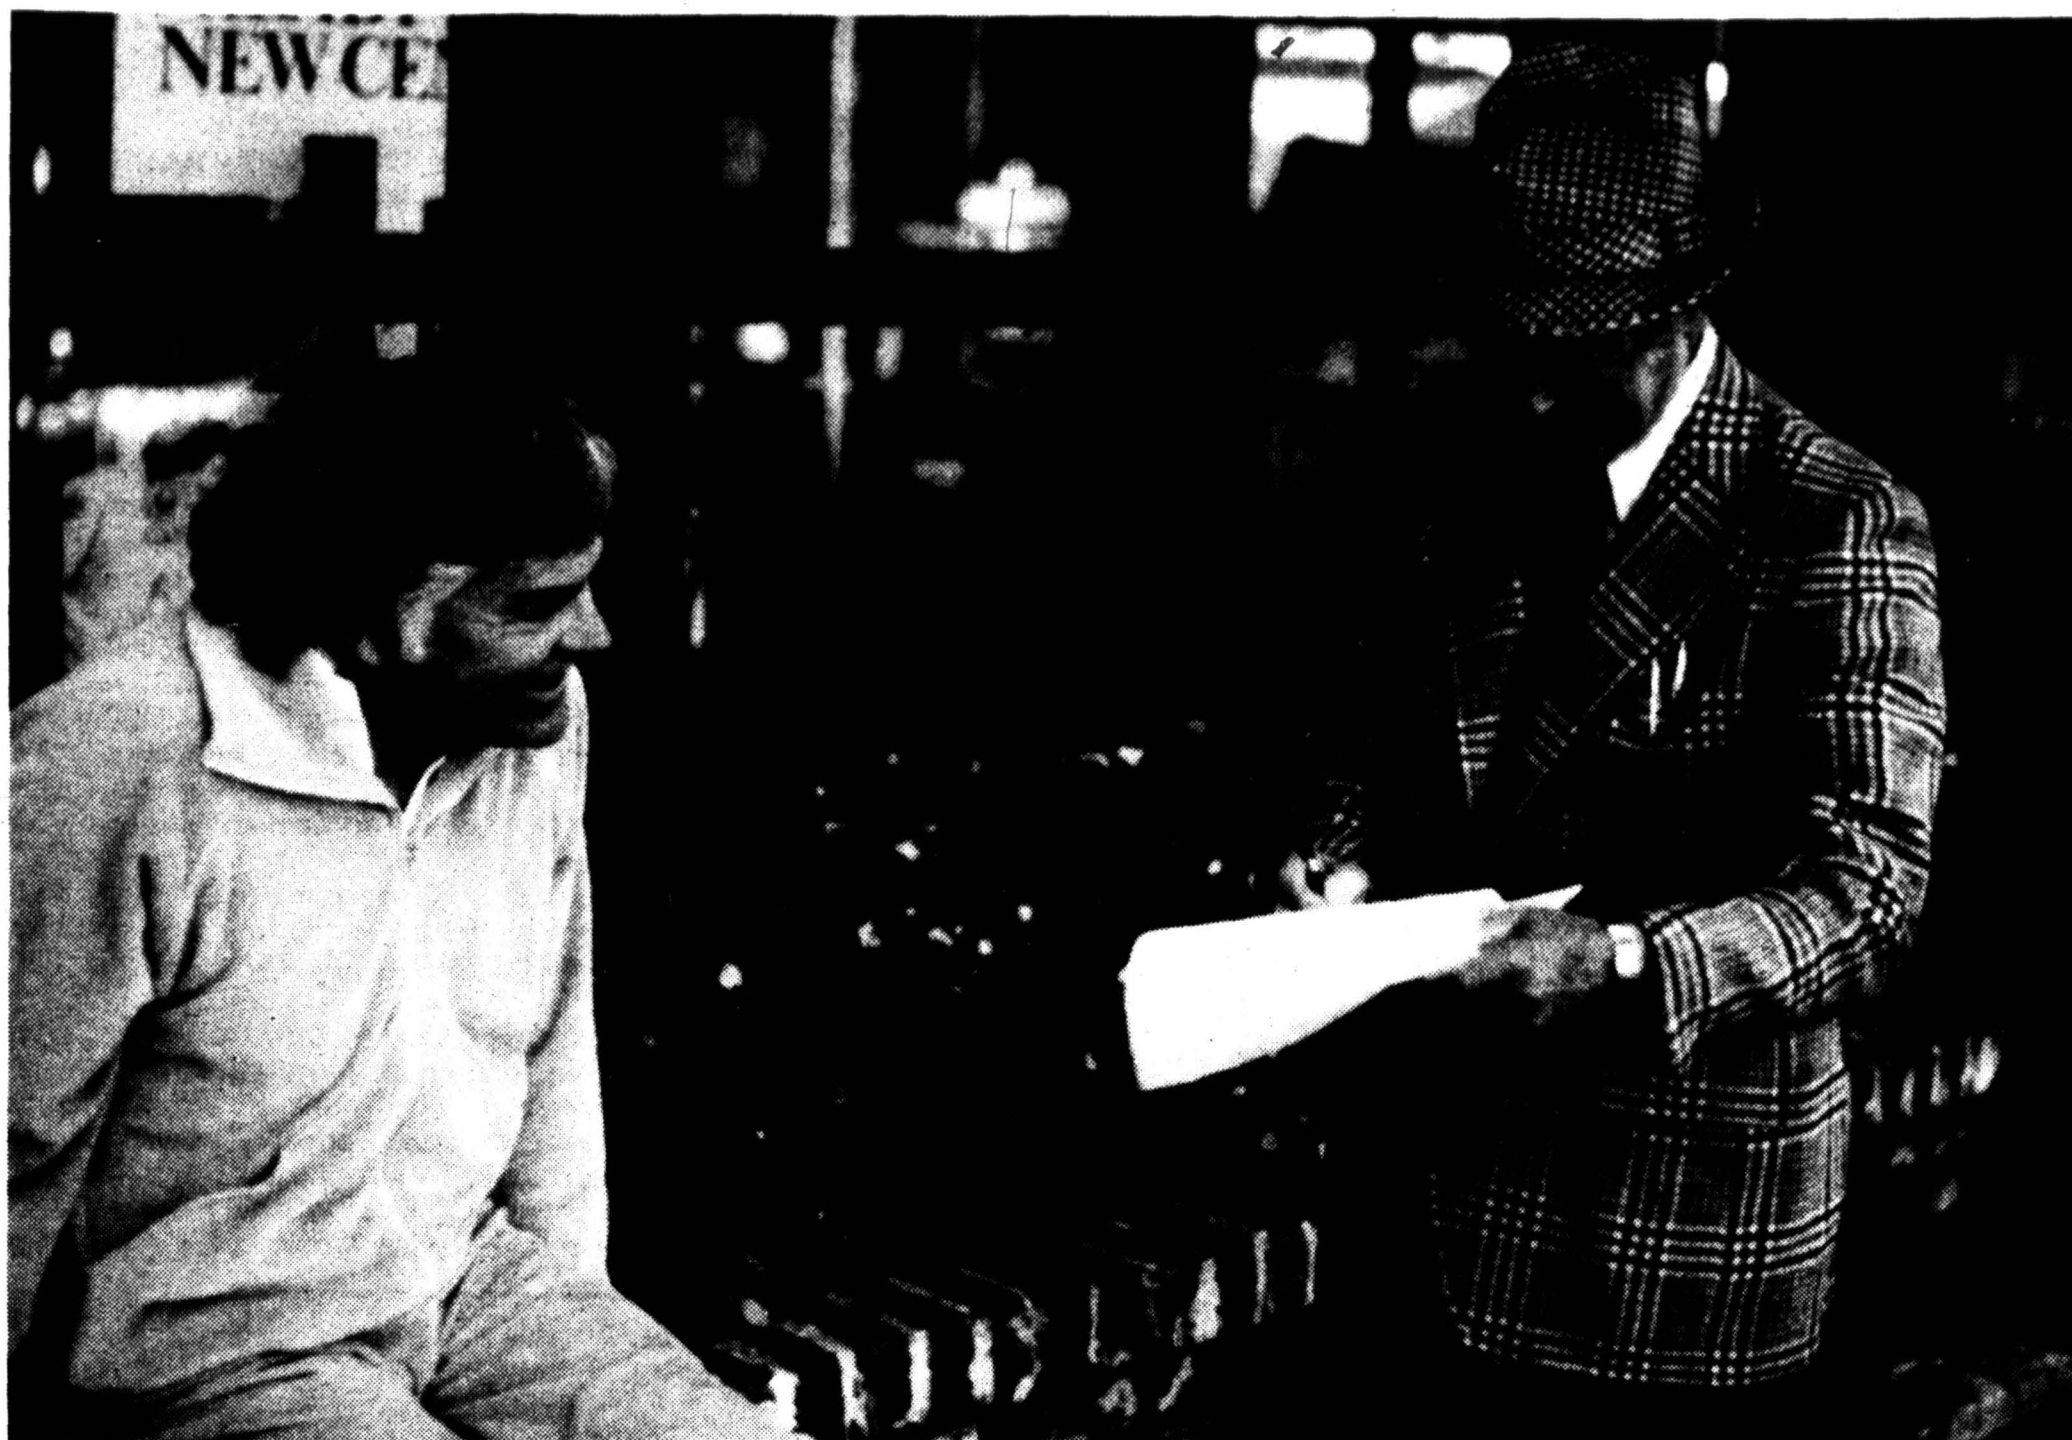

Peterson said outside recruitment has been delegated to a San Clemente personnel recruitment firm, which has placed several advertisements in regional publications and which will screen applicants to the 10 considered best-suited.

Captain Fischer is among those whose applications already have been submitted, Peterson said. Cost to the city for the personnel agency's services is $900, Peterson added.

"We think it's a waste of time and it costs a lot of money," Pentony said. He collected some 400 signatures in two days last week in front of the Carmel Post Office.

"I think it's logical to choose from among the people you know. Maybe it's a necessity for a big city to recruit outside, but it would take a long time for a person to fit into the community the way Bob Fischer fits in."

Fischer has been with the Carmel police department for 28 years, and has especially good rapport with young people, Pentony asserted.

"The criteria for filling a job like this from outside would be really hard to establish," Pentony said. "What are you going to do, judge him on the basis of how many murders he's solved?"

Pentony said he is not a personal friend of Captain Fischer, and only became involved with the controversy when he read about it in a recent issue of the Pine Cone/Outlook. "I don't know Bob Fischer well, but I'm impressed with his qualifications," he said.

"The more respect and support I see that he has, the more I think he should be our police chief."

Mayor assails 'underhanded' council

"IF I'D STAYED out of town another three weeks, I might have been off the council."

Carmel City Councilman Howard Brunn made that gloomy assessment of his colleagues last week after his removal from the general plan steering committee.

Brunn asked fellow councilmen at their Dec. 1 meeting for clarification of a motion by Councilman Mike Brown at a special meeting Nov. 19 for Brunn's replacement on the committee by Councilwoman Helen Arnold.

That motion was passed on a 3-1 vote, over the opposition of Mayor Barney Laiolo.

He learned to his dismay, Brunn said, that his removal while he was in Europe on business was — in Councilwoman Helen Arnold's words — because he was "growth-oriented."

And Councilman Brunn said he was further disappointed to learn that his replacement was to be permanent.

"There never has been much trust between me and (Councilman) Mike Brown," Brunn remarked after last Tuesday's council session. "It seems that (Nov. 19) meeting was evidently an out-of-control meeting. Those things happen, I don't bear any grudge about it."

The Nov. 19 session was a joint council-planning commission-general plan committee meeting with Earth Metrics, the Burlingame consultant under contract to revise the general plan, to review draft goals and objectives.

Considerable criticism was directed at Earth Metrics, both by public officials and citizens, for the draft document.

"I'd say that was a typical reaction of Mike Brown," Councilman Brunn observed. "But I was a little disappointed that Helen Arnold got caught up in the heat of the moment. I'd say the meeting got a little out of hand."

"I'm a little disappointed and discouraged but I feel it's healthy this has been vented."

Brunn said felt it was unfair to characterize him as "growth-oriented" as an implication he isn't concerned about the residential aspects of the village.

"I grew up here and love Carmel," Brunn said. "I'm on the council because I feel I now can give back a little bit of the sort of thing I cherish. The only hope for the town is the residential character.

"We have to live together. I'm one of the two people on the council who can pull the business and residential sectors together. The business people aren't ogres or devils. I'd say that all of us who live in Carmel have enjoyed the tremendous appreciation of real estate values over the years."

MAYOR LAIOLO was angered at the other three council members for their decision to replace Brunn on the general plan steering committee.

"That woman (Mrs. Arnold) is out of her mind and so is Mike Brown," the mayor said. "I just don't think it's right. Suppose I was sick for a week. Would they just remove me from the council?"

"That was a planned, under-handed, con-ning approach. Most of this is planned and orchestrated by Mrs. Arnold. They get together and discuss how they're going to vote by telephone, and I think it's a violation of the Brown Act."

"One of these days I hope somebody clobbers her (Mrs. Arnold) over the head with a two-by-four."

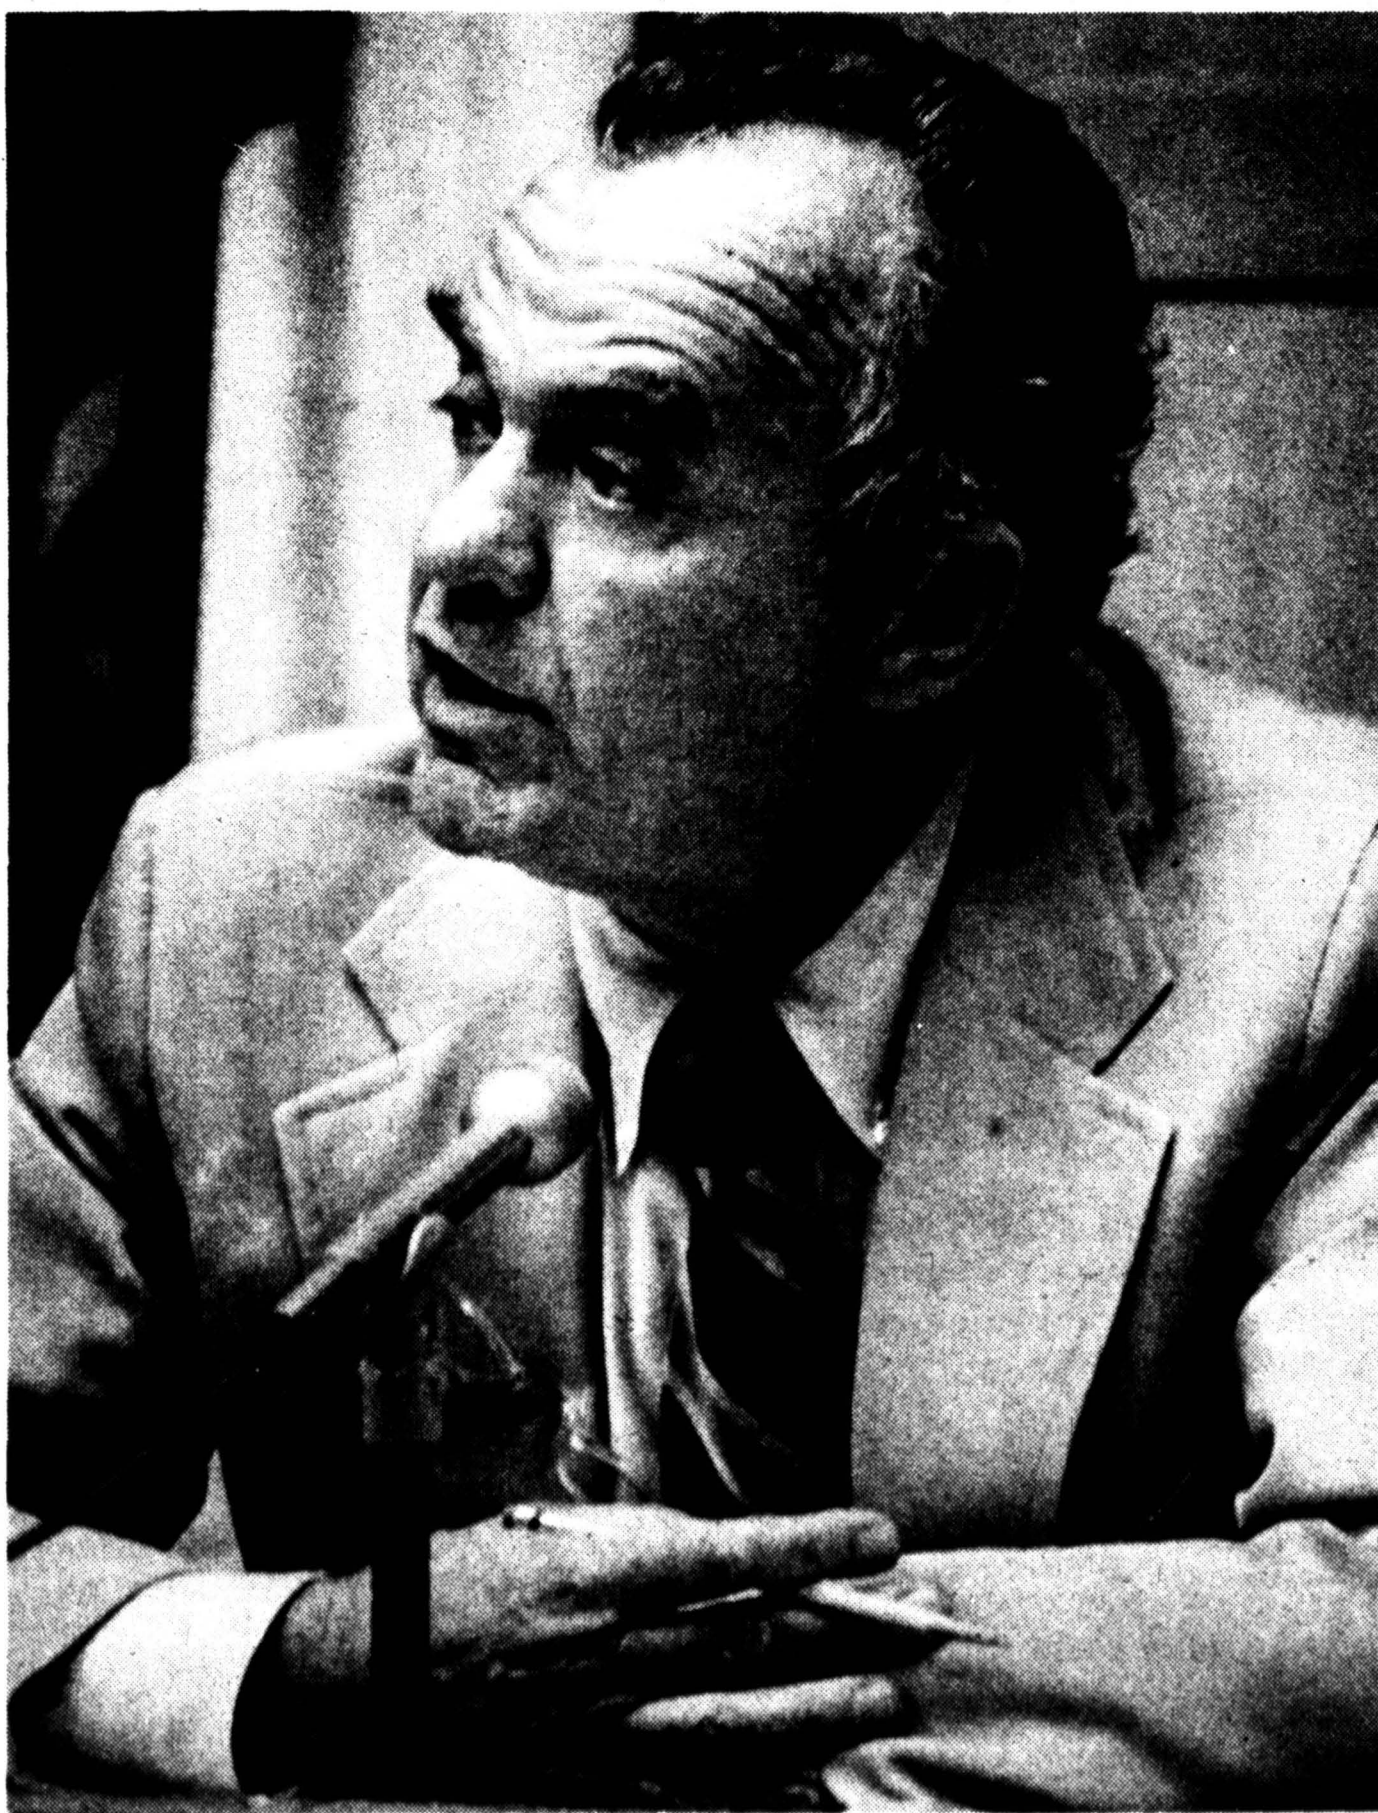

The Brown Act is a state law which requires public and press access to the deliberations of governmental agencies.

Mayor Laiolo said he finds Mrs. Arnold's attitude difficult to understand since "she's been buying and selling real estate for years, and I don't a piece of real estate except my home."

Laiolo said the fact that council members may run for mayor while still sitting on the council may be the source of some of the friction. But a considerable portion of the problem he ascribed to stubbornness.

"No matter what I suggest, they vote against it anyway. They're just a bunch of damn fools," the mayor said. "If I were Howard Brunn, I'd really raise hell about this."

COUNCILMAN Howard Brunn is dismayed at his removal by three council members from the general plan steering committee when he was in Europe last month, and wonders whether he might have been removed from the council, had he stayed out of town a few more weeks.

New ordinance would ban timesharing in all Carmel

TIMESHARING would be banned from Carmel under an ordinance scheduled for public hearing by the planning commission Dec. 16.

The ordinance to be prepared by City Atty. George Brehmer will reflect a recommendation by the land use committee to prohibit timesharing altogether in Carmel.

After the hearing, the ordinance would be forwarded to the City Council for another hearing and possible adoption. Timesharing has been prohibited under a moratorium passed by the council which will remain in effect until May of 1982.

The planning commission will hold the hearing at 4 p.m. in city hall. It comes on the heels of Coastal Commission approval last week of a timesharing unit at 24799 Guadalupe St. in the unincorporated area of Carmel.

Commissioners have made no secret of their dislike for timesharing in previous discussions, but they were instructed by the city attorney that any prohibitive legislation would have to be based on factual findings.

The land use committee was directed Oct. 28 to make a study of timesharing and to develop factual findings. The committee report lists 22 findings to support its recommendation.

One of those findings is that "the premise of the (Carmel) zoning ordinance finds that many of the needed uses for the community may be found in the adjoining cities." Some of the other findings are that:

- "Timesharing has been found to be an undesirable use within the residential district which is zoned for permanent residents rather than for transient occupancy."
- "The city is presently some 97 percent built out and new development is an infill situation."
- "There is ample area outside the city limits where such use could be established."
- "A shortage of short-time visitor accommodations could increase motel rates within the city due to increased demand."
- "Sale of timeshare units does create an inflated price for buildings within a community and inflated values are already a critical problem."
- "Conversion of motel units (to timesharing) would be in violation of existing zoning."

That ordinance would have allowed one timesharing unit for each 10 hotel or motel units in the C-1-S zone. In the C-1-L district, it would have allowed a total of 59 timesharing units, based on a formula of one timesharing unit per 10 hotel or motel units.

Timesharing units typically involve multiple ownership of condominium or apartment units under a contractual management agreement. Ownership of the units is generally broken down into one or two-week period.

The Mayor's Report

'A stab in the back with a twist'

By BARNEY LAIOLO

YOU'VE HEARD OF "Scotch with a twist" or "vodka with a twist" many times, I'm sure, but since the action taken by some of our Council at the last meeting a new libation should be called "SITWAB." This means "Stab in the back with a twist."

The audacity of Brown, Arnold and Lloyd to permanently remove a member of the Council from a committee while he was absent from one meeting without having the decency to at least have a chance to defend himself just baffles me. I wonder what would have happened had the tables been reversed? 'Nuff said.

Also at the last meeting, much discussion centered on the problem of fireworks at the beach on the Fourth of July. Several ideas were presented but no final conclusions were reached.

Gred D'Ambrosio asked me to remind all who are interested in planting trees on their property that on Saturday, Dec. 19 from 8:30 to 11 a.m. you can go to the Post Office parking lot and receive them free. Also for those who would like to have Christmas boughs, they are available now at San Carlos and 10th at Sunset Center. Help yourself.

The report of the State of the Forest will be completed this week. This will inform you of the condition of our forest and I know you will be happy to know our forest is progressing well.

Give someone a Christmas present... plan to donate a pint of blood on Friday, Dec. 18 at the Carmel Red Cross House, Dolores and 8th, 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Shop early... drive safely... help support our own merchants.

Smiling through the tears,
Mayor Barney

P.S. Middle age is the time when you know all the answers but nobody asks the questions.

City offers free, freshly-clipped pine boughs

Carmelites who want to create Christmas wreaths may get free, freshly-clipped pine boughs, courtesy of the Carmel Forestry Department.

The pine clippings are available at the northeast corner of the parking lot at Sunset Center, and will be free for the taking until Christmas, a forestry spokesperson said this week. For more information, call the forestry department at 624-3543.

Audubon plans 'Topless Trip'

The Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the Audubon Society has scheduled a 'topless trip' to the mouth of the Carmel River for Tuesday, Dec. 15. Bring binoculars.

Actually, 'topless' denotes a leaderless excursion, says Margaret Moody, publicity chairman for the Society. The walk around the marsh promises sightings of plovers, snipes and hawks.

"We are all properly clad," Moody avers. Meet at the Stewart's Cove parking lot at 9:30 a.m. The public is invited.

On Saturday, Dec. 12, the Audubon Society will visit the Palo Alto Baylands at extreme high tide for a gander at marsh birds, especially rails. Since rails do not fly, says Moody, they have little choice but to float in on the tide and subject themselves to the scrutiny of birdwatchers.

Meet at 8:30 a.m. at the K-Mart parking lot in Seaside for carpooling to Palo Alto. Bring waders, if you have them, and lunch. Again, the public is invited. For more information phone 624-3402.

Tradition

That's what Carmel is all about. Carmelites care about the town, its trees and flowers, its beaches, and, remarkably, about each other. It's a tradition.

We've never needed to look to other cities for guidance in determining the qualities we felt were important to us. The residents, through their elected councils, have shaped this remarkable community in a way that has made it the most desirable place to live in the United States.

Traditionally, we have chosen our department heads from among the people who have worked for the city and proven themselves in their jobs over the years. It's a sensible selection process for a small community. Experience is the most important qualification a department head can have. That's tradition ...and a wise one. Retiring Police chief Bill Ellis and former Police Chief Clyde Klau-mann have both enthusiastically recommended Fischer's appointment as Chief.

Within a few hours at the Carmel post office, over 400 residents signed petitions in favor of the appointment of Bob Fischer as the next Police Chief of Carmel. We now have 1000 signatures. What is most impressive is the depth and range of his support — from high school kids to a 78-year resident of Carmel, he is the overwhelming choice for the job.

The City Council has decided that Doug Peterson, the City Administrator, who, incidentally, was appointed to his job, should take the responsibility for selecting the next chief of police. Something about procedure. Or as one city councilman said, "That's the way it's done when you have a city manager."

We prefer tradition. It has been good for Carmel. Tradition has given us strong and knowledgeable leadership over the years, because promoting from within is a continuous tradition that builds and maintains morale.

Let's be sensible! Let's follow the traditions those dedicated leaders of Carmel established years ago. Let's choose tradition! Let's choose Bob Fischer!

The City Council meets Tuesday, December 15. The city manager will be there. We'll be there with one thousand petitions signed by Carmel residents, property owners and business people who want Bob Fischer appointed Chief of Police of Carmel.

Let's make it a Merry Christmas for the Fischer family and a Happy New Year for Carmel.

Thank you,

Bill Pentony

City Council meets Tuesday:

City Council to tackle beach erosion (finally)

PROTECTION of Carmel Beach against continued erosion will occupy the attention of the Carmel City Council when it meets at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 15 in city hall.

Engineer Jon Raggett will give the council an estimate of the cost to reinforce the beach area near 10th and Scenic with rocks to slow down erosion which threatens several trees.

And City Administrator Doug Peterson is to present the council with a report on a design procedure for a beach stairway walkway on Scenic Drive, for which the city already has budgeted $25,000.

Peterson said he will recommend the formation of a committee to select and work with a designer for the project.

The council is to make an appointment Dec. 15 to a four-year term of office on the Forestry Commission, and may appoint a citizen with an engineering background to assist in beach protection measures. Support for such an appointment was favored by Forestry Commission members in their November meeting.

In other business, the council will again consider modification of the General Plan Advisory Committee to allow its members to vote. That recommendation, and several others by the city administrator, were shelved until Dec. 15 by the council at its Dec. 1 meeting.

The council is also to consider a proposed three-month extension of the schedule for the committee and Earth Metrics — the Burlingame consulting firm under contract to the city — to complete revision of the Carmel general plan.

The council will consider approval or a memorandum of understanding with management employees for a 10 percent retroactive salary increase for the 1981-82 fiscal year.

An ordinance which would shorten the probationary period for all general city employees from one year to six months is also scheduled. Another ordinance scheduled for introduction would change the time of council meetings from 7:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., to schedule executive sessions at the start — rather than the end — of meetings.

The city administrator is to give the council a progress report on the planned $65,000 remodeling of city hall.

Report from Sacramento

"Sin" taxes

By SAM FARR, Assemblyman, 28th A.D.

DON'T GO RAISIN' taxes, Sam," the well-wishers told me shortly after I was sworn in. "Do what you want up in Sacramento, but don't even make a peep about raisin' taxes, because the people won't stand for it."

These days, the political wisdom is that if you want to save your elected hide, then oppose tax increases of any kind.

But I don't intend to mince words with you, my constituents, I'm going to talk about taxes, particularly the so-called "sin" taxes, but first a little background.

I recently appeared before the state allocations board on behalf of the Bay View Elementary School in Santa Cruz. The school applied for an $80,000 grant to construct a sound barrier so the honks and noise of the busy Mission Highway 1 and Bay intersection wouldn't disrupt class work.

The board agreed that the evidence is on the side of the school—that a sound barrier would be the cheapest, most effective way to deal with a serious educational problem.

The catch? Nowhere near enough money to go around, no matter how sensible the project, or critical the repairs. The examples go on and on.

AND NOW, on to "sin" taxes—the taxes paid on cigarettes, alcoholic beverages, and parimutuel wagering.

I want it to be clear from the outset that I am not leading a parade to increase those, or any other taxes. My only intention here is to share information and to ask you for your ideas.

First, the "sin" taxes yielded an estimated $456 million in 1980-81. Thus, they are a significant source of revenue.

Second, relative to the other 49 states, California's sin taxes are consistently on the low side. Consider this:

- Our cigarette tax of 10 cents per pack is about 3 cents below the national average;
- Our distilled spirits tax rate of $2 per gallon is about 64 cents below the average for all other states;
- California's beer tax of 4 cents per gallon is less than one-fourth the average of all the other states—17.2 cents a gallon;
- The average tax rate on wine below 14 percent alcohol content is 48.6 cents per gallon, while California assesses only 1 cent per gallon;
- Our effective tax rate of 6 cents per dollar wagered in parimutuel betting is about a half-cent below the average rate charged by the rest of the states.

Third, consider that the current dime-a-pack tax on cigarettes has remained constant for nearly 15 years—despite the fact that inflation has reduced the relative contribution of this tax to the General Fund, as well as the "burden" of this tax as a portion of product price. The same is true for the taxes on distilled spirits, beer and dry wine, which have had "frozen" rates since 1967, 1959 and 1937 respectively.

Fourth, consider that just a 1 cent increase in the current sin taxes would yield about $62 million a year. And, if California's rates were at the average of all other 49 states, it would generate an additional $272 million a year over current collections—much of which would flow back to financially strapped local governments.

TIMES ARE TIGHT. We must eliminate ineffective programs and streamline the good ones. We've made some progress in that direction. But it may also make sense to discuss raising sin taxes, especially because they lag way behind other states, and there is a significant personal and public cost on society as a result of those activities—e.g., increased health care, law enforcement and welfare/unemployment costs.

CV firemen volunteer to help Santa deliver

The Carmel Valley Fire Protection District will help Santa deliver gifts to children residing within the district's boundaries.

Fire Chief Robert V. Heald said that gifts will be delivered between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. on Christmas Eve.

Parents wishing to participate are required to provide the department with a gift for each child. Gift packages may be left at the fire station on Via Contenta Road any day between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Deadline is 3:30 p.m., Dec. 24.

The department requests that parents provide only one package per child. No animals, bicycles, or extra large packages will be accepted, according to Chief Heald.

Attached to each package must be a card no smaller than 3 inches by 5 inches containing the child's name, address and telephone number. If a house is difficult to locate, written directions should also be provided.

Hospice opens Resource Center

Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula has opened a Resource Center at 165 Webster in downtown Monterey to provide information and help to anyone who has any kind of concern about a life-threatening illness.

There is an extensive library dealing with cancer and other health-related topics, as well as comfortable surroundings for confidential conversations. Patients, their friends and relatives and health professionals may all use the library's services without charge.

Sandy Larson, a professional librarian, will be on hand from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday to locate material and answer questions. She will be assisted by volunteers. For more information phone 625-0666.

INVESTIGATOR Don Stacy of the Department of Forestry holds the electrical switch box which was believed to have short-circuited and caused the fire in the ceramics building. The switch was connected to a kiln. Although the district insurance covers the loss, Supt. Bill Rand said a reimbursement of $30,000 would not be adequate to rebuild a ceramics facility. Garcia wants to challenge Carmel Valley moratorium

THE MONTEREY County Board of Supervisors will consider a developer's challenge to the Carmel Valley building moratorium at 11:30 a.m., Tuesday, Dec. 15.

Danny Garcia, through attorney Brian Finegan of Salinas, asserts that the tentative subdivision map for his proposed Rancho Mar Monte development has been approved "by operation of law."

Deputy County Counsel Jose Ramos will advise the Board of Supervisors to deny the appeal since the proposed subdivision is covered by the Carmel Valley building moratorium.

Garcia, owner of the Garcia Gallery in Carmel and a resident of High Meadow, wants to subdivide an 11-acre parcel above the High Meadow area into 10 lots for development into 10 single-family dwellings. The Rancho Mar Monte project is located at the end of Via Mar Monte Avenue. The area is included in the Carmel Valley Master Plan planning area, said Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon.

Finegan bases the appeal upon an assertion that because Garcia's tentative subdivision map has been pending without action for more than a year, it has been legally approved.

Garcia submitted his tentative subdivision map application to the county planning department in March of 1979; an application for rezoning was also submitted at about the same time, Finegan said in his appeal.

The county planning department notified Garcia by letter dated April 30, 1979 that both applications were complete, and both items appeared on the June 27, 1979 planning commission agenda, Ramos indicated.

At that meeting, the planning commission recommended preparation of a negative declaration of environmental impact with mitigation measures for the rezoning of the Rancho Mar Monte project, Ramos said. The tentative subdivision map was tabled.

The Board of Supervisors adopted the planning commission recommendation for preparation of a declaration of negative environmental impact with mitigation measures for rezoning, and the notice of determination was filed with the county clerk July 3, 1979.

On the same date, however, the Board of Supervisors enacted Ordinance No. 2543, the Carmel Valley Interim Ordinance, which clamped a freeze on processing of new subdivisions pending revision of the Carmel Valley Master Plan.

That moratorium has been extended by other county ordinances and by court order until June of 1982.

Since the proposed Rancho Mar Monte subdivision is within the scope of those ordinances and court order, the county is obligated to deny the subdivision, Ramos said.

"At the time this subdivision was pending, after July 3, 1979, an interim ordinance was in effect during the time that the Carmel Valley Master Plan was being updated," Ramos said in his recommendation to the board for denial of the appeal.

"The ordinance specifically prohibited subdivisions pending the update of the Carmel Valley Master Plan. Therefore, approval of the subdivision would have been contrary to the interim ordinances or to the court order which extended their operation to the present date.

"Approval by operation of law is effective only if the county is authorized by law to take action approving, conditionally approving, or disapproving the applications involved."

Approval sought for three office buildings

MONTEREY County Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon will consider today (Dec. 10) a request for a use permit to build three office buildings with 15,500 sq. ft. of space at Carmel Center.

Public hearing on the use permit application is scheduled for 1:50 p.m. in the county courthouse in Salinas.

Developer of the proposed office building is Carmel Properties. The project contemplates construction of one office building with 3,900 sq. ft. of space, and two with 6,800 sq. ft. of space each.

The offices would be located behind the Arco service station just off Rio Road near the mouth of Carmel Valley. The zoning administrator's meetings are open to the public.

Valley is where the action is

By FLORENCE MASON

Six Carmelites are among those who passed the recent state bar exam. That's all the more impressive when you consider that this year's statewide passing rate was exceptionally low with only 48.2 percent of the 7,625 applicants passing the test.

The successful Carmel residents are: Thomas Frazier, Anna-Louise Anello, Corey Douglas Garber, Michaelen Moraz, Mark Edward Myers and John J. Macpherson.

Tom Frazier was one of six out of 10 Monterey College of Law July graduates who passed the exam. That puts the local college's passing rate at 60 percent, considerably higher than the state average.

Frazier is particularly wellknown in Carmel because he was a police sergeant here for 11 years. Currently, he is on leave of absence pending a court decision on his application for medical retirement. He was injured in a fight while on duty several years ago and he said that physicians advised him not to return to active police work. The city denied his application ("That's pretty much automatic," Frazier said) so the issue is now in the courts.

In the meantime, Frazier has been acting as a law clerk in the Monterey office of attorney Patrick Piggott. He will remain with that firm as an attorney and looks forward to handling a variety of cases, including some criminal law.

His wife, Jacqueline, is a registered nurse at Community Hospital. The couple owns a home in Carmel.

Congratulations are certainly in order for Tom and the other new attorneys!

You might think that the Carmel Valley Mistletoe Co. is a seasonal business. Not so! Mistletoe balls and bayleaf wreaths are just the beginning for co-owners Diana Sharp Sinclair and Carol Hunter Stewart.

This brand new business is permanent and all-year round. The two young Carmel Valley women will be selling a variety of items, mostly "early American, hand-crafted." They will have reproductions of antiques, kits for embroidery, wooden houses and other unusual merchandise.

The Carmel Valley Mistletoe Co. is a service organization, too. Diana Sinclair has truck and will travel — to help customers select, decorate or undecorate Christmas trees. She and Ms. Stewart will also wrap gifts or shop for their customers at any time of the year.

Diana Sinclair was born on the Peninsula and has lived in Carmel Valley since 1966 — except for a four-year stay at Lake Tahoe. She returned here in 1978 when she married Bob Sinclair, who is a brick mason. She is an avid horseback rider, skis and shoots skeet.

Carol Stewart returned to Carmel after seven years during which she lived in Marin County and worked in San Francisco. For some time she had been planning to come back here to live and work in the country (she has an apartment in mid-valley now). She and Mrs. Sinclair had been friends for a long time and the association was natural for them. Both are free-lance "realistic" artists, too.

In addition to the business and their art work, each has other time demands. Mrs. Sinclair is a student at MPC and Ms. Stewart has just started to work at West Coast Aquaculture Foundation. "I'm really interested in that, too," she said. "The foundation represents abalone farms and other fish-raising businesses in the western states."

Somehow, these active and talented young women will find time to be Christmas helpers — all year 'round!

"Dedication" is a word that keeps cropping up when you talk with Bill Lee about the new restaurant he and Dave Wheeler will soon open.

Billy Quon's — "A great place for great ribs" — will open on or about Dec. 26, in The Crossroads. That has been the target date, and as of last week, it still looked "fairly good." "All our equipment is in," Lee said, "and the construction is on schedule." There is even a sign that calls attention to the location, just to the left of The Crossroads' clock tower, near the main entrance of the new shopping center.

Dedication to the restaurant business is what Lee keeps coming back to as we talk about decor, the menu, prices, and all the other elements of running a restaurant. "You have to love the business, you have to have that spirit," Lee said. "It's the same for both Dave and me. Neither of us is married and all our time and enthusiasm is directed here."

The partners had teachers and models: Ted Balestreri and Bert Cutino, owners of the much-honored Sardine Factory in Monterey and other Peninsula restaurants. Lee said: "They are involved in the restaurant business on a national scale, but with spirit and enthusiasm for the Monterey Peninsula. We want to do what they did as a tribute to them as well as for our own satisfaction."

Young as they are, Bill Lee (28) and Dave Wheeler (38) bring many years' experience to Billy Quon's. Lee was with the Balestreri-Cutino organization nine years, the last four as general manager of the Sardine Factory. Wheeler opened the first store wholly dedicated to the sale and promotion of California wines — Wines of California, in the Carmel Center, and originated the California Wine Festival. He is still on the

EIR could strangle growth in Valley

the number of units would be figured as part of the proposed 2,500 additional dwelling units in the Valley and would be assessed on its merits, the EIR states.

"Even if the Odello project is approved in the LCP, there is no rational basis for the argument that the EIR on the Master Plan

'It is unknown which level of development would cause...contamination to reach hazardous levels' should discuss the project-specific impacts related to potential development on the site."

The final EIR does take a specific position, however, with respect to the longstanding controversy over whether aquifer drawdown by high-volume California-American Water Co. wells has adversely affected Carmel River vegetation.

"The adverse effects of water table drawdown on riparian vegetation are thoroughly and unequivocally documented" in an EIR on Cal-Am wells prepared by the Environmental Impact Planning Corporation and the county planning department, the document states.

"The possibility of a connection between loss of riparian vegetation and riverbank erosion was confirmed in a geological study prepared by Robert Curry for the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District."

Results of the Carmel Valley ground water study just completed by Montgomery Engineers for Monterey County and the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District should be used to help define acceptable growth limits, the EIR states.

In response to a question from attorney Zan Henson of Carmel Valley about whether growth levels contemplated in the Master Plan would necessitate sewerage the Valley or construction of a new dam on the upper

Carmel River, the EIR says:

"It is unknown which level of development would cause ground water contamination to reach hazardous levels. The results of the forthcoming Carmel Valley septic system study hopefully would be used to avert such structural solutions."

The final EIR also recommends the study results be used to answer the question of what levels of ground water contamination would dictate a halt to use of more septic systems in the Valley.

With respect to traffic volumes in the lower Valley along Carmel Valley Road, "the mitigation measures indeed should be more clearly articulated," according to the consultant. The question was raised by a letter from the League of Women Voters.

"It is recommended that if, in the process of preparing the final Master Plan, permitted densities in the lower Valley area of development concentration are increased, serious

NEW DEVELOPMENT in Carmel Valley is halted under a building moratorium in effect while the Carmel Valley Master Plan is updated. Previously-approved projects — such consideration also should be given to reducing densities correspondingly elsewhere in the Valley."

The final EIR disagrees with a suggestion by Monterey attorney Thomas Jamison that to permit a tripling of Master Plan densities for the proposed High Meadow II development would have a beneficial effect "in that it would concentrate a larger portion of the allowable Valley growth in a low-impact area relative to other Valley locations further inland."

"Permitting higher densities at a presumably desirable development location would not diminish development impacts in the remainder of the Valley unless permitted development densities are reduced corresponas the Valley Greens condo development in Carmel Valley Village — are the only ones where construction is allowed.

dingly at other locations in the Valley," the EIR responds.

"If the High Meadows II amendment, or any other proposal to increase Master Plan densities at specific locations, is approved, it would establish a precedent for grafting exceptions onto the plan, a trend which would be difficult to reverse without risk of inconsistency or arbitrariness in public decision-making.

"Thus, there is a very real potential for additional growth inducement if such amendments were to be approved without a firm and consistently applied requirement that such increases be conditioned upon corresponding density reductions elsewhere in the Valley."

Music in schools may get tune-up

THE CARMEL Unified School District wants to tune up its music program.

A district committee of parents, teachers and administrators will sample parents' attitudes about an expanded instrumental and vocal music program next year.

A survey of musical attitudes and perceived needs was circulated last week and is to be collected and compiled this week, said committee chairwoman Gull Britt Rydell.

Results of that survey with recommendations for implementation are to be presented to the board of education in January. It's Mrs. Rydell's hope that the result will be expanded music programs for students at all levels.

The number of music teachers in the district has dropped from six in 1977 to only three this year, and schedule changes have made it more difficult for students to participate in the reduced musical programs still offered, said Curriculum Director Rich Hawkins.

"This has made it necessary to cut back many fine programs," says the music survey distributed in the district. "There are currently 38 students playing string instruments at the elementary level but because Middle School has had to eliminate the orchestra these primary students can not continue. We have no feeder program to build from elementary through high school."

The self-proclaimed object of the survey is "to establish a more comprehensive program for our children."

The decline of the district's music programs dates to the passage of Prop. 13 in 1976, Hawkins said. After the measure was passed, the Middle School schedule was cut back from seven to five period per day; then the district offered an optional sixth period; and "this year we're back to a solid six periods," he said.

"When we had seven periods we could run our music programs without so much competition from other courses. As it is now, we don't have much — if any — vocal music beyond the elementary level."

The district's budget for music programs, which basically covers three teachers' salaries, is roughly $75,000 per year. Hawkins believes it may be possible to beef up the music programs without any additional major expenditure of funds.

"It's really a matter of priorities," Hawkins said. "Some areas could be realigned without spending more money. Henry Avila, our band instructor, doesn't have a full music schedule, so we have the potential for one more period of music per day now."

The questionnaire asks parents whether they want a "comprehensive music curriculum" at the middle and high schools, and whether they feel music should be a required part of the middle school curriculum.

Parents were also asked whether they want a fine arts program to cover music appreciation, art and drama at the elementary, middle, and high school levels of the district. The survey also queries parents on the types of vocal and instrumental music they would like to have available, and asks whether they desire an after-school music program.

The same timing is necessary to re-submit the Carmel area LCP to the Coastal Commission for the March hearing date, Peters said. But the board took no action to set a date for hearing of the modified Carmel area LCP.

"By board policy we will take a position on the conditions in the Big Sur LCP prior to the Coastal Commission hearings," Peters said. "That means we will have to have our report out at least 10 days before (Jan. 4).

"The report will be more extensive than just a review of the conditions themselves because it adds a whole new dimension to the plan."

Supervisor Peters was recently blasted by Roger Newell, chairman of the Big Sur Citizens Advisory Committee, for his reluctance to allow a public representative to attend meetings of the Big Sur LCP committee.

County Counsel Ralph Kuchler told supervisors the county response to Coastal Commission conditions should be made available as soon as possible, even though the Big Sur LCP will be heard again by both the Coastal Commission and the Board of Supervisors.

Big Sur LCP public hearing Jan. 4

THE PUBLIC will get its first chance to comment on proposed changes in the Big Sur Local Coastal Program Jan. 4, 1982.

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing at 9:15 a.m. on measures intended to comply with Coastal Commission conditions for acceptance of the LCP.

Those conditions have been under formulation by a committee composed of Fifth District Monterey County Supervisor William Peters, Coastal Commission staff regional director Ed Brown, and Commissioners Naomi Schwartz and John Corbett.

The Coastal Commission gave conditional approval to the Big Sur LCP Sept. 3. The plan is to be returned to the Coastal Commission for re-hearing after the Board of Supervisors agrees on modifications.

Supervisor Peters told fellow board members last week the Big Sur LCP hearing should be scheduled early in January to have it before the Coastal Commission for hearings in March.

Christmas spirit reigns in Carmel

By TERRI LEE ROBBE

A large crowd gathered at Sunset Center last Saturday afternoon to participate in the 5th annual Christmas in Carmel festivities. Director of music for the one-hour program was Ann Welchner who looked very Christmasy in a red blouse and a long black and white skirt covered with tiny reindeer.

Carmel Mayor Barney Laiolo opened the program and Father Fennessey of the Carmel Mission gave the invocation.

The combined choruses of many local churches joined in the singing of Christmas music from many lands. Jane Strauch, a soloist at the Carmel Presbyterian Church, sang I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas and asked the audience to join her in singing the chorus.

Jean Canada sang Silent Night in German and Ann Welchner, who also sings in German, joined her on the chorus. Another very beautiful solo was Mary Had a Baby, by Eula Mae Veatch.

The winner of this year's third annual Christmas song contest was Joan Cobb Hopkins who wrote a song titled Christmas Hope. Miss Hopkins joined the choir in singing the song.

Chet Frisbie, a soloist with the Carmel Community Church, sang Oh, Holy Night.

Piano accompanist for the main program was Diana Marks, a senior at Robert Louis Stevenson School.

For the second half of the program, approximately 50 local school children took the stage and sang Christmas songs under the direction of Janet Henshaw, choir director for the Church of The Wayfarer and a Monterey school system teacher.

Children, aged from four to twelve, sang three songs while waiting for Santa Claus to arrive. Kimberly Schwartz sang a solo, Oh Why Hasn't Santa Come Yet.

Then, Santa did arrive and along with all the hugs and kisses he received from the children, he also received a punch in the nose from one little girl.

The lobby of the theater was decorated with drawings by children from River School, Wood School and Carmel Middle School. Gifts for needy children were placed under the large Christmas tree which was decorated by Carmel Girl Scouts. The gift program was handled by the Salvation Army.

A social hour was held in the courtyard following the musical portion of the program. Hot apple cider, coffee and traditional holiday sweets were served. The refreshments were provided by local businesses and audience members.

The program was sponsored by the Christmas in Carmel Committee and the Carmel Community and Cultural Commission.

FESTIVAL OF TREES OPENS WITH CHAMPAGNE RECEPTION

That old Christmas feeling was very much in style last Wednesday evening when the 13th Annual Festival of Trees opened with a champagne gala. The very successful affair was sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art and drew hundreds of members and their guests who viewed the 30 Christmas trees commissioned by Peninsula business and professional organizations.

Each tree has its own unique theme and all are creative works of art. The unique and colorful ornaments were handcrafted by hundreds of volunteers who put in more than

ELINOR LAIOLO offers children cookies during the social hour.

PAUL ALLEN, president of the Carmel Business Association, and Executive Secretary Lee Chamberlin participated in the tree-lighting ceremonies.

50,000 dedicated hours to produce their masterpieces. The process begins the first day in February of each year!

Also on display was the Masters' Tree which was decorated with 52 miniature works of art by local artists. The tree was a big fund-raiser for this year. The miniatures were raffled and many of those who had taken a chance have something special to put on their own Christmas tree this season.

Guests sipped champagne while viewing the winter wonderland. Later, they formed a line across the room to partake of the sumptuous buffet which seems to get better (if that's possible) every year.

One change this year was in the ladies' dress. Few wore long gowns which in previous years has been a favorite — but many were snuggled in their fur coats to ward off the slight chill of the unheated room.

Among those attending the gala were: Max Picard, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seyferth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee, Mint Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Calhoun, Monterey Mayor and Mrs. Jerry Frye, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Oliver.

Dr. and Mrs. John D'Atillio and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gray admired the very beautiful tree purchased by the D'Atillios. Mrs. Gray, always dressed to perfection, wore a full-length mink coat over a winter white wool dress.

Dr. John's tree was titled Christmas Magic and featured red top hats filled with Santa's goodies. The ornament on the tree top showed Santa bouncing out of a jack-in-the-box.

Another very beautiful tree was purchased by Albert Limited, Ltd and was titled Getting Ready for Christmas. The decorations were tiny Christmas boxes filled with miniature men's clothing such as a lace front formal shirt, a sweater with a neck chain, slacks and numerous other men's apparel.

The tree purchased by California Mutual Insurance Company was titled Three Alarm Christmas and featured a vintage truck, bells, brigade buckets, fire engines and a fire house.

California Movers' tree was Moving On To Christmas with ornaments depicting Christmas trees being delivered to their new owners.

Monterey Savings and Loan's tree, titled Merry Christmas Go-Round, was a child's delight — a carousel!

Another very unique tree was the one purchased by landscape architect Richard G. Murray and titled, Down the Garden Path. The ornaments were garden gates, bird baths, water falls, etc.

Drawing special interest was the Potpourri Christmas Tree which featured decorations from each of the other trees. The tree was raffled to a lucky person for a $1 donation.

For those who wanted to do a bit of Christmas shopping, there were the Magic Hands Boutique, The Magic Carpet Mart and the Jesters Country Store which was bursting with kitchen magic and gourmet delights for holiday shopping.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the Monterey Museum Peninsula Museum of Art.

LOCAL BAND TO PERFORM FOR HUNGER DRIVE

The USS, a musical group comprised of four local boys from Carmel and Carmel Valley, donated their time and talent for the first benefit concert of the Monterey Bay Hunger Project. The affair which drew music lovers of all ages was held at the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall last Saturday evening.

The young musicians are bass player John Harbert, pianist Bill Hearn, drummer John Baron, and guitarist John Puccinelli.

Also performing was Steve Bergman and Company whose selections combine song, dance and electronic instrumentation.

The Monterey Bay Chapter of Hunger Project is a charitable, nonprofit organization based in San Francisco. The program is active in 32 countries and has a nongovernmental seat in the United Nations.

Carl Brown, chairperson for the concert, said that the purpose of the organization is not to send food to other countries, but to educate people that hunger can be eliminated. He said that we have the means and technology to allow every country in the world to become self sufficient in food. "Hunger can be wiped out," said Brown. "Something can be done!"

Following the concert an educational film, Hunger in East Africa, was shown.

HOLIDAY POTLUCK SUPPER FOR MEMBERS OF ALPHA OMICRON PI

The Pebble Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Knickerbocker was the setting for a holiday potluck supper for members of the Monterey County Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi.

The social event was held on Sunday, Dec. 6. A cocktail hour preceded the 6:30 p.m. buffet.

JESTERS TO HOLD "CHRISTMAS JOLLY"

The Jesters, never ones to let grass grow under their feet, are gearing up for their big Christmas Jolly to be held at the Beach and Tennis Club Dec. 13.

Dress of the evening will be masque, and prizes will be awarded for the most glamorous, most humorous and most original masks.

Space is limited for the members-only affair and reservations are required. Those seeking further information should call Rosemarie Carter at 624-0582.

COCKTAIL RECEPTION AND BUSINESS MEETING FOR THE

MONTEREY PENINSULA FOUNDATION

The Monterey Peninsula Foundation held its annual meeting in the S.F.B. Morse Gallery at Robert Louis Stevenson School Nov. 18. More than 75 persons attended the affair which was the largest meeting in the Foundation's 36-year history.

After Foundation Executive Director Todd Lueders presented a summary of the year's activities and plans for 1982, four new governors were elected to the board. The new governors are Will Shaw and John Stohlton of Monterey, and

MRS. JAMES EDGAR LANSBURY

Snorf, Lansbury rites performed in Carmel

Susan Alice Snorf and James Edgar Lansbury, both of Manhattan Beach, were united in marriage at the Carmel Presbyterian Church Friday, Nov. 27. The Rev. Joan A. Cathey officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Hilton Bialek and Dr. Charles Snorf, both of Carmel. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lansbury of New York.

A mixture of pearls and sequins completed the alencon lace fitted bodice of the bride's gown which also featured tapered sleeves of alencon and a softly gathered skirt. Her chapel train was of white chiffon. Her bridal bouquet was a free-form cascade of phalanopsis orchids with baby's breath.

Bridesmaids included the bride's two sisters, Miss Cynthia Snorf of Boston, Mass. and Miss Carolyn Snorf of Carmel. Other bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Hendrix, Carmel; Miss Stacy Hulsman, Carmel; Mrs. Michael Edry, Redondo Beach; Mrs. Steven Calhoun, Palos Verdes; Miss Susan Whittington, Hermosa Beach, and Miss Deborah Serina of Brentwood.

The bridegroom's brother, Michael Lansbury of New York, was best man. Ushers were the bridegroom's brothers, David Lansbury, George Lansbury and Brian Lansbury, all of New York. Other ushers were Anthony Shaw of Los Angeles, John Mohr of Portland, Ore., Craig Zannotti of Los Angeles, and Kenneth Fowler of New York.

The bride was graduated from Carmel High School and the University of Southern California where she majored in psychology. She is marketing manager for Mobil Oil Corporation.

The bridegroom was graduated from Salisbury School and the University of Southern California. He majored in film production and is an agent for Charles Liddell Talent Agency.

A wedding reception was held at the Beach and Tennis Club following the ceremony.

After a honeymoon to the Hawaiian Islands the couple will reside in Manhattan Beach.

Mrs. Robert Bonner and David MacAlpine of Pebble Beach. Officers for 1982 will be: Peter Wright, president; Stoddard P. Johnston, vice president; Mark Raggett, secretary; and David MacAlpine, treasurer.

Some of those attending the cocktail reception which followed the meeting were: George Walker, Azile Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Despard, Ralph Saylor, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dauphine, Mr. and Mrs. Skip Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Harrison, Mary Hughes, Thomas Bohnen, Mrs. Nancy Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Treanor.

Others were: Mrs. C. Mark Thomas, Mrs. Marie Davies, George Yates, Mrs. Phillips Finlay, Mrs. Ruth Gratiot, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Noseworthy, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Frisone, Capt. and Mrs. G.S. Bogart, James M.R. Glaser, Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Lohmann, Mrs. Mary T. Singleton, Mrs. John Bissell and Mr. and Mrs. John Dougherty.

NEWLY FORMED MONTEREY WINE EXPERIENCE HOSTS GALA

Approximately 100 people including community leaders gathered at the Kelley Gallery for the gala hosted last Sunday afternoon by the recently formed Monterey Wine Experience.

The organization, headed by Fred Farr, Myron McFarland and Soren Alexsen, was formed to give Monterey County wines more exposure and recognition. McFarland and Alexsen are both wine growers.

While enjoying wine and a variety of cheeses, guests were entertained by musicians from Hidden Valley.

Coordinator for the event was Marie Johnson.

Local couple plans to marry in June

Dr. and Mrs. Glen Myers of Carmel have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Marie Myers, to Robert Steven Seldomridge of Pacific Grove. Mr. Seldomridge's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seldomridge of Aruba, Netherland Antilles.

Miss Myers was graduated from Carmel High School in 1978 and was a bilingual education major at the University of the Pacific.

Mr. Seldomridge was graduated from the American School in Rome, Italy in 1974 and from the Monterey Institute of International Studies in 1979. He is employed at Gateway Center in Pacific Grove.

The June wedding will be held at the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

Maria Klepich, Gordon Sims become engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony D. Klepich of Carmel have announced the engagement of their daughter Maria Teresa Klepich to Gordon Sims McCall, son of Diane Feuerborn Dawson of Carmel and the late Clifford H. McCall.

The engagement was announced by Miss Klepich's parents at a champagne and buffet supper for family and close friends at the home of the groom-to-be's mother and step-father on Saturday, Dec. 5.

No date has been set for the wedding which will be held in Carmel.

Miss Klepich is a graduate of Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College. She is studying towards a nursing degree and is employed at Saks Fifth Avenue.

She has three brothers: Anthony M. Klepich and Fred M. Klepich, both of Carmel, and John P. Klepich who is presently stationed in Germany.

Mr. McCall was graduated from Carmel High School and attended Foothill College. He is employed with a car restoration firm at Quail Lodge.

He has one sister: Mrs. Pamela Clarke of Darien, Connecticut and a brother, Douglas M. McCall of Carmel.

Miss Klepich's grandparents are Mrs. Ida Barker of Resida and the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Klepich of Red Lodge, Montana.

Mr. McCall is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. McCall of Naples, Fla., the late Gustav Erba of Carmel, and the late Mrs. Nell McArdle of Monterey.

Hundreds gather to light Yule tree

That blinking red light in the sky last Friday evening was no airplane—it was Rudolph and his friends looking for a parking place for the sleigh so that dear old Santa Claus could join the festivities at the annual tree lighting ceremonies.

Grown-ups, kids and dogs flocked to the Carmel Plaza to participate in the festivities which were opened by Mayor Barney Laiolo.

John Farr, accompanied by Margaret Aitkenhead on piano, led the crowd in singing Christmas carols before Mayor Barney gave the signal for the lights to be turned on.

This year's tree lighting was dedicated to the late Robert M. Forbes who was so instrumental in the annual event. Mrs. Forbes was introduced to the audience by the Reverend Al Seccombe.

Winners of the 1981 Christmas Windows sponsored by the Carmel Business Association were: in the antique class, Antiques & Accents, first, and Luciano Antiques, second; restaurants, Hector DeSmet Bakery; shops, Ellie's Hayloft, and tied for second, Viking Sails and Spencer's on the Plaza.

Now that the lights are on we KNOW it's time to get on with the Christmas shopping!

Forest grows 13 percent in 10 years

REPORTS of the demise of the urban forest in Carmel are greatly exaggerated, says City Forester Greg D'Ambrosio.

"It may surprise many citizens that Carmel has more trees and more big pines than 10 years ago and that the urban forest is not heading for disaster but in fact is in very good condition," D'Ambrosio said this week.

The city forester reflected on the latest inventory of the state of trees in Carmel in one of four segments in the city. Each segment is inventoried every decade.

"There are 13 percent more city pines and 13 more big pines over 30 inches in diameter than there were in 1971," D'Ambrosio said. "Oaks increased 13 percent and a total of all city trees 12.8 percent more than 10 years ago. Health of the trees improved; poor vigor trees decreased from 17 percent to 3 percent."

D'Ambrosio said some citizens jump to the conclusion that the urban forest is on the decline whenever they see any cutting or pruning of trees. But those are necessary parts of the forest maintenance program conducted by the city, D'Ambrosio said.

"Trees on private property increased 7 percent but 5 percent of the Monterey Pines were lost," D'Ambrosio said in his report. "Private property continues to have more big pines than the city, but is falling behind in a supply of smaller replacement pines."

There are fewer than half as many seedling and sapling pines on private lands as there are on city lands, and private property has only 23 percent of its total trees in pines, as compared with 47 percent of all city trees in pines, D'Ambrosio said.

"Each year on Tree Day, thousands of pines are given away," D'Ambrosio said. "One wonders where they are planted. Evidently, not many on private land in Carmel. If this trend continues over the next decade, the uniformity of Carmel's Monterey pine forest could be adversely affected."

In the central business district of Carmel, the health of the city-owned trees continues to be good.

"In spite of the damage caused by vehicle traffic and exhaust, as well as vandalism of planted trees, the central business district's city-owned trees in a 1980 remeasurement showed a gain of 125 since 1971," the forester said.

"On a 16-block area, the pines over 30 inches in diameter increased from 15 in 1971 to 27 in 1980, and poor vigor trees decreased from 14 percent to 4 percent."

PINE TREE on northeast corner of Fifth and Mission was planted as a seedling about 10 years ago, to replace dead and dying trees, and now has grown to about 50 feet, says City Forester Greg D'Ambrosio.

Acting impressive in 'Becket'

By MIKE SMITH

The MPC Players' production of Becket, or The Honor of God, goes into its second and final week Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 10-12, at 8 p.m. at the Monterey Peninsula College Theater.

The acting is impressive, particularly by the principal players, Bruce Tuthill as Henry II of England and Keith Decker as Thomas Becket. The set is a gauzy, gothic triumph that is not only pretty to look upon, but lends itself to quick changes in the action of the play. This is important, because there are 20 scenes in two long acts — a full evening for any playgoer.

In fact, the production might have been more dramatically striking had the director shortened or cut out some of the extraneous scenes, even though they might be amusing or interesting in their own terms.

For this play is about the relationship between two men, one whose allegiance is to the kingdom he rules, the other who is transfixed by "the frail, the incomprehensible...honor of God."

In the beginning of the action Henry and Thomas are the best of buddies, fighting, drinking and wenching their way across England and France. Although Henry is king, Thomas is his mentor, both in knowledge and in cynicism. He is capable of saying things like "an army of occupation should not crush — it should corrupt," a Machiavellian statement if there ever was one. But there is also a nagging nobility in his character, and that nobleness ultimately kills him.

"There is a gap in me," says Becket, "where honor ought to be."

When Henry gets the bright idea of circumventing a rambunctious clergy by appointing his crony Archbishop of Canterbury, Thomas undergoes an electric transformation from cynicism to sackcloth. He takes up the Cross, never to put it down again until it is knocked from his dying grasp by the King's murderous swordsmen.

In a way, Becket changes from a very bad man to a very good man when he becomes Archbishop, defender of the faith. But in another sense he betrays the king who honored, befriended and loved him, the king who is lost without his counsel and advice. So who comes out best in this moral mix-up, Becket or Henry, God or mammon? It is not an easy question, and therein lies the fascination of this evening of theater.

Tickets are $4 general, $3 for students and seniors and $2 for children. For information phone 646-4213.

Elizabeth Farmer studies Bible

Elizabeth Farmer, daughter of (Rev.) Peter and Beva Farmer of 1015 Vaquero Road, Carmel, has enrolled in a Biblical Studies program at The Way College of Emporia in Emporia, Kansas. Miss Farmer was graduated from Pacific Grove High School in 1969, and received her B.A. and teacher's credits in liberal studies at San Jose State University in 1976.

The Biblical Studies program is designed to incorporate the integrity of Biblical principles into the student's secular profession. Some of the courses offered include Greek, Aramaic, Early Church History, Biblical Research Writing and New and Old Testament History.

Bereavement group to meet

A bereavement support group for parents who have experienced the death of a child will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 16 and each Wednesday thereafter at the Hospice Resource Center, 165 Webster, Monterey.

Anyone who wishes to meet with persons who are also dealing with problems of grief is welcome to attend this free meeting. For information phone 625-0666.

School board takes a tough approach on 'basics' at high school and middle school

By ROBERT MISKIMON

TRUSTEES of the Carmel Unified School District took a back-to-basics attitude toward curriculum offerings at their Tuesday meeting.

The board urged district administrators to tighten up essential course requirements at both the middle and high school level with a view toward strengthened graduation requirements.

The Board of Education reviewed staff presentations on curriculum and scheduling and gave a clear indication of its desire to beef up instruction in the "three Rs."

"We sense a definite need to have some teeth behind what we are offering, in terms of graduation requirements, at the middle school," Carmel Middle School principal Frank Lynch told the board.

"Graduation requirements will have a direct effect on courses offered in the 1982-83 school year."

Trustee Doyle Clayton said he is particularly concerned about rigid curriculum standards at the elementary and middle school levels in the district.

"I'm concerned that you may be passing onto the high school problems that should have been solved at the lower level," Clayton told Lynch. "I would like to hear a strong recommendation to retain students who do not read or compute well enough."

"I think the staff would echo your concerns," Lynch responded. "This will come about over a period of years and will not be done in one fell swoop. Our biggest problem is to come up with some other academic alternatives. Fewer staff and students would put a limit on the alternatives we can offer."

A district decline in enrollment may force the elimination of some alternative courses at the middle school and focus more attention on the basics, Lynch said.

At the high school level, definite course content outlines and competency standards should be set for social studies, trustees said.

Ken Bullock, head of the social studies department at Carmel High School, briefed the board on the courses offered in that area and indicated the "unanimous belief" of staff is that the 25 units of social studies should be retained.

"There should be some segment of common knowledge that we'd like our students to be proficient in," Clayton said. "It might be in the interests of this school district to have that information available — perhaps a chronological approach to American history."

"We need to be able to say 'All students graduating from Carmel High School will be knowledgeable in...' and name the areas," Clayton said.

Curriculum Director Rich Hawkins advised the board that there is no consensus among social studies educators about what is essential and what isn't.

"We've had difficulty in coming to an agreement on what the basics are in social studies," Hawkins said.

"We are failing the community by letting our students graduate by circumventing some of these (basic) courses," remarked Trustee Barbara Sanford.

Supt. Bill Rand said after the meeting that the district has complied with a state law which requires establishment of minimum competency standards in reading, writing, and math. Students are tested for competency in those areas at the fifth, eighth, and 10th grade levels, Rand said. Students who do not pass the tests are retained in that subject until they can pass the test, he said.

Harold Santee is named to school board for two years

A FIFTH member of the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education with a background in public schools is to be seated Jan. 12 for a two-year provisional term.

Harold Santee, a former school superintendent for 24 years, was chosen by the board to fill the unexpired term vacated by Ronald Parravano. He can not be seated until a 30-day period has elapsed in which voters can petition for an election, if they choose.

Santee would join trustees Doyle Clayton, Ken White, Barbara Sanford and Joan Cathey — all of whom have educational backgrounds. Clayton is a counselor at Monterey High School; White is a teacher at Monterey High; Reverend Cathey was a high school teacher before she entered the ministry; Sanford holds a teaching credential and taught school for several years.

The board chose Santee unanimously from among five applicants for the position, although various board members put forth the names of other applicants for consideration.

White proposed Lynn Brooks, who ran unsuccessfully for a slot on the board in the November election, to fill the vacancy.

Cathey urged consideration of Joline Fenton, an 18-year resident of the district who has been involved in school activities.

Trustee Barbara Sanford recommended appointment of Thomas Unger, manager of a local savings and loan bank. But when Trustee Doyle Clayton put forth Santee's name, approval came by a 4-0 vote.

The fifth applicant for the board slot was Mark Sincoff of Carmel, an attorney who practices in Seaside.

In other business, the board elected Ken White president for 1982. He succeeds Doyle Clayton. Mrs. Sanford was chosen as board clerk and as temporary legislative representative for the board for 1982.

Clayton was named district representative to the Monterey County Committee on District Organization and to the Monterey County School Boards Association. White was appointed the board representative to the Monterey Peninsula Youth Project.

Joan Cathey was appointed the board representative to the Mission Trails Regional Occupational Program.

Hospital plans concerts

A hospital room is not the most wonderful place in the world to spend the holidays, but Community Hospital is doing its best to lift the spirits of patients and visitors alike with a series of holiday concerts.

The Allegro Chamber Trio will play from 1 to 2 p.m. Friday, Dec. 18. The Symphony Chamber Orchestra takes over from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 20, and the Salinas Madrigal Group sings from 6 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 22.

Singer Elizabeth Pasquinelli serenades from 1 to 2 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 23, while Patrick Clark and Steven Phelps provide Irish music from 1 to 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 27.

day, Dec. 27.

On Saturday, Dec. 19, at 2:30 p.m., the Hospital Auxiliary's student volunteers will go a-caroling at four nearby convalescent hospitals--Beverly Manor, Carmel, Driftwood and Monterey.

Monterey.

The public is invited to visit the hospital and enjoy the music, the Christmas trees and the Auxiliary's decorations. For more information phone 624-5311.

Feast today at Peppercorn

The Peppercorn, the cookware store in The Barnyard, Carmel, is planning a royal feast this afternoon at 4:30.

Chef Valerie Leonard will prepare veal Prince Orloff stuffed with mushrooms and enrobed in a white wine cheese sauce. Then there will be pommes de terre Anglaises, braised leeks, garlic stuffed tomatoes and a rich French yule log for dessert.

Dinner, with salad, bread and wine, is served at 8 p.m. and is included in the $16 class price. If all this sounds tempting, make a quick call to The Peppercorn, 625-0100. They might still have a place for you.

There will be a free demonstration of vegetable dishes from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 12. Christmas cookies will be demonstrated during the same hours Sunday, Dec. 13.

Arroyo Seco closures announced

Effective immediately, the day use area of Arroyo Seco in Los Padres National Forest will be closed Mondays through Thursdays.

According to the U.S. Forest Service, the day use area will be open only on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. until further notice.

Jim Giachino, Monterey Ranger District recreation officer, stated the closure was part of a district-wide reduction in service for the winter months.

The closure does not affect the Arroyo Seco Campground. Thirty-three sites remain available for camping, seven days a week. The campground fee is $3 per night.

Air Force Promotion for Keith Bayless

Keith C. Bayless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bayless of 3223 Camino Del Monte, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Bayless is a computer programming specialist at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb., with the 3900 Computer Services Squadron.

He was graduated from the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell in 1980.

Canada Segunda subdivision to come before planners

THE MONTEREY County Planning Commission is expected to order preparation of an environmental impact report for the proposed 562-acre Canada Segunda subdivision in Carmel Valley when it meets Wednesday, Dec. 16.

The project is scheduled to be considered by the commission at 9:45 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers in Salinas.

Developer Skip Marquard and property owner Howard Morgens contemplate the sale of 173 residential parcels on the property. As much as 348 acres of a 900-acre parcel would be dedicated to Jacks Peak Park.

And a 29-acre parcel of land along Carmel Valley Road at the southern end of the property would be dedicated as open space. Overall density of the project is one unit per 3.15 acres.

Under the court-ordered moratorium on new development in Carmel Valley until adoption of a revised Carmel Valley Master Plan, the county can only receive preliminary subdivision maps for environmental review.

In other business, the planning commission is to consider Myron ("Doc") Etienne's request for reclassification of a 1.5-acre parcel on La Rancheria in Carmel Valley at 11 a.m.

Etienne's property was rezoned S-C (scenic-conservation) in connection with the designation of Los Laureles Grade as a scenic roadway. He would like the parcel rezoned R-1-A (residential) to enable him to keep two horses on the property.

The planning commission is to consider at 2 p.m. a request for a use permit by Rancho San Carlos in the lower Carmel Valley area to perform maintenance and clearance work in the Carmel River, under provisions of the floodplain ordinance.

The planning commission meets in the county courthouse in Salinas.

Local Scouts hike 10 miles during weekend

Fourteen Scouts from Carmel Boy Scout Troop 3 recently enjoyed a weekend hike and campout from the Los Padres Dam to the vicinity of Bluff Camp on the Carmel River. The Scouts hiked 10 miles.

Scouts participating: Chris Bowe, Addison Phillips, Clifton Bonner, Ben Godfrey, John Hardin, Robert Connell, Jeffrey Lewis, Darren Dickerhoof, Marc Dauphine, Chris Tolles, Tim Williams, Scot Liermen, Jeffrey Williams, and August Beacham.

The Scouts were accompanied by Scoutmaster Art Crego and Assistant Scoutmasters Ron Williams and Van Crego.

Aileen Kelly named DAR 'Good Citizen'

Aileen Kelly, a senior at Carmel High School, has been awarded the local Daughters of the American Revolution annual Good Citizen Award.

She is the daughter of Brian Kelly of Carmel.

Miss Kelly was selected for having the qualities of leadership, dependability, willingness to serve, and patriotism to an outstanding degree.

Runners-up at Carmel High were Melanie Kagan and Wendy Wagstaff.

Miss Kelly received a check for $20 and is eligible to enter competition at the state level. The National Good Citizen Award is a $1,000 scholarship to the college of the winner's choice. The national winner also is presented to the DAR Continental Congress and given an engraved silver Paul Revere bowl.

You owe your horse--and yourself-- the good life at Rancho Laureles SOUND, PROFESSIONAL horse care begins with safe, comfortable accommodations and a high-quality feeding program at Rancho Laureles.

Our deluxe new barn offers the ultimate in luxury, safety and comfort. Each 12 x 12 box stall opens onto a securely fenced 24-foot paddock. Inside, all stalls have foot-cushioning rubber mats, automatic waterers and feeders. Stall fronts and sliding doors have heavy-gauge mesh so the horse benefits from good air circulation and seeing what's going on, while he is prevented from hanging his head over the door and possibly fussing with passing horses or people.

Walls between stalls are solid, so there's no rivalry with the horse next door. And all edges are reinforced with metal anti-chew strips. There's even a convenient blanket rack on each stall door.

Two spacious tack rooms are convenient to all stalls and offer individual tack lockers for each patron.

Of course, our old barn has a charm all its own, with oversized, exceptionally airy stalls and the same large adjoining paddocks. A large new wash rack with hot water to pamper your horse is right outside.

WHERE WE RIDE

Our two securely-fenced riding arenas offer excellent, well-drained sand footing. One measures 135 x 325 and is used for basic schooling as well as jumping. Our new 150 x 275 foot arena includes a regulation dressage court with plenty of room to spare!

And our 75-foot round lungeing arena is proving useful not only for lungeing, but for working green horses or beginning riders who profit from the secure surroundings.

The half-mile sand track that encircles our easterly fields is a perfect place to warm up a horse (or cool him out after a workout), leg up for an event or simply trot a few miles as good exercise.

Then there's Garland Park with its 541 acres of trails, plus the adjoining trails through to Robinson Canyon and the soon-to-be-opened new parkland to the east — a trailrider's paradise, uniquely beautiful every day of the year.

THE FINEST CARE

Now, more than ever, we believe that our feeding program pays off. Our 17% protein alfalfa hay cubes put weight on even rundown, skinny horses and keep it there.

We are also pleased to work with two of Monterey County's finest veterinarians and an excellent farrier, who all contribute to your horse's overall health and well-being.

LESSONS, ANYONE?

Whether you're just learning to post or have a specific problem over fences or in dressage, Doug Downing, our knowledgeable and very personable instructor, will come up with an answer.

He is available for private, semi-private or small group lessons on the flat or over fences.

GOOD COMPANY

One of the nicest things about Rancho Laureles is its relaxed, informal atmosphere. People tend to linger, and that makes us feel good, because it means they like it here. After a ride, they'll sit around, enjoy a cup of coffee or a soft drink and chat — mostly about horses, of course, but not always. Real friendships have grown among our riders.

But best of all, newcomers are made to feel genuinely welcome, whether they're nervous beginners or old pros. There's always a helping hand and a generous sprinkling of advice, and you feel you "belong" right from the start.

Seeing is believing. Why not drive out into the Carmel Valley sunshine to pay us a visit?

TERTIARY sewage treatment plant at Carmel Valley Ranch supplies water for irrigation of the golf course, which is stored in ponds until needed. If the system proves successful, it could be an alternative to both traditional septic systems and sewerage the Valley to meet future growth needs and to protect ground water quality.

Sewage problems could put lid on CV

By ROBERT MISKIMON

GROUND WATER quality is one major puzzle piece which the Monterey County Board of Supervisors must fit into the final shape of the Carmel Valley Master Plan.

But before that final shape is determined, supervisors must certify the environmental impact report for the plan, which is likely to go before the board for hearings in early January, 1982.

As a part of that final EIR, county planning staff will recommend inclusion of the recent $30,000 Montgomery Engineers analysis of ground water quality in Carmel Valley performed for Monterey County and the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District.

While that may sound like nothing more than bureaucratic paper-shuffling, preliminary results of the study indicate that growth limits contemplated in the Master Plan will have to be reduced unless major changes in land use policies are implemented.

The choices presented in the Montgomery study seem to be between maintenance of the rural character of the Valley — including the use of septic tanks — and increased development density with a public sewage system connected to the Carmel Sanitary District.

The former implies reduction of the ultimate "buildout" limit of the Valley while the latter suggests rezoning of some portions of the Valley from a two and one-half acre minimum lot size to one acre.

A summary of the Montgomery study clearly states that the 20-year growth pattern contemplated in the Carmel Valley Master Plan could be accommodated with septic systems without deterioration of the ground water quality.

Although the study concludes that the 20-year growth limit of 6,500 dwelling units in Carmel Valley may be safely realized with septic systems, it suggests that ultimate buildout of 10,400 units beyond the year 2000 would present significant ground water problems.

"The 1980 Master Plan projects an additional 2,500 dwelling units will be constructed by the year 2000," the study states. Those units would be added to the present 4,000 housing units in the Valley.

"The ultimate buildout capacity of the study area would be 10,400 units assuming land use patterns projected by the 1980 Master Plan. However, if the central wastewater facilities are not expanded, the number of homes in the study area would be limited to 8,550 in order to protect ground water quality.

"The projected 20-year growth could be accommodated using septic systems, although development patterns specified in the Master Plan must be modified."

However, since some areas in Carmel Valley already have reached tolerable development limits based on septic systems without a threat to ground water quality, new development in the Valley must be redirected to other areas, according to the study.

Areas which have reached their safe development capacity with septic systems include the Carmel Valley Village, Schulte Road, and Rancho Rio Vista areas.

ENVIRONMENTAL Sanitarian Walter Wong reminded the Board of Supervisors last week that "sewage is the most sensitive issue in development of the Carmel Valley Master Plan."

The Montgomery study was intended to answer the question of how many dwelling units can be built in Carmel Valley with septic systems without deterioration of ground water, Wong said.

"You wouldn't want any more than one dwelling unit per acre in Carmel Valley with septic systems or you'll have degradation of ground water," said Gwendolyn Buchholz, project engineer with Montgomery Engineers.

"In some areas you'd need one unit per two acres. But in many areas of the Valley, the capacity for septic systems will exceed what the Master Plan says can be built, if the density is changed."

The apparent ambiguity of that conclusion has led to different interpretations of the study results.

Fifth District Supervisor William Peters of Carmel Valley said he interprets the study to mean that development as projected in the Master Plan can proceed full tilt, at least until the year 2000.

"It means the capacity of the Valley exceeds the limit specified in the Master Plan," Peters said. "But to do that you'd have to change certain land use policies which I don't think we want changed.

"The study doesn't say you can't build out at the limit of the Master Plan. However, it's clear we'll have to eliminate multi-family dwellings in the Carmel Valley Village area.

Ms. Buchholz explained in a telephone interview that the projected 20-year growth limit in the Master Plan would bring total dwelling units in the Valley to 6,500 — still less than the safe limit of 8,550 with septic systems.

However, without major changes in land use policies as reflected in the revised Master Plan, the maximum safe development limit without a sewerage system would be less than the 10,400 units in the Plan, she said.

Carl Hooper, engineer with Bestor Engineers of Monterey, said the Montgomery study "properly used, might be a tool for directing growth in different areas of the Valley."

If the septic capacity of the Carmel Valley ground water table, as defined in the report, is made a constraint of the revised Master Plan, "it might result in decreased density," Hooper said.

"It might be bad news for some developers but not for others, since some areas of the Valley could handle one acre, rather than two and one-half acre density," he added.

HOOPER submitted a list of about 20 questions on various facets of the Montgomery study, most of them technical in nature. In one instance, he questioned the safe soil absorption rate indicated in the report.

"The 300 gallons per day per acre figure is a political, rather than a technical, number," Hooper said. "You can't say that's the safe rate all over the Valley. In some places it's less; in some more."

"The report basically took some preconceived ideas and said: 'Why look at any greater density?' It's weighted in favor of justifying the extreme down-zoning that's in the Master Plan."

Zan Henson of Carmel Valley, recently-elected director of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District, said the report challenges one of the basic assumptions in the Carmel Valley Master Plan.

"It challenges the concept of areas of development concentration in the Master Plan," Henson said. "The assumption was that the whole Valley could be built out. I interpret it to mean we can meet the Master Plan buildout by going to one-acre parcels for those lands developable for sewage disposal."

The question then becomes whether those areas of the Valley should be rezoned to one-acre lot sizes, Henson said.

Would it be feasible — from an economic or a technical standpoint — to sewer Carmel Valley?

The Carmel Sanitary District does not have the treatment capacity with present facilities to handle sewerage of the Valley, said manager Michael Zambory.

But when the district constructs additional treatment facilities as part of its planned $13.7 million water reclamation project, treatment capacity of the plant will double from the current two million gallons per day to four million gallons per day, Zambory said.

"But the costs would be astronomical to sewer the Valley," he estimated. "Part of the reason for that is the size of the lots out there. They'll have to change the general plan to sewer the Valley."

"Even if the developers are willing to pay for sewerage of the Valley, you'd still have to have other sources of revenue, like assessment districts," Zambory said.

Monterey County Planner Lynne Mounday said there may be alternatives to the costly sewerage of the entire Valley.

"Sewering could mean a trunk line all the way down the Valley," he said. "The Carmel Sanitary District has problems in how much they can expand. But if the Carmel Valley Ranch system works well and we've had a chance to examine that kind of tertiary system, it might be possible to have a higher buildout."

The Carmel Valley Ranch sewage system involves tertiary treatment — the most highly-treated effluent — and ponds where the water is stored for later irrigation of the golf course. There are no septic tanks in use at Carmel Valley Ranch now.

"It might set a precedent for the Valley," Mounday said. "But it was a very expensive system. I don't know whether people can afford to put this kind of thing into the Carmel Valley Village area."

Mounday agreed that implications of the Montgomery study for the Carmel Valley Master Plan are that — without sewerage or major land use policy changes — "the total number of housing units would be less."

See India through a Victorian lens

Picture an Englishman tramping about the Himalayas about the time of the American Civil War, recording the magnificent scenery around him with primitive cameras under extremely difficult conditions.

Picture that, and you have Samuel Bourne, the best known and most prolific of the British Victorian photographers of India. He lived and worked there from 1863 to 1870, making three trips into the Himalayas during his stay and reaching elevations of 18,000 feet, sans oxygen.

He didn't exactly travel alone. Behind him was a team of 60 porters, plus pack animals and a herd of sheep and goats for food. The best way to preserve meat in those days was to keep it alive until you needed it.

The Friends of Photography will present an exhibit called Samuel Bourne, Photographs of India 1863-1870 at the gallery in Sunset Center, Carmel, from Friday, Dec. 11 through Jan. 10.

Arthur Ollman, curator of the exhibit, will give a slide-illustrated lecture about Bourne at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11 in Room 20, Sunset Center. The lecture and the reception that follows are free and open to the public. Regular gallery hours are 1 to 5 p.m. daily.

Bourne was not just shooting scenery during his years in India, but doing what might be called political photography. He photographed many locations in the Indian subcontinent that had not previously been seen by Europeans. The visual evidence his photographs contained confirmed for the British that India should, in fact, be part of the Empire.

This is the first historical show to be mounted by Friends of Photography. For more information phone 624-6330.

Tickets go on sale here for 'Nutcracker' Ballet

The Santa Barbara Ballet and the Santa Cruz Chamber Orchestra will present The Nutcracker ballet at 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 19 and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 20 at Sherwood Auditorium, 941 N. Main St., Salinas.

The ballet, a delightful fantasy bolstered by Tchaikovsky's magnificent music, will take children and their parents on a dreamy tour of the Kingdom of the Snowflakes, the Kingdom of the Sweets and lands where magic is simply the order of the day.

The Santa Barbara Ballet, just returned from an Asian tour, is becoming one of the most popular new ballet ensembles in the country. Patronage from the National Endowment for the Arts and from private sources has allowed the company to bring together top young talent in both dance and set design for this production. Tamara Usher, formerly with the Royal Ballet of London, is the company's artistic director.

The Santa Cruz Chamber Orchestra, conducted by Lewis Keizer, recently recorded the sound track for a film production of Peter and the Wolf, starring Ray Bolger, which will soon be aired on cable television, video disk, and possibly network television.

Children will be on stage as well as in the audience for this production. The young dancers will come from a Salinas studio, Joann Adair Dance Arts, and were chosen by audition to travel to Santa Barbara to rehearse with the ballet company.

"Nutcracker is the only ballet in which it is feasible for children to participate with world-class professional dancers," enthuses Keizer, "so we are doing it!"

Advance tickets are on sale at Abinante Music in Monterey and Countrywide Crafts in The Barnyard, Carmel. Orchestra seating is $9.50, and balcony is $7.50, with a $2 discount for students and seniors. All children's seating is $3.50. Unsold tickets will be available at the door for $2 extra. For more information phone 624-6511.

Reading expert to sign book

It's no secret that American schoolchildren read and write at a disturbingly lower level than they did a few years ago. It's no secret, either, that this problem is no stranger to the Monterey Peninsula.

Fitzhugh Dodson, author of several successful child-rearing books, thinks he can improve the situation with his latest book, Give Your Child a Head Start in Reading.

Dodson will be at the Thunderbird Bookshop in The Barnyard, Carmel, from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 12 to autograph his book and talk informally about his methods.

Dodson claims that 50 percent of a child's intellectual capacity is developed by age four, a statistic which, if vague, nevertheless suggests that the child is capable of learning some reading skills before he enters kindergarten.

"It is clear," Dodson says, "that reading is too important to be left exclusively to the educators." Dodson's new book presents a simple, clear, step-by-step program parents can use to give their child a head start in reading before he enters school. The book, in softcover, costs $6.95.

Illiteracy is becoming a way of life in America, if Dodson's statistics are correct. He says half the adult population does not read even a single book a year. Twenty percent of Americans are illiterate, Dodson says, and cannot read a want ad or fill out a simple tax form.

Give Your Child a Head Start in Reading deals with brain power, not eye power. The reading brain power children develop in their early childhood may be the most important gift they will ever receive, says Dodson.

For more information phone 624-5722.

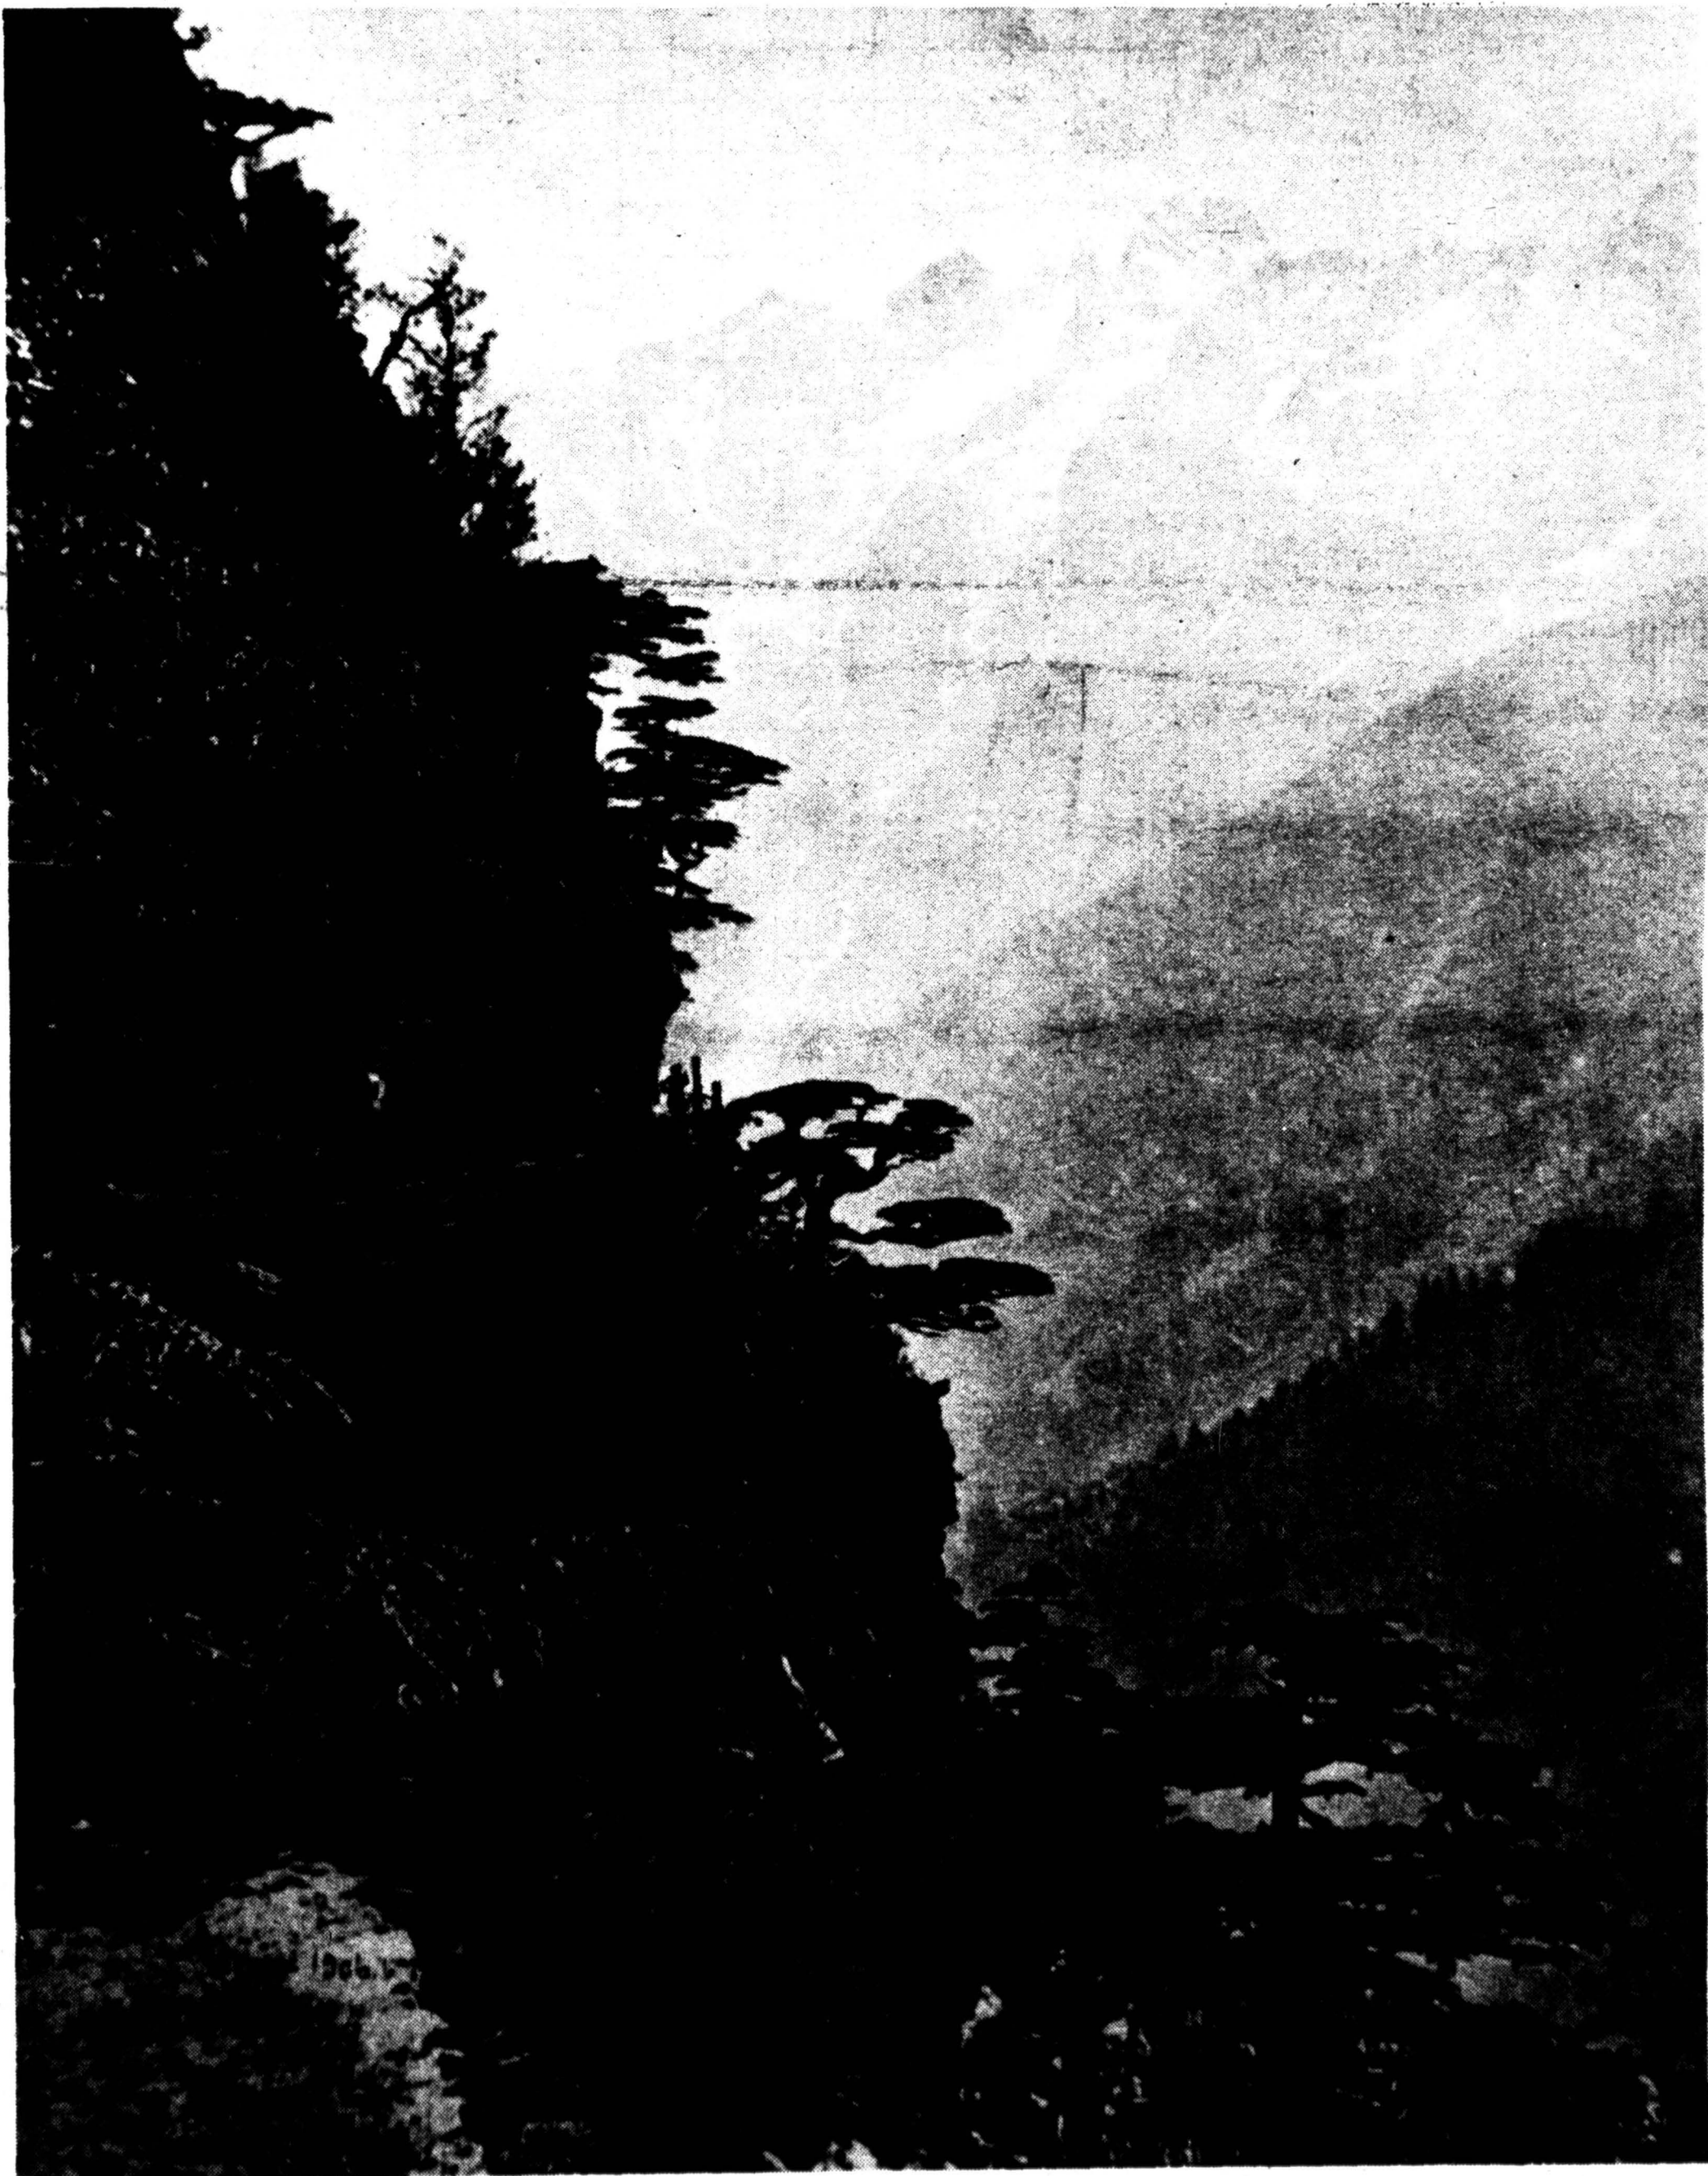

Ballet Fantasque to perform 'Christmas Tale'

The Ballet Fantasque of the Monterey Peninsula will present A Christmas Tale at 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 12 at Sunset Theater, Carmel.

The ballet is the story of a poor boy's Christmas wish, and the magic and splendor that follow when the wish comes true.

The second part of the program features dances from other lands — a Russian Troika, an Italian Tarantella, and dances of Spain and France.

Tickets for the ballet are $5 for adults, $3 for students and senior citizens and $2 for children under 12. They are available at the Abinante Music Store in Monterey; at Lily Walker Record Shop in Pacific Grove; and at The 1887 Shop in Carmel Plaza, Carmel; and at the door. For more information phone 624-3996.

VICTORIAN PHOTOGRAPHER Samuel Bourne snapped this scene of Indian mountains in 1866, when photography was an infant science and parts of India had never been seen by European eyes. His work, very fine despite the primitive conditions he worked under, is the subject of an exhibit at Friends of Photography Gallery, Sunset Center, Carmel. The exhibit begins at 7:30 Friday, Dec. 11 with a lecture by Arthur Ollman and a public reception afterward. The show continues from 1 to 5 p.m. seven days a week until Jan. 10.

Brilliant flutist to offer classical program Wed.

"He is one of the most brilliant flutists I have encountered in many years. He is already a great artist, and it has been a joy to work with him. I predict a wonderful career for him."

So says Jean-Pierre Rampal, perhaps the world's finest flutist, about his protegee, Ransom Wilson. Rampal is not alone. The New York Times calls Wilson "an exceptional virtuoso," while the New York Daily News considers his playing "truly great."

Wilson, like Rampal before him, will appear in concert in Carmel under the sponsorship of the Carmel Music Society. Time and place are 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 16 at Sunset Theater.

The program includes three airs by Beethoven, the Sonata in C Major by Haydn, and a fantasy on Bizet's Carmen that should be wonderful to hear. At times, Wilson will be accompanied by pianist Robin Sutherland.

Wilson is a busy performer. By the end of the 1980-81 season he will have given over 80 concerts, in addition to conducting many master classes. He has appeared this season on tours of the United States and Europe with the Chamber Orchestra of Nice, France and the Amsterdam Radio Orchestra. This month, he plays his own transcription of the Martinu Flute Sonata with the Santa Barbara Symphony.

He has recorded for Angel and several other labels, and recently made an album together with his mentor, Jean-Pierre Rampal.

"It would appear that the mighty Rampal has finally met his match," said the Los Angeles Times. "In matters of phrasing, breath control, dexterity and style, Wilson is every bit the Frenchman's glorious equal."

FLUTIST RANSOM WILSON

Wilson was born in 1951 in the last place you'd expect a world-class flutist to emerge, Tuscaloosa, Alabama. He did, however, attend the distinguished North Carolina School of the Arts and later studied at The Juilliard School of Music and in Paris.

Tickets for the Wilson concert are $7, 8, and $9, available at several area locations. For more information phone 372-1226.

'Little Angel's Rest' to open

Little Angel's Rest, a children's play full of meanness and magic, opens at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 15 for a six-day run. It will play at The Indoor Forest Theater, Mt. View and Santa Rita, Carmel.

The meanness comes in the form of Grammonika Gouge, hateful director of a girl's orphanage. The magic comes with Cornelius Bittenburn, proprietor of an enchanted toy store, who helps girls escape from the evil Gouge's clutches.

Marcia Hovick wrote and directs the play, whose characters come from both The Staff Players and the Children's Experimental Theater. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children.

After the final performance of Little Angel's Rest on Sunday, Dec. 20, two drawings will be held. One, the monster drawing, will give away many lovely prizes including dinners, wine, a guided nature tour and a tiger batik by Mary Elber. Tickets for that one cost $1.

Tickets for the second drawing are a bit costlier, at $100 apiece, but the prize is Handys Sonata, a four-year-old Arabian mare. She is a fully trained animal who would make anyone a lovely Christmas gift. For more information phone 624-1531.

What's playing at the movies

Arthur: A comedy with Dudley Moore playing a happy millionaire drunk. Also with Liza Minnelli and John Gielgud. Rated PG. At the Center Cinemas.

The Blue Lagoon: Brooke Shields plays a nubile island castaway who suffers the pangs of adolescence as she grows to adulthood with her male playmate/lover. The film has Victorian undertones that reflect the book on which it's based. Brooke plays her role earnestly and with naivete. At the Carmel Village Theatre.

The Boss: Starring Chuck Norris. Rated R. At the State Three Cinemas.

Buddy, Buddy: A farce about a hit man at large in Palm Beach, which reunites four of Hollywood's most gifted talents: Jack Lemmon, Walter Matthau, Paula Prentiss, and Klaus Kinski. Directed by Billy Wilder. At the State Three Cinemas.

Busting Loose: Richard Pryor, a sneaky-mean ex-con, and Cicely Tyson, a high-minded teacher, chaperone a bunch of variously disturbed, unmanageable and irritating little kids across the country in an old school bus. Rated R. At the At the Regency Theatre.

Camelot: The story of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table in Hollywood's version of the Middle Ages. Magnetic performances by Richard Harris and Vanessa Redgrave. At the Valley Cinema.

French Lieutenant's Woman: Meryl Streep stars as the hauntingly beautiful and mysterious heroine of a film based on John Fowles' ambiguous novel of passion and romance in Victorian England. Playwright Harold Pinter wrote the screenplay which maintains the novel's intriguing dual ending. At the Golden Bough.

Melvin and Howard: The story of Melvin Dummar, a crazy but good-hearted man who claimed he picked up Howard Hughes on a Nevada desert highway, loaned him a quarter and years later found his name in Hughes' will to receive millions of dollars. Starring Paul Le Mat, Mary Steenburgen and Jason Robards. Rated R. At the Center Cinemas.

Private Lessons: Stars Sylvia Kristel. Rated R. At the State Three Cinemas.

Quadrophenia: A drama adapted from a rock opera written by The Who in 1972. The plot traces the movements and conflicts of the Mods and Rockers in England during the 1960s. Excellent reviews from many sources. Newsweek said, "A musical spectacle of exploding energy and blantly sexual euphoria of violence." At the Dream Theatre.

Raiders of the Lost Ark: Written by George Lucas and directed by Steven Spielberg. Harrison Ford plays Indiana Jones, an archeologist and adventurer who somehow survives while his adversaries are impaled on steel spikes, poison darts, dispatched by an airplane propeller and even melted while competing to find the Ark of the Covenant. Rated PG. At the Cinema 70.

Rich and Famous: Jacqueline Bisset and Candice Bergen star in a contemporary story of 20 years of friendship, from their days as college roommates to the present, who share ups and downs, professional competition, and disappointments in matters of the heart, to find a new sense of shared experience and solid loyalty. Directed by George Cukor. Rated R. At the Dream Theatre.

Rocky Horror Picture Show: A movie about two teenagers and a transvestite from another planet. Fri. and Sat. midnight show. At the Dream Theatre.

Rollover: A new film starring Jane Fonda and Kris Kristofferson. Rated R. At the Center Cinemas.

Stevie: Glenda Jackson stars in the story of Stevie Smith, the English poet who lived most of her adult life in a small suburban house with her devoted aunt (played by Mona Washbourne). Trevor Howard portrays "the man"—a somewhat awkward and pretentious narrator who talks about Stevie, recites her poems and bickers with her in a memorable scene. Rated PG. At the Dream Theatre.

Stir Crazy: Gene Wilder and Richard Pryor star as two unsuccessful New Yorkers who head west in search of fresh air, open spaces and sanity. Wilder, the playwright, and Pryor, the actor, wind up in jail and become involved in a wild, comic escape plot. At the State Three Cinemas.

Stripes: Bill Murray plays a loser who joins the "new" U.S. Army to meet girls. Rated R. At the State Three Cinemas.

Tarzan and the Ape Man: Jane Parker (Bo Derek) goes on a jungle safari searching for her long-lost explorer father (Richard Harris). She meets the fearless, mute Tarzan (Miles O'Keefe) who falls in love with her and helps her fight wild animals and jungle plants. Filmed in Sri Lanka and Seychelles Islands. Rated R. At the Carmel Village Theatre.

Time Bandits: A fantasy starring Shelly Duvall, Sean Connery, John Cleese, Katherine Helmond. Directed by Terry Gilliam. Rated PG. At the Hill Theatre.

Zoot Suit: An ingeniously filmed adaptation of Luis Valdez' switchblade-sharp play, combining myth, music and reality about Chicano life in Los Angeles in the 1940s. The movie focuses on the unsolved Sleepy Lagoon murder case, the infamous mass trial and conviction of 22 youths who were later freed. At the Regency Theatre.

Film review:

Narc, Narc Who's There?

By LISA JENSEN

In 1971, New York's entire law enforcement system was thrown into turmoil by the Knapp Commission's investigation into police corruption in New York City. The feds were particularly interested in the link between police corruption and the multi-million dollar narcotics trade, and toward that end, they put out tentative feelers to members of the Special Investigating Unit (SIU), an elite detective squad devoted entirely to cracking major drug cases.

To everyone's surprise, a hotshot young SIU detective named Bob Leuci reluctantly agreed to inform on the department. Leuci's complex motivations and the cataclysmic results of his decision are the subject of Prince of the City.

The Leuci character is called Danny Ciello (Treat Williams), a young cop whose street savvy and brash charisma earn him the leadership of a veteran SIU team at the age of 31. The SIU is the glamor division of the force, the "prince of the city." Its members make their own assignments, never do paper work and live much better than ordinary cops. They're only required to get results; the bigger the bust, the greater the rewards.

The means to those ends are often unorthodox and even illegal; Danny and his team trade drugs for information with their junkie "stoolies" and pocket a percentage of the recovered cash in the bigger busts. Clearly, the most intense relationship in Danny's life is his devotion to and dependence on his partners.

But Danny's latent guilt and anger at how the system works begin to gnaw at him. When he meets Knapp Commission investigator Cappelino (Norman Parker), he thinks he sees a way to expiate some of his own guilt without becoming a "rat." He agrees to help gather evidence against the crooked bail bondsmen, lawyers and judges he feels profit the most from illicit drug traffic, but he refuses to incriminate any of his own partners. "We're the only thing that stands between you and the jungle" he tells Cappelino.

Cappelino and his Ivy League associate, Paige (Paul Roebeling) agreed to Danny's terms, and the young detective goes undercover. For awhile, he's excited by the thrilling game of wearing a recording wire and bluffing his way through meetings with powerful criminals. But as the investigation gains momentum, the bureaucratic machinery begins to spin way out of control.

Soon, he and his family are forced to go into hiding under armed guard. The trials based on his evidence go on for years, and he's abandoned by Cappelino and Paige when they're promoted. Finally, doubt is cast on his credibility as the government's star witness, and the tormented Danny Ciello is forced into his most agonizing decision, to chance the dismissal of all the evidence he's risked life and reputation to obtain, or come clean about his own past and thereby expose his former partners.

It takes Lumet and Allen three hours to tell their complicated, meticulously detailed story, and they're careful to present Ciello-Leuci in all his contradictions, without passing judgment on him. But the movie suffers somewhat from their scrupulous even-handedness.

The atmosphere is so thick with doom from the start that we never believe, as Ciello does, that he'll have even a remote chance of protecting his partners once he teams up with the feds. And after awhile, the endless drone of nameless and faceless Justice Department WASPs shuffling in and out of Ciello's life begins to dull our response to his personal tragedy.

The film has valid points to make out the relativity of justice and honor within the American legal system, but it shouldn't take the filmmakers so long to do it. The movie needs to be tightened and refocused; instead, it just lumbers inexorably along like the legal system it portrays, dragging the helpless Ciello along in the wake.

Treat Williams pulls out all the stops as Ciello. He radiates an electrifying bravura when he first tells Cappelino and Paige of his own SIU indiscretions and an aching intensity during his anguished confession to his partners.

But the character as written doesn't make much emotional progress. The frustrated rage that tortures him at the film's end is exactly like the guilty rage which leads him to beat on hysterical junkies and his own hostile kid brother in the early scenes; he never seems to transcend or come to terms with the overwhelming events that swallow him up. This lack of personal movement makes Prince of the City a curiously unfinished film despite Williams' fearless performance.

BackgammonShould you double?

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You are White, on roll in the diagrammed position. Should you double? If you have accepted an earlier double, should you now redouble? Should Black accept a double or redouble?

You should surely double since the odds are about 2 to 1 in your favor. And Black should take the double since the odds against him are less than 3 to 1 and since he may well get a chance to redouble.

It should take Black three average rolls to bring a man around and off, counting his entry into the board as one of those three rolls. He will need six rolls to get both men around if he doesn't miss while trying to get in the board.

You should get two or three men off before you have to open your board; and with average luck you should have six or seven men off by the time Black gets both men in. He should still need five rolls, and so should you—but it is your turn to roll.

You don't have a good redouble. If Black brings both men in promptly, you are only a slight favorite to win the game. If he misses twice, you can redouble with much more assurance; and the chances are that Black will take the redouble even though it is no longer an attractive proposition.

Would you like to have Alfred Sheinwold teach you how to play backgammon? A 12-lesson booklet will be on the way to you when you send $1 plus a stamped, self-addressed, No. 10 envelope to Backgammon, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1000, Los Angeles, Calif. 90053.

Sierra Club plans three outings

The Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club will bike, hike and canoe through the great outdoors on Saturday, Dec. 12.

The canoe trip, for experienced or Red Cross certified canoers only, will float the Tuolumne River to observe salmon spawning, wild bee hives in the cliffs, a blue heron rookery and a terrifying double "S" curve in the river. Bring canoes, painters, float bags, a 50-foot rope, lunch, a hot drink and warm clothes.

Phone Frank Shields at 684-1315 for information about the time and the meeting place.

The bike ride will start at 9 a.m. on Carmel Hill at the rear of the Beverly Manor parking lot, then proceed through Del Monte Forest, south along Carmel beaches and Hwy. 1 to Point Lobos for a picnic lunch. The return route, say the leaders wryly, "is negotiable."

For more information phone Dave or Dottie Maat, 375-3622.

The hikers will climb 2,000 feet along the Partington Canyon Trail, emerging from the woods for a magnificent view of the ocean. The return will be via McWay Canyon Trail, with a few steep slopes along the way.

This is a moderately strenuous hike of five miles with water available. Bring lunch, boots, and a windbreaker. Meet behind Brinton's Hardware at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center at 8 a.m. There is a carpool fee of $3. For more information phone Marion Chilson evenings at 624-3510.

A loop hike of about seven miles with an elevation gain of 1,600 feet will circle Toro Park on Sunday, Dec. 13. There will be a lunch stop on one of the park's higher hills with great views in all directions.

Bring lunch and water to Cinema 70 in Del Monte Shopping Center, Monterey at 9 a.m. or at the last parking lot in Toro Park at 9:30 a.m. Also bring $1 for your driver, who must pay $2 to get into the park. For more information phone Merrill Jones evenings at 624-3052.

Chamber group to perform

The Hartnell College String Chamber Orchestra will play a Christmas concert at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 13 in the Performing Arts Recital Hall of the college, 156 Homestead Ave., Salinas.

The orchestra, directed by Gary J. Beswick, will play works by Corelli, Vaughan Williams and Leroy Anderson. Admission is free, but donations will be accepted to benefit the Jason Andrew Beswick Memorial Music Scholarship Fund.

The orchestra includes about 20 string players, woodwinds and harpsichord from Salinas, Carmel and Monterey. For more information phone 1-758-8211.

Singing Nuns to visit Cathedral

The Singing Nuns of St. Cecelia's Choir in Spokane, Wa., will present a concert at the Parish Hall of San Carlos Cathedral, 550 Church St., Monterey, at 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11.

The nuns, members of the Congregation of Mary Magdalene, are on tour in order to raise money to build a school for handicapped children.

Also on the program for the evening will be a fashion show featuring the latest in ladies' wear from Gerry's on Cannery Row, plus refreshments. Admission is $12. For more information phone 384-5650.

The biting dog

By JUDITH A. EISNER

We were speaking to a woman recently who had a small home menagerie that contained everything, large and small, except a dog.

"Oh, we had a dog," she smiled. "But he bit three people. First he bit the mailman, then the milkman, and finally one of our kids. So we got rid of him."

Obviously, in a family situation with young children, a dog who bites people cannot be tolerated.

To most of us who keep dogs as house pets, children's playmates and general alarm watchdogs, biting dogs are unacceptable. We want dependable pets, who happily tolerate the tuggings of children and the occasional reprimands of adults without retaliating.

Why do dogs bite? Why do some dogs bite some people, while other never use their teeth in anger?

We must begin to understand the psychology of "biting" by looking at the dog's mouth as a multi-purpose organ. Unlike primates, with well-developed "hands" for grasping, lifting or hitting, the dog's paws are relatively ineffective. He can dig with them, but notice that he fills in his hole with his nose! He can, to a rather limited extent, use his forepaws to grasp or balance an object, as in gnawing a bone and supporting it between his paws.

But, for the most part, the dog uses his mouth as though it were hands—think of the dog retrieving or carrying and you get the picture.

The dog uses his mouth in play and in fighting. In fact, pure dog play is really toned-down fighting. Watch a litter of puppies playing and you will see clearly that these puppyish antics are the clumsy movements of battle—lunging for the throat, reaching down to grasp (and in the adult dog, break) a foreleg, aiming for a hold at the base of the spine, etc.

Puppy play is preparation, unconsciously, for adult fighting with other dogs. (So is kittenplay the same preparation for adult cat hood.)

In addition to using his mouth instead of hands, and using it for play and fighting, your dog demonstrates affection with his mouth by licking, does some grooming with his tongue, and, of course, uses his mouth to eat and drink.

One might say, using human terms, that dogs are extremely oral creatures!

If you have ever lived with a young puppy, you have seen many of these mouth-uses. Every puppy bites at everything. It bites at stroking fingers, bites at shoelaces, bites at the corners of your bedspread and the dining room table.

Puppies delight in chasing after things—and children—and leaping up to bite at them. Similarly, even very young puppies, when played with too roughly or tormented, know how to snap angrily. This may be partially an instinctive reaction and partially learned behavior, for the bitch snaps at her pups to train and wean them.

If a puppy is not trained from the very beginning into differentiating between acceptable and unacceptable mouth use, he becomes a potential biter.

It is imperative that puppies be punished for biting at fingers and snapping in anger or play. By punish we mean a rap on the end of the nose and the command, "No! Stop it!" Similarly, your children should be instructed not to permit the puppy to bite at them, "even in play," and you may have to watch for a few days to see that they carry out your instructions.

Very young puppies are capable of surprisingly short tempers, especially if they are of the less forgiving and more snappish breeds. We have seen six-week-old pups angered into miniature furies, complete with growls, snaps and bites. Don't be deluded into thinking the puppy will outgrow this behavior. He must be trained out of it immediately or it will become a permanent part of his personality.

Certain breeds tend to bite in certain ways. Dogs of the herding types, notably Collies, Shelties and the like, nip at heels in an atavistic urge to "herd." Although this is not angry or malicious behavior, a nipped ankle, a tumbled bicycle and a lawsuit tend to snap in retaliation frequently, and this must be stopped.

The larger dogs—those used for guard work, draft work and rescue—generally are more tolerant of children's abuses and less likely to use their teeth in anger. Once they have grown beyond the teething stage, they seem to possess an uncanny awareness of the lethal nature of their teeth. When a big dog bites, he usually means business; he does not bite frivolously.

While you are training your puppy not to bite or snap at people, you must be certain to provide him with suitable toys for chewing, chasing and playing. Properly channeled biting is fine. Only people-biting is forbidden.

We are not concerned here—and we assume that you are not—with intentionally training a dog to bite people. Attack dogs have their place, and a valuable place, too, but we do not feel that their place is in the average home with youngsters.

Dogs that have been severely beaten or mistreated, and dogs that, sadly, are simply off balance mentally, may develop into "fear-biters." This term refers to a frightened dog who finds himself cornered. He bites unthinkingly, because his fear is so great that his instinct for self-preservation overcomes all previous training and socialization.

From the "Carmel Pine Cone," December 13, 1916

Since the organization in October of the Red Cross chapter in Carmel, the following articles have been sent to the San Francisco depot for forwarding to the front: 350 cotton twisted wipes, 180 knitted cotton sponges, 180 gauze compresses, 50 slings, 17 abdominal bandages, 8 pair pajamas, 30 eye pads, 13 comfort bags.

We hope this is only a beginning of what will be done later. It has been decided not to forward material to the Mexican border at present.

Defying the city council which turned down their petition Wednesday night, a dinner dance is being held every night at the Carmeleta Inn, while members of the council are wondering what can be done in the matter.

At the regular meeting of the council, Mrs. Sade Latham, owner of the restaurant petitioned the board for permission to stage a nightly dance during the winter. She declared that the dance conducted in a quiet, social manner, would be held between 7 and 10 o'clock in the evening.

The council turned down her petition, declaring that a dance in a restaurant would attract the wrong kind of element and was not advisable for the community. On the following night, however, the dances were started and are still being held.

Mayor Herbert Heron said he would not interfere in the matter until the entire council discussed it thoroughly.

The Lion-Kiwanis Clubs Christmas tree lot showers their trees daily to keep them fresh and green for your fireside. A thousand silver-tips, which lumbermen call red firs, were cut for them between Nov. 15-30 on the slopes of Mt. Shasta.

Hal Armor opens the lot at 10 a.m. and closes at 8 p.m. when he shoos out the last customer. His brother Kiwanians and Lions Club members stand two-hour watches on the lot. The profits will continue grading and begin planting on the Carmel High School baseball field. This will provide both hard and soft ball diamonds and will be available to the community too.

The City Council and the Planning Commission finally see eye-to-eye on a proposed ordinance to limit the repair of automobiles in the residential district.

Neither governing body likes it.

Councilman Bernard Anderson said he attended the meeting when the commission refused to take action on the ordinance, and, "I'd say we should table it also."

For the past three or four months, the proposed ordinance has traveled between the council and the commission, the council asking the commission to take favorable action on it and the commission refusing to do so.

The ordinance was designed to prevent Carmel residents from conducting car repair businesses on the sly in the residential district.

The Monterey County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing Jan. 12 to consider rezoning the Holt Ranch subdivision in mid-Carmel Valley.

The commission set the hearing after receiving a petition signed by 19 of the 20 property owners in the area asking for rezoning to permit residents to keep horses.

Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon said that the subdivision, established 18 years ago, is now zoned R1B3 for 20,000 square foot lots, and does not permit stabling of farm animals.

Slimson said that at the moment there are six property owners violating the ordinance because they have horses. He said the petition asks rezoning to R1A, which would make horses legal.

A glorious day greeted players in the 10th Annual Cam

Puget Memorial Scotch Foursome Tournament at Pebble Beach. Due to the large field of entries last year, the tournament was restricted to Forest residents and property owners.

First off the tee was Alfred Gawthrop, Chairman of the Executive Committee of Del Monte Properties, followed by A.J. Taylor, Chairman of the Board. Art and Bob Berg, Jack and Patrick McBride, Harold and John Houghton, C.H. and Steven Blackstone, L. Rutherford, and Mark and Robert and Ralph Hall were among the Father-Son teams to participate.

Joe Fratessa, whose activities on behalf of the Crosby and, this year, the PGA are well known, teamed with Angelo Taddeo. Nick LaSorella took up where wife Phyllis left off at the California Women's Amateur Championship last week.

Following the golf, players gathered at Del Monte Lodge.

ROSEMARY MINER CROSSCURRENTS OF POINT JOE OIL 40" x 40"

ROSEMARY MINER

Celebrating twenty years of exhibition in major galleries and over two thousand of her original oils in homes and corporate offices around the globe, Gallery Americana proudly presents a new series of Rosemary Miner paintings of the Monterey County Coast, ranging from serene sunset scenes to this powerful mastery of the crosseurrents of Point Joe, at a moment when a strong offshore wind quieted the spray and sound, and bared the moving muscles of the conflicting currents. Every facet of the coastline painted shows the complete mastery of her medium.

IF YOU CAN IMAGINE PURPLE PANTS, an aquamarine awning, a blue birdcage, a green window frame and various other shades of red, brown, pink and green in this painting, you might conclude that Andre Andreoli is a very colorful painter. Right. And, if you'd look at the roofline, the cock of the shutters, the curve of the balcony railings and the meandering drainpipes, you might also conclude that Andreoli is a man who hates straight lines. Right again, if his paintings of old Italian buildings and ancient Dutch ones are any indication. They can't all be that curvy. Andreoli's paintings are now on exhibit at Zantman Art Galleries, Sixth and Mission, Carmel, through Dec. 23. Details: 624-8314.

Julie Gregory shows priceless Dali works

A priceless collection of Salvador Dali original paintings and lithographs is now on display at the Julie Gregory Gallery, Mission between Fifth and Sixth, Carmel. The show runs through Dec. 28.

The pieces comprise a retrospective collection originating in New York City that will tour the world. After the Carmel showing they will be shipped to Japan where they will be exhibited in the Tokyo Museum of Art.

The show will be of particular interest to old-timers in the Carmel area, as many of the paintings date back to the period in Dali's life when he was a resident of the area and had a studio in Pebble Beach. This was in the early '40s and is said to be the only working studio Dali maintained other than his home studio in Spain.

At 77, Salvador Dali may be the greatest living painter in the world. At least, some statistics support that. His painting, Le Sommeil, was sold for $807,300 — the highest price ever paid a living artist. Another painting, The Sacrament of the Last Supper, may be the most viewed work of art in the world. Each year, 4.5 million people file past it in Washington's National Gallery. PATIENCE PRINE OF CARMEL rides Hi Voltage, the Arabian stallion who has been named outstanding Arabian side saddle horse in the country. Prine trained the horse herself, and has ridden him to championships in events throughout the Western U.S. and Canada.

Local horse named outstanding side saddle Arabian in U.S.

Hi Voltage, an Arabian stallion owned and shown by Patience Prine of Carmel, has been named the outstanding Arabian side saddle horse in the United States by the International Side Saddle Organization. Hi Voltage has compiled more wins in Ladies Side Saddle than any other Arabian horse in the country. In addition, he topped all other breeds showing side saddle in the Western states.

This has been the six-year-old's first full year of showing and he has won many championships, not only in Side Saddle but in English Pleasure as well. Prine and her horse have traveled to shows throughout the Western states and Canada.

Patience Prine and Hi Voltage won several events at the Canadian National Championships in Edmonton, Alberta, and were winners in the Champion Top Ten Ladies Side Saddle at the U.S. Nationals in Albuquerque last month.

Most recently, they won the Ladies Side Saddle Championship at the Cow Palace Grand Nationals. Prine, who has owned Hi Voltage since his birth, trained the horse herself.

Monterey artist to give demonstration

Edmund Moody of Monterey will give an oil painting demonstration at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11 in the Seaside City Hall Council Chamber, 440 Harcourt Ave., Seaside. The demonstration is public and free.

Moody has had a number of exhibits, including a one-man show at Seaside City Hall last year. His special interest is in reviving religious art.

Currently on exhibit at Seaside City Hall Gallery are watercolors, oils, acrylics and air-brush paintings by Carmel artist David Allan. Allan, who teaches art at the Ft. Ord Crafts Center, has had many local shows, and has won awards in the Seaside Art Competitive and in a competition of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

Allen's paintings may be seen from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at Seaside City Hall through Dec. 31. There is no admission charge.

Libraries call for volunteers

Does time hang heavy on your hands these days? Here's something that will help you and those you serve in many different ways, and it will take only about half an hour a week.

The two local libraries, Carmel and Monterey, are both in need of volunteers to offer library services to homebound readers.

These include books, magazines, talking books and large print materials. They are delivered free of charge to private homes, convalescent hospitals and retirement homes throughout the areas.

"We desperately need volunteers," says Peg Richter, director of the Carmel library. "At this point we only have one."

After a professional librarian visits a homebound person and determines his needs and tastes, the volunteer takes over for about half an hour a week to deliver the books chosen.

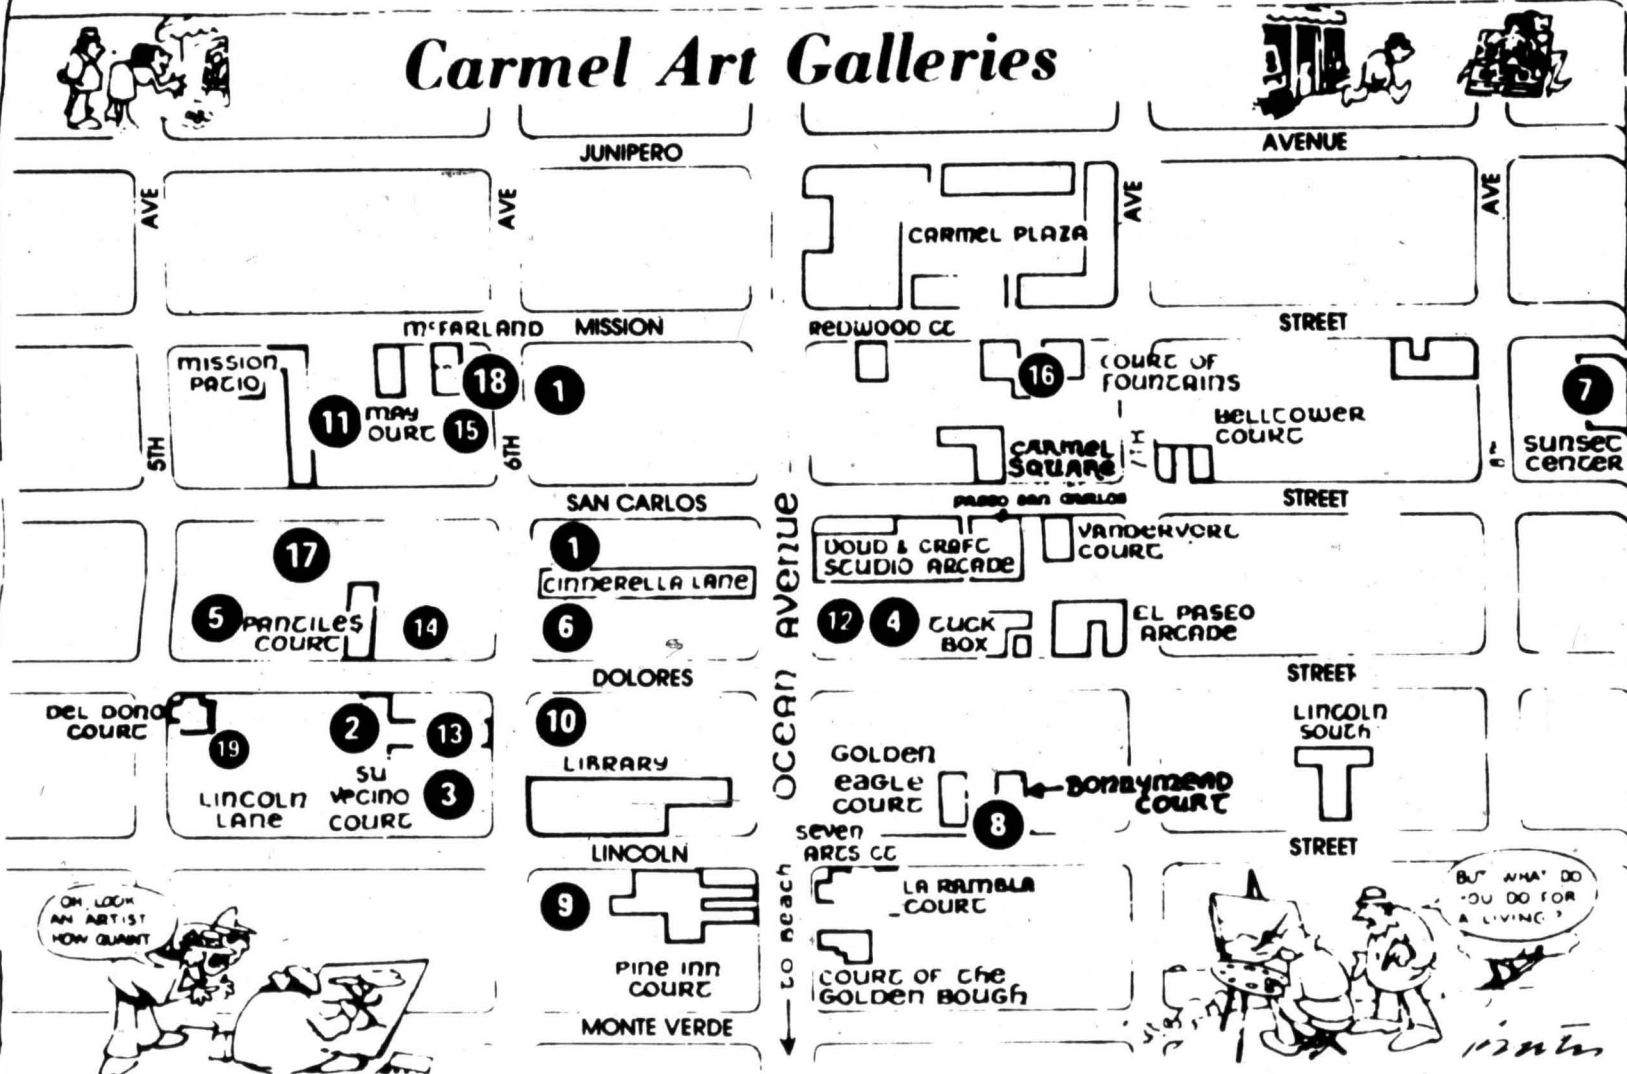

For more information phone the Carmel library at 624-4629, or the Monterey library at 646-3930.

Heart Association seeks grant applicants

STEVE RUSSAK, a UCLA junior from Carmel, was one of three area college students who won $1,000 grants from the American Heart Association last year to do cardio-vascular research with medical professionals. At left is Anne McGowan, chairman of the Central Mission Trails Chapter of the Red Cross, 10 San Miguel Ave. in Salinas, who is looking for more undergraduates to sponsor for this year's program. Gifted science students are encouraged to apply by Tuesday, Dec. 15. For information phone 1-372-0485.

Deaths

Kathleen Ashton

Kathleen Mary Ashton died Nov. 28 at her home in Carmel after a brief illness. She was 78.

Born Jan. 27, 1903, in Pike County, Ind., Mrs. Ashton had been a Carmel resident approximately 30 years. Her husband, Bert, died in 1979.

Survivors include three sons, Donald R. Ashton of Las Vegas, Nev., Bert H. Ashton Jr. of Fullerton and Richard J. Ashton of Oxnard; 12 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggested memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

Arne Kippenes

Arne Kippenes, a former owner of Carmel restaurants, died Dec. 1 at his home in Sun City, Ariz., after a short illness. He was 72.

Kippenes, a native of Norway, worked at the Grand Hotel in Oslo and was the owner of Hotel Bellevue in Norway. He came to Pacific Grove in 1956 and opened a restaurant there. In 1958 he moved to Carmel where he lived until his retirement in 1973, when he moved to Sun City.

He was a member of the Carmel Kiwanis Club, the Carmel Business Association, and was one of the property owners and builders in the Carmel Knolls area.

Survivors include his wife, Dortha, daughter Grete and three grandchildren.

The Menke Funeral Home in Sun City was in charge of arrangements.

Letitia Creede

Letitia E. Creede, a longtime Carmel Point resident, died Dec. 1 in Carmel following a short illness, two days before her 81st birthday.

Born Dec. 3, 1900, in San Francisco, she became a permanent resident in 1950. She was the widow of Frank Creede, former manager of the State Compensation Insurance Fund and an attorney.

Mrs. Creede was a commercial artist in San Francisco and served with the Red Cross Motor Corps during World War II.

She was a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West Junipero Parlor No. 141 and the American Legion Auxiliary.

She is survived by a son, Superior Court Judge Frank Creede of Fresno; cousin, Eleanor Kerr of Carmel; four grandchildren and one great-grandson.

The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggested memorial contributions to the Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula, Box 7236, Carmel 93921.

Father Farrell's wisdom

'Gracias a Dios'

Innocation, Carmel-by-the-Sea Rotary
La Playa Hotel, November 25, 1981

For the past three hundred and sixty years, Thanksgiving Day has been cherished by Americans as a civil, religious and family festival. When I was a young lad growing up near Tortilla Flat in Monterey, one of the first expressions I learned in Spanish was, "Gracias a Dios"—Thanks be to God.

To the paisanos of the Monterey Peninsula this praise was automatic, spontaneous and deeply felt. It was used in good times and in bad, in sickness and in health, in sunshine and in rain, in life and in death.

I remember greeting Juanato, an old man crippled with arthritis and almost blind. "Como estas, Juanito?" "Muy bien, Huerito, gracias a Dios."

One of the worst words in Spanish is "ingrato or desgrateado," an ingrate, a person who is ungrateful to God and to man.

Oh Lord, we promise that we shall continue the traditions of this Peninsula not only on "el ultimo jueves de Noviembre" but on every day of the year and the words of old Monterey will be ever on our lips and in our hearts "Gracias a Dios."

Recently, two of our Rotary yachtmen were caught in a heavy fog, high seas and fifty knot winds off Point Lobos. The captain, consulting his chart and compass, turned to his companion and said, "Take off your cap. I have just figured we are in the center aisle of Carmel Mission Basilica." Thank God it isn't the bar at the Mission Ranch. Amen.

OFFERING

THE ALTERNATIVES

(a new approach to funeral service)

A selection of services uniquely compatible with contemporary thinking.

"THE PINE"...Cremation without services

"THE CYPRESS"...Cremation with memorial service

"THE OAK"...Burial without formality

"THE MAPLE"...The traditional Service

PREPLANNING IS A LOGICAL PART OF THIS CONCEPT

The advantage of "The Alternatives" is its unlimited flexibility. It can be traditional or contemporary... outdoors...without ritual...small or large...indoors or outdoors...religious or not...whatever the family feels should be the appropriate tribute.

CHRONIC PAIN

If you are the unfortunate victim of chronic pain, or one of those told you will just have to learn to live with aches and pains...

Clinical studies indicate that nothing could be further from the truth. Most victims of pain could be helped if they were less willing to accept pain on a permanent basis. Dramatic results are now achieved without the use of conventional drugs or surgery.

NOTICE OF DEATH OF LOUISE B. DANIELS AND OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE CASE NO. MP-7594

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate of LOUISE B. DANIELS.

A petition has been filed by ANITA B. STEWART in the Superior Court of Monterey County requesting that ANITA B. STEWART be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act.

A hearing on the petition will be held on Dec. 18, 1981 at 9:30 a.m. at 1200 Agujito Road, Monterey, California 93940.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should either appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court or present it to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 700 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire prior to four months from the date of the hearing noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file a request with the court to receive special notice of the filing of the inventory of estate assets and of the petitions, accounts and reports described in section 1200 of the California Probate Code.

JACKS PEAK ESTATE

Jacks Peak, the setting for this estate, is one of Monterey Peninsula's most prestigious areas. It is an area of multi-acre properties with superb pines, oaks and other native growth. And it has become the home of many well-known personalities. Our Jacks Peak estate consists of six mostly level acres and provides a magnificent view of Monterey Bay and beyond to the Santa Cruz coastline. Entering down the private drive you immediately sense the beauty and tranquility of this property.

The rambling, ranch-style main house of three bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths, is in need of refurbishing, but it is large and well-built. There is a cute guest cottage with complete kitchen and its own bay window ocean view. A large redwood barn contains four box stalls and nearby is the corral area, providing plenty of space for your favorite steeds to roam. The property is fenced for grazing and completely fenced around the perimeter. For natural beauty, proximity to the scenic and cultural pleasures of the Monterey Peninsula and level acreage, this estate presents an outstanding opportunity. $795,000.

CHRISTOPHER BOCK

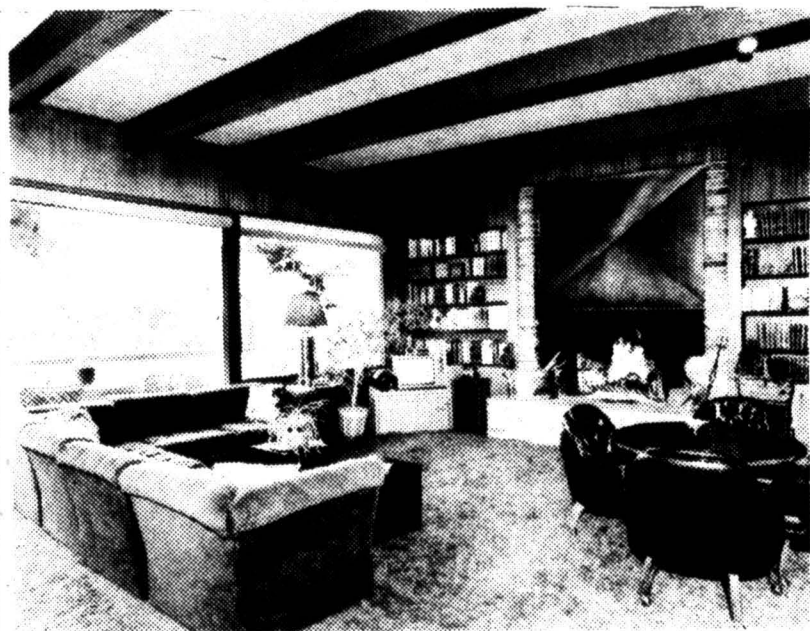

A wonderful window on the world . . .

The trick to successful living by the sea is to be able to look out at the ever-changing ocean without having passersby look in at you. In this extraordinary house on Carmel Beach, the trick has been accomplished.

If you stand at the corner of 13th and Scenic, all you can see is a flying bridge, a spacious front deck, well-fenced, with great windows behind and more windows below. All around the house, which runs clear through from Scenic to San Antonio, are high board fences which keep it as cloistered as a monastery.

But inside! You enter at a ground level door and find short stairs leading up to the left and down straight ahead. The steps up bring you to an impressive 29 x 19 living room, faced toward the ocean, with wall-high picture windows opening to the "bridge" and the sea. The walls are paneled, a great fireplace dominates the far end, and a dining area is located at the left.

Through a pass-through counter is the well ordered, skylighted kitchen, squarely in the center of the house. A short corridor runs past it to the main bath (a glamorous chamber), the master bedroom at left, and a very private, paneled den (or family room, or 4th bedroom) at right. Sliding glass doors from both these rear rooms open to a perfect, all-weather patio completely secluded from outside view by the high fences and walls of the garage and house. If there's sun, you get it; if there's wind, it passes right over.

The down stairs go to a complete lower level: 2 large bedrooms under the "bridge" looking to the nearby beach; a second large bath; and a sizeable laundry room. All these areas, except the laundry, are carpeted, and they add to the feeling of space.

This is a premium location; very few places have anything like comparable views. It's almost 2300 sq. ft. and well maintained. If you'd like all of Carmel Bay in your front yard, this is the place. $595,000.

AN EXPERIENCE IN SECLUSION

AND IN THE HEART of Carmel...just listed, a charming, remodeled two bedroom, two-bath cottage on an oversized lot at the south edge of the village shopping district. It's within steps of marketing, movies and restaurants, and only four level blocks from the post office. An old-fashioned gate opens to a private and nicely landscaped garden, and a curving path leads you to the inviting front door of the blue-shingled cottage. Inside, you'll find walls of board and batten, fireplace in the living room, and beamed ceilings in living room and both bedrooms. A big deck is off the living room, and there's a detached garage. Shown anytime! $289,500.

A VILLA NEAR THE OCEAN

A HOME YOU'VE GOT TO SEE! It's in traditional Spanish style and it's been tastefully remodeled and updated to provide comfortable living within sight and sound of the ocean. You'll admire the good-sized living and dining rooms with their refinished hardwood floors, the attractive Mexican tile counters in the new kitchen, the little fireplace in the dinette, and the big fireplace in the master bedroom. Altogether, there are four, possibly five, bedrooms. The location — on prestigious Spindrift Road, only a few minutes south of Carmel. $425,000.

CARMEL VALLEY STYLE

NEW LISTING. Here's a home that has it all. It has 2400 square feet, it's of post adobe construction, and it's in a sunny and convenient Mid-Valley location. The main house has three bedrooms and two and one-half baths, and there's a separate studio with bath overlooking the pool and patio area. You can keep horses, too, if you like, in the corral. Preview at your pleasure. $255,000.

NOW YOU CAN AFFORD

CARMEL VALLEY LIVING. We're offering a NEW LISTING . . . a ranch-style home of three bedrooms and three baths in a choice location. The approach to this beautifully wooded half-acre lot is by a circular driveway that rises to the front entrance. This house itself is designed for comfortable living. There's a studio off the kitchen with its own entrance, a double garage, and an automatic sprinkler system. Now look at this for financing — you can assume a 28-year loan at 9 per cent! And the price is just $230,000. Call for an appointment.

Adobe With Guest Apartment

Across from Forest Hill Park on a two-lot, corner site are this shake-roofed, adobe home on one lot with a four-room apartment above the double garage on the second lot, both set amid oaks inside ivy-covered walls and picket fences which also enclose lawns, a waterfall cascading into pools and, in back, a terraced area with a barbecue in a cabana.

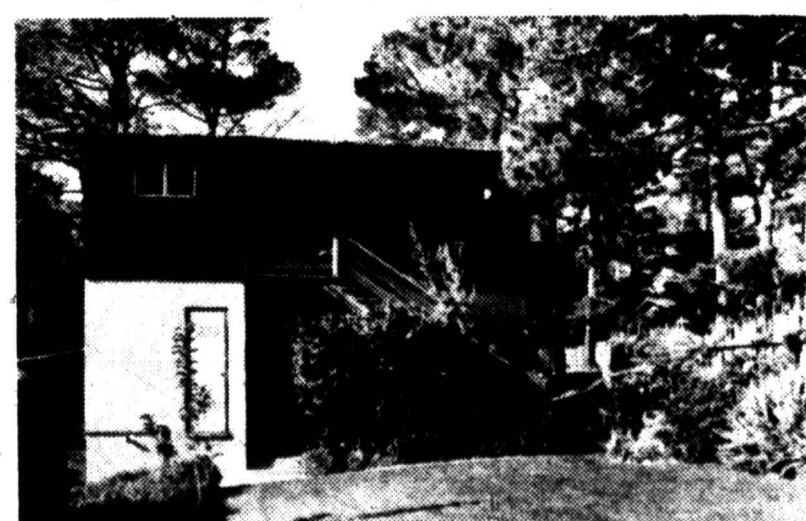

Eye of redwood paneling in walls and high, beamed ceiling is found in the living room with an adobe fireplace wall that extends into the dining room with a similar ceiling. The same ceiling treatment is featured in the kitchen with terracotta tile counters, custom-crafted cabinets, microwave oven and access to a paved patio below the barbecue.

Open beam ceilings, paneled and adobe walls, also carpeted floors, enhance the three bedrooms, two of which flank the bathroom. The third is upstairs and could well be a study.

Downstairs, with an outside entrance, too, the family room has a brick fireplace and a bar area with both a sink and a refrigerator. Adjacent are a half-bath and the laundry.

Opening off the other street bounding the corner site, the double garage has electric door control. Beamed ceilings, paneling and hardwood flooring enhance the apartment above with living room, kitchen, bedroom and bath. Price of this property with both home and income potential is $395,000.

IRA: TAX SAVINGS YOU CAN RETIRE ON.

A WELLS FARGO PERSONAL BANKERTM WILL SHOW YOU HOW TO DO IT.

Wells Fargo has been helping people save for retirement for a hundred and thirty years. We've been offering Individual Retirement Accounts since their authorization by Congress. We offer five Individual Retirement options. Plus a Personal Banker to help you choose the right one.

A retirement plan for everyone who works.

Under new Federal tax laws, beginning in 1982, virtually everyone who works will be able to deposit up to $2,000 a year into an IRA ($4,000 for couples who work) and defer paying taxes on the money until it is withdrawn. Even if you're already covered by another retirement plan. The interest this money earns is also not taxed until you start to withdraw your funds. You'll be able to turn continuing tax savings into an independent nest egg that's yours even if you change jobs, change careers, or move to another state.

Your own tax shelter now.

IRA deposits are tax deductible from your current income. This means you can lower the amount of taxes you pay each year that you make contributions to your IRA. For example, if you're in a 35% tax bracket, you save $700 in current taxes every year you deposit $2,000 to your IRA.

A retirement nest egg later.

The interest your IRA earns is also not taxed until you withdraw your funds. You can withdraw funds in a lump sum, or over a monthly or quarterly payment schedule. You determine the amount of the payments, within IRS guidelines. Since your tax bracket will probably be lower then, your taxes should be less.

How an IRA Grows and Saves You Taxes

Assumption: If you invest $2,000 each year at 12% on January 1 until you retire at age 65, here's what your nest egg would amount to:
Your Age Today	IRA Total At Year End At Age 65*	Comparable Total of a Taxable Investment If Your Marginal Tax Rate Is
		20%	35%	50%
25	$2,130,062	$842,624	$409,462	$191,765
35	629,328	308,088	175,003	95,224
45	177,227	105,674	69,236*	43,180
55	41,030	29,025	21,524	15,124

*IRA funds are subject to ordinary income taxes when received.

Five different investment options.

Wells Fargo offers a choice of five Individual Retirement options. They range from one that guarantees the starting interest rate on each deposit until you reach age 60, to options offering money market rates at different maturities. You can transfer from one plan to another as your deposits mature. And each account is insured up to $100,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. And there are substantial penalties for early withdrawal. Your nearest Wells Fargo Bank has full details.

It's in your interest to invest now.

There can be a distinct financial advantage to investing in a Wells Fargo IRA now, instead of waiting until later in the year. If, for example, you invested $2,000 annually at 12% each January 1 instead of waiting until December 31, over the next twenty-five years, the difference in your earnings would amount to more than $38,000.

A Personal Banker can help you choose.

Above all, your retirement investment is a personal decision. We feel it should be given personal attention. Your nearest Wells Fargo Bank has a financial professional who can provide exactly that. A Wells Fargo Personal Banker, who's thoroughly versed in the complexities of IRA regulations. Your Personal Banker can show you how an Individual Retirement Account can be part of your personal retirement planning, and prepare an IRA BENEFIT ANALYSIS for you, free of charge. We want your retirement choice to be an informed choice.

It takes a bank with a past to anticipate the future.

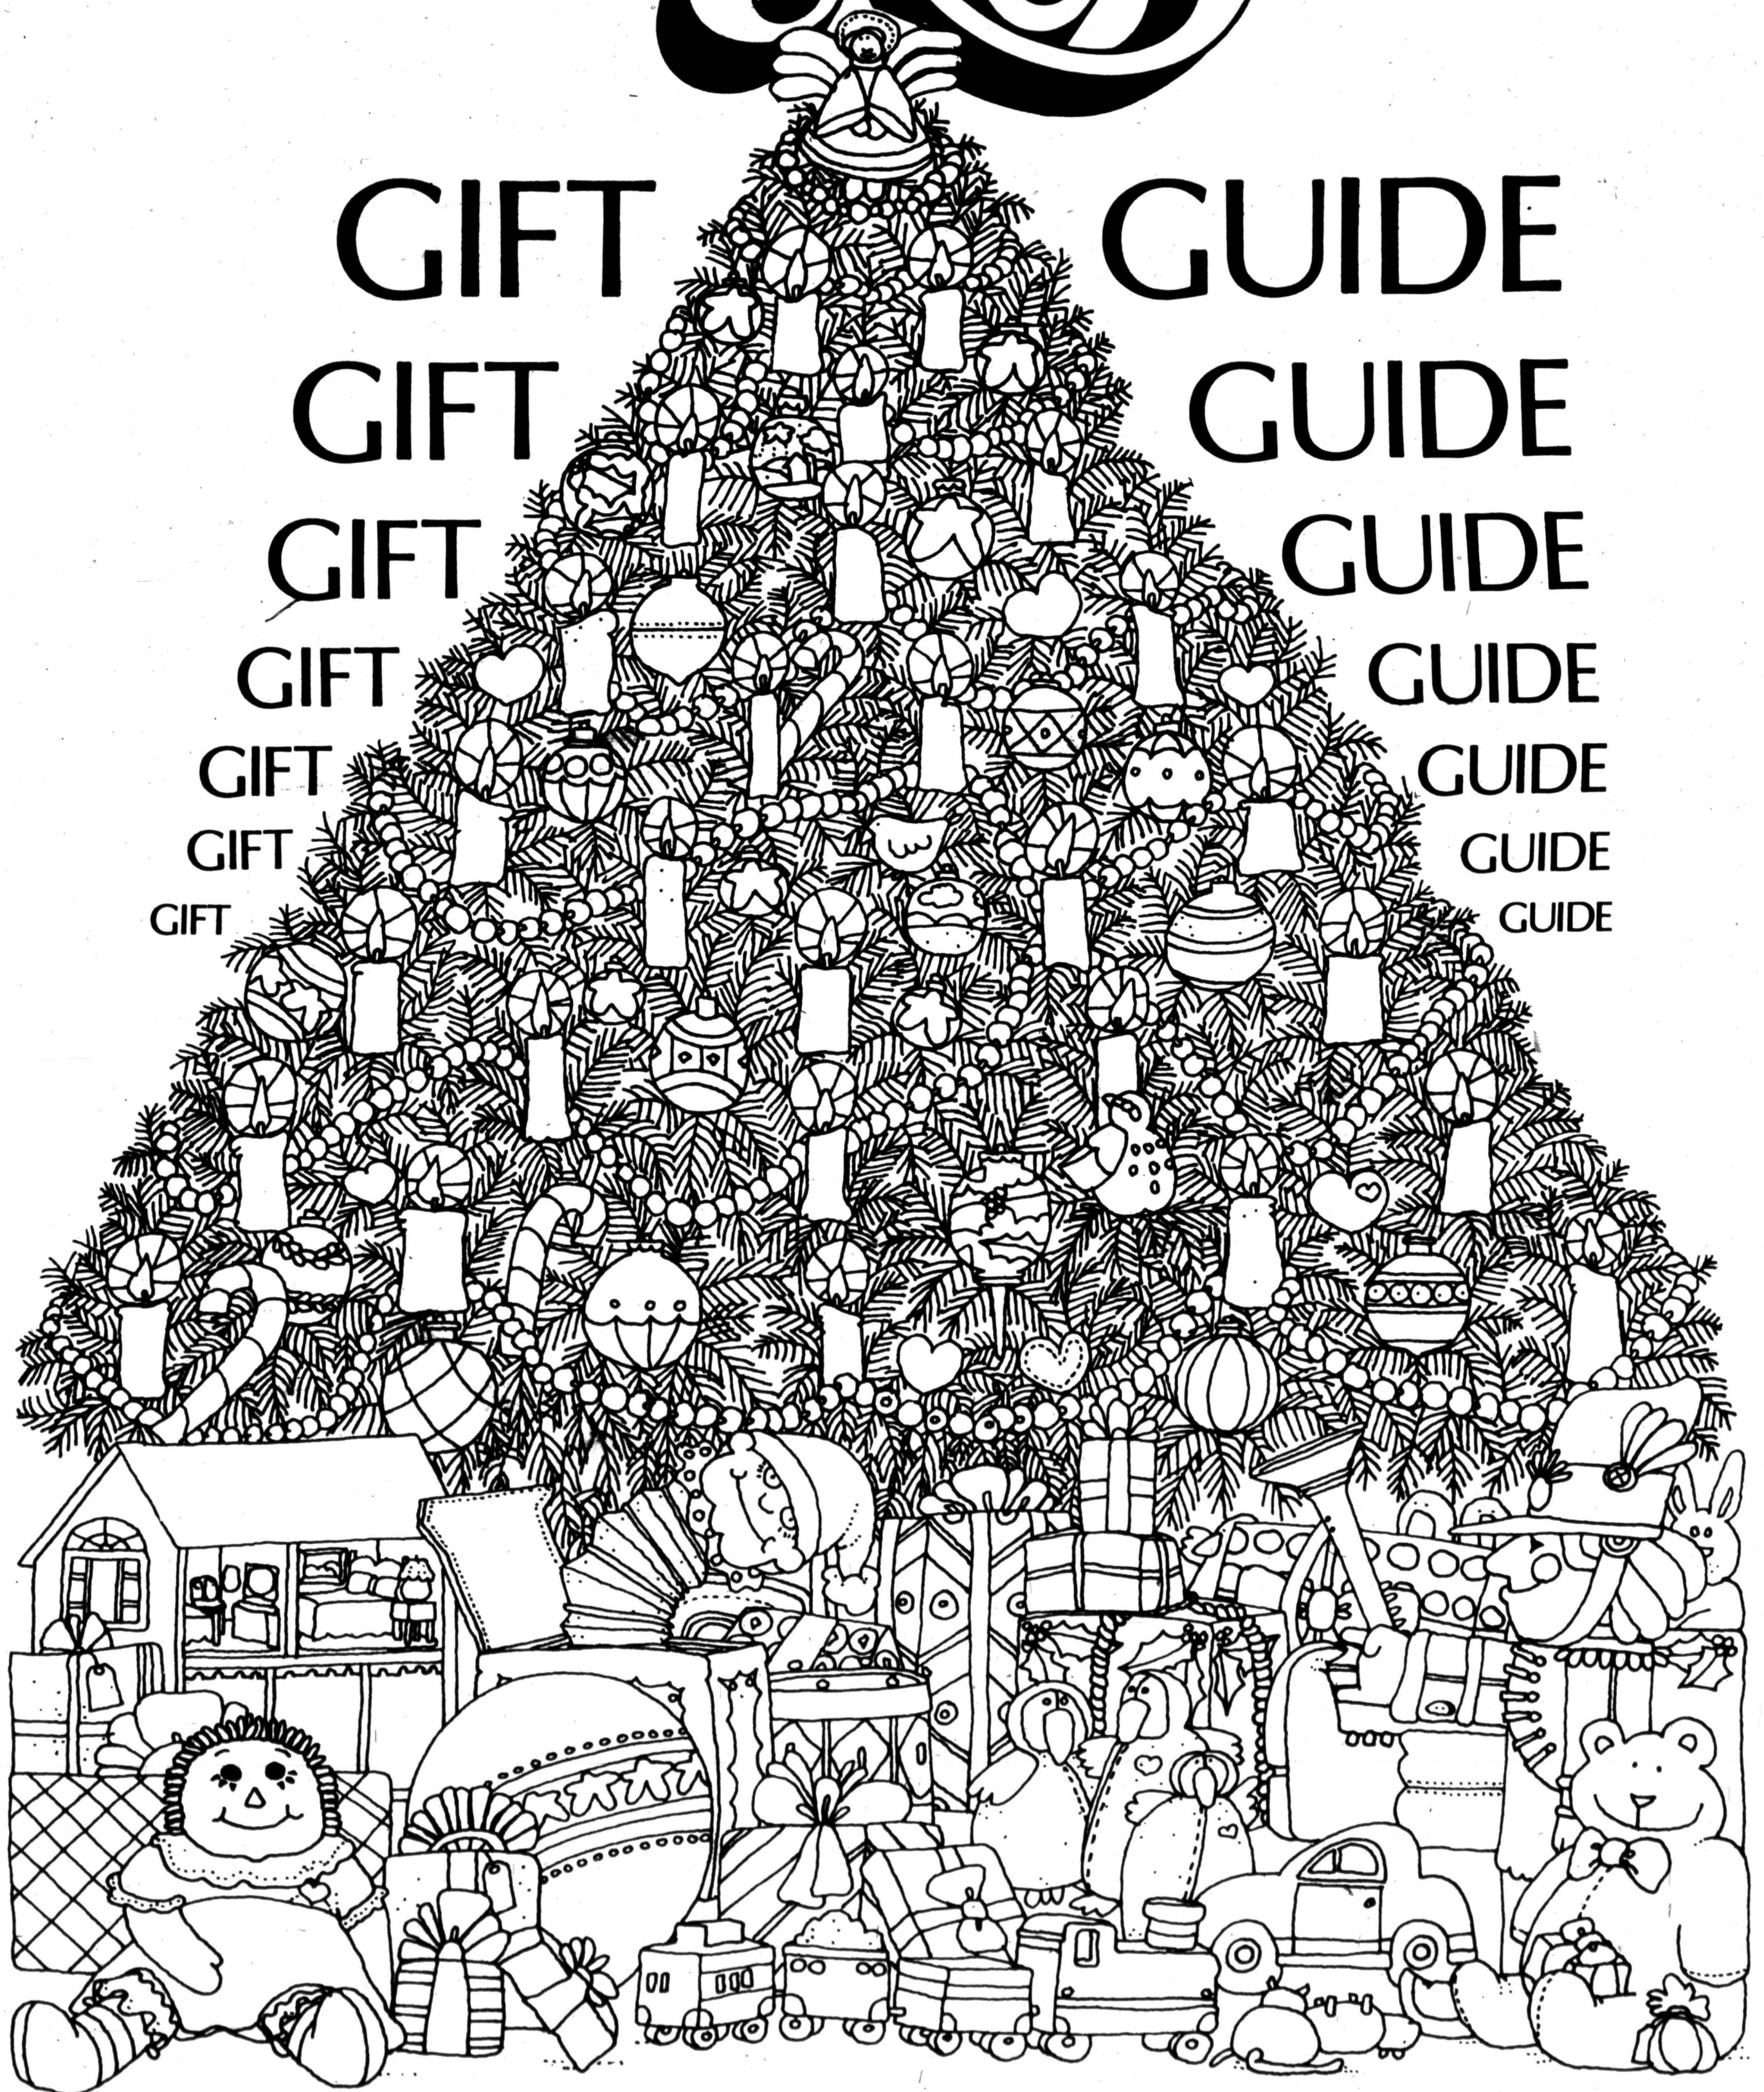

Wells Fargo has been helping people save for the future longer than any other bank in California. We've survived every economic fluctuation over the last hundred and thirty years. When you commit your financial future to us, you know you're going to get a comparable commitment in return. That means not only quality service, but the advantage of a full range of banking services from a 23 billion dollar bank. And the comforting knowledge that you know we won't be retiring even when you do.

That's the kind of retirement plan that lets you look ahead with confidence.

Timeless treasures at Richard Gorham Antiques

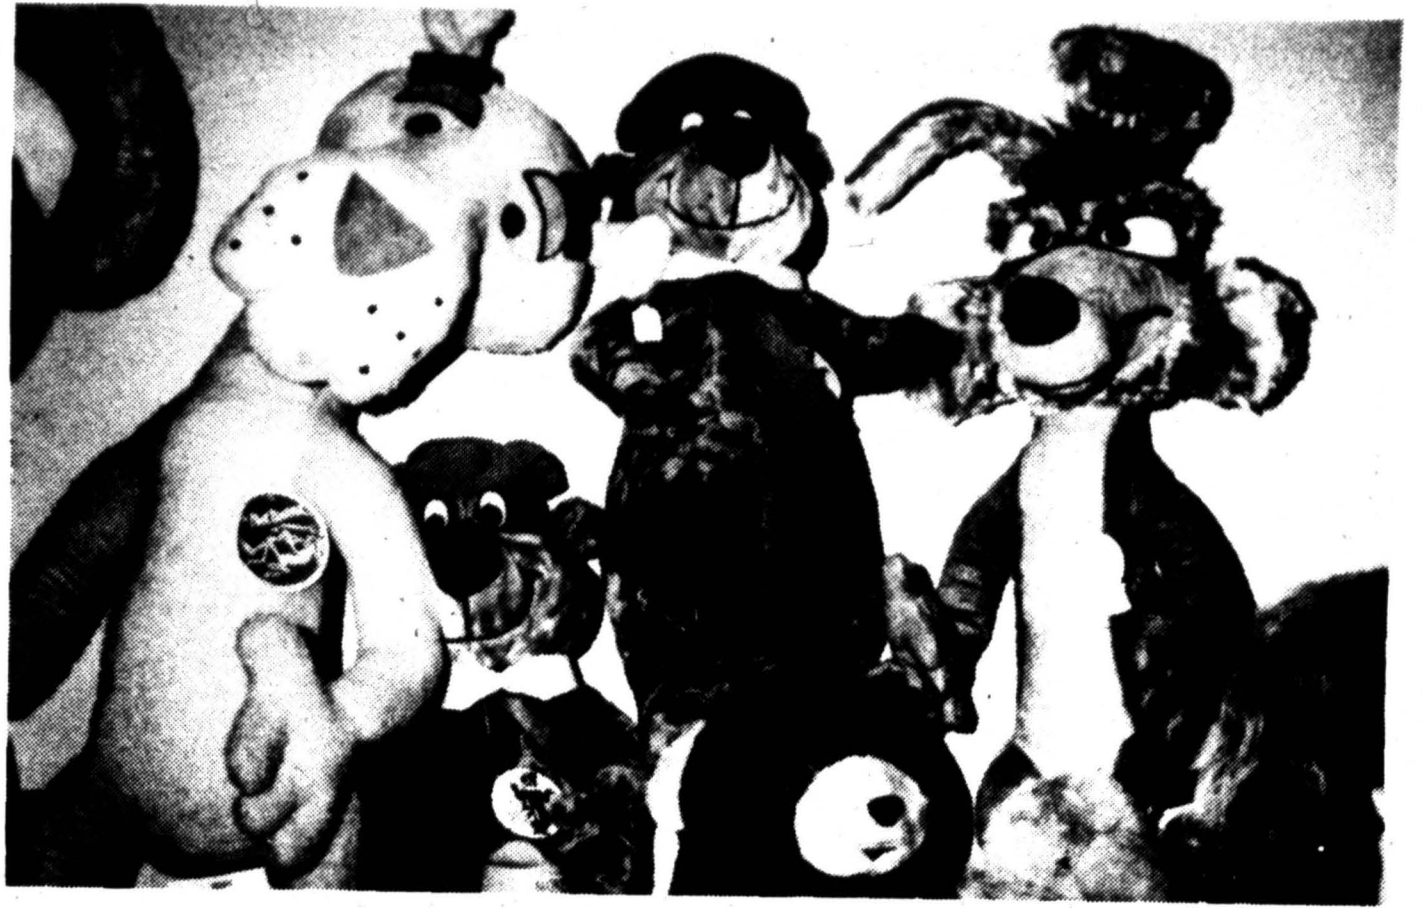

THE TIMELESS ENCHANTMENT of the East is reflected in beautiful 18th and 19th century Chinese porcelains from Richard Gorham Antiques Ltd., on Mission at Seventh, Carmel.

A gift of historical significance will be appreciated by any discriminating collector. The blue-and-white Chinese porcelain is featured in a variety of patterns — Nanking, Fitzhugh, Canton — and is part of Richard Gorham's extensive collection of Oriental porcelain.

Richard Gorham Antiques has earned a reputation as a shop for collectors in its 30 years in Carmel. Originally from Los Angeles, Richard Gorham is well-known for his expertise and love for fine antiques.

The shop specializes in 18th century furniture, Chinese export porcelain, Georgian silver and enamels.

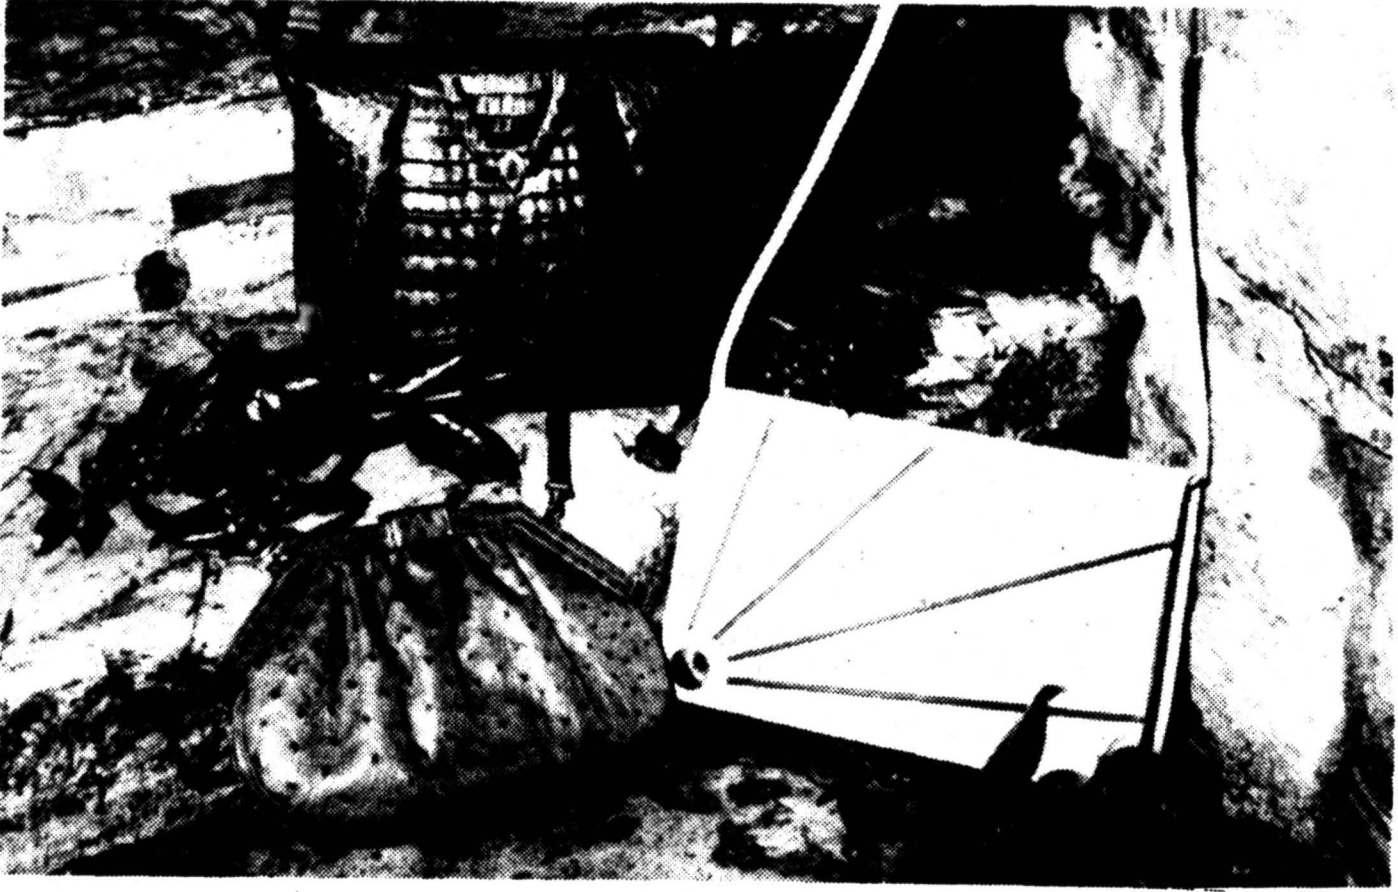

One-stop shopping for children at Toys Etc.

CHRISTMAS IS TOYS for the youngsters! At Toys Etc. in Del Monte Center, Monterey, you can make Christmas 1981 the most wonderful ever for all the children on your gift list!

Begin with the perfectly adorable stuffed toys by Hanna Barberra pictured above. Imagine how little faces will light up to find one or more of these beneath the Christmas tree! Christmas means a very special doll for a very special little girl. At Toys Etc. you'll find "first" dolls to learn to cuddle all the way up to collector's dolls.

For older children, Toys Etc. has an extensive hobby and model department and a complete selection of games for adults and children. Books and puzzles are well-represented here, and there's a special section of toys for pre-schoolers.

Find elegant handbags at Stefan Mann

A LUXURY HANDBAG is a Christmas gift the lady in your life will treasure for years to come. The elegant examples pictured above, in supple ostrich, wild alligator and teju lizard, are from the extensive collection at Stefan Mann, Dolores between Fifth and Sixth, Carmel.

Handmade in West Germany by Alfred Roth, these handbags offer contemporary yet classic styling that complements any wardrobe. They boast shoulder and short strap styles, luxurious linings and fine metal fittings. Matching wallets, shoes and purse accessories are available for very special stocking stuffers.

In addition to handbags in these very special leathers, Stefan Mann has beautiful European imports in a wide range of styles and colors.

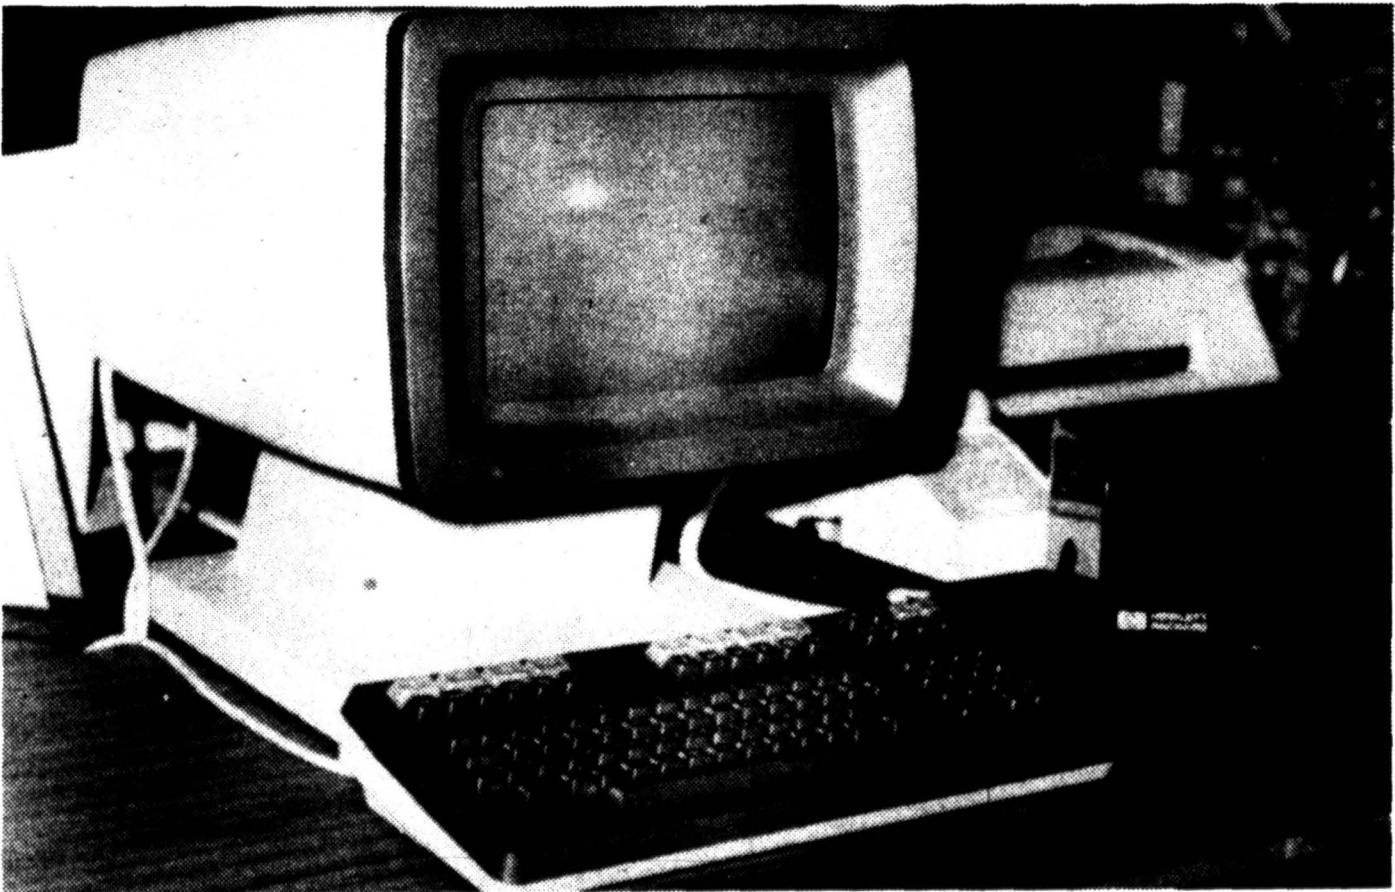

Best sellers, perfect gifts at Books, Inc.

MEET NEW FRIENDS and discover new places this Christmas with a book from the incredible selection at Books, Inc. in Carmel Plaza. With more than 300,000 volumes under its roof, Books, Inc. is sure to please every reading taste — including Santa himself!

Choose a title from the top of the Best Seller list; you'll find them all on a special table. Or find the cookbook, art book, gardening book or poetry book of your dreams here.

The largest selection of children's literature in the area is shelved at Books, Inc. You can delight youngsters this Christmas with perennial favorites including Nancy Drew, the Hardy Boys, Narnia, Dr. Seuss or Richard Scarry collections. New children's best-sellers are Babar's 50th Anniversary Album, Take Joy, by Tasha Tudor, and Tiger Eyes by Judy Blume.

A computer is the perfect family gift

A COMPUTER FOR CHRISTMAS? Absolutely! It's the perfect gift for the entire family; it's practical, helpful, educational and fun!

At Computer Place on Carmel Rancho Lane, near The Barnyard, Carmel, Apple and Hewlett-Packard computers for the home (and office) are displayed and demonstrated. A family-owned and operated business since 1978, Computer Place offers a friendly and knowledgeable staff to acquaint you with a personal computer can do to change your life — for the better.

Computer Place also stocks calculators, paper for computer printers, books on computer languages, game playing, programming and do-it-yourself repair.

If there's a "computer nut" on your gift list and you don't know a thing about computers, a gift certificate from Computer Place might be the perfect answer!

Men, solve gift dilemmas at Peck & Peck

Pick your look at Mayfair

HOW TO LOOK divinely feminine for the holidays: begin with black chiffon bloomers by Miss Ashlee. Add a ruffled, drop-shoulder organza blouse and a black silk cummerbund and the world is yours! These sensational separates are part of the holiday collection at Mayfair Boutique in Carmel Plaza.

Glitter, glitter and more glitter in silk dresses aglow with golden threads is another great Christmas party look. Hand-printed silk chiffon dresses, pleated crepe, velvet and satin knickers, organza and lace blouses — pick your look and put it together perfectly at Mayfair!

Perfect daytime looks include winter white flannel suits, skirts and knickers, and new boot suits. And you'll always find an abundance of sweaters, blouses and other separates, plus lively accessories, at Mayfair.

Satisfy that wish at Nautilus

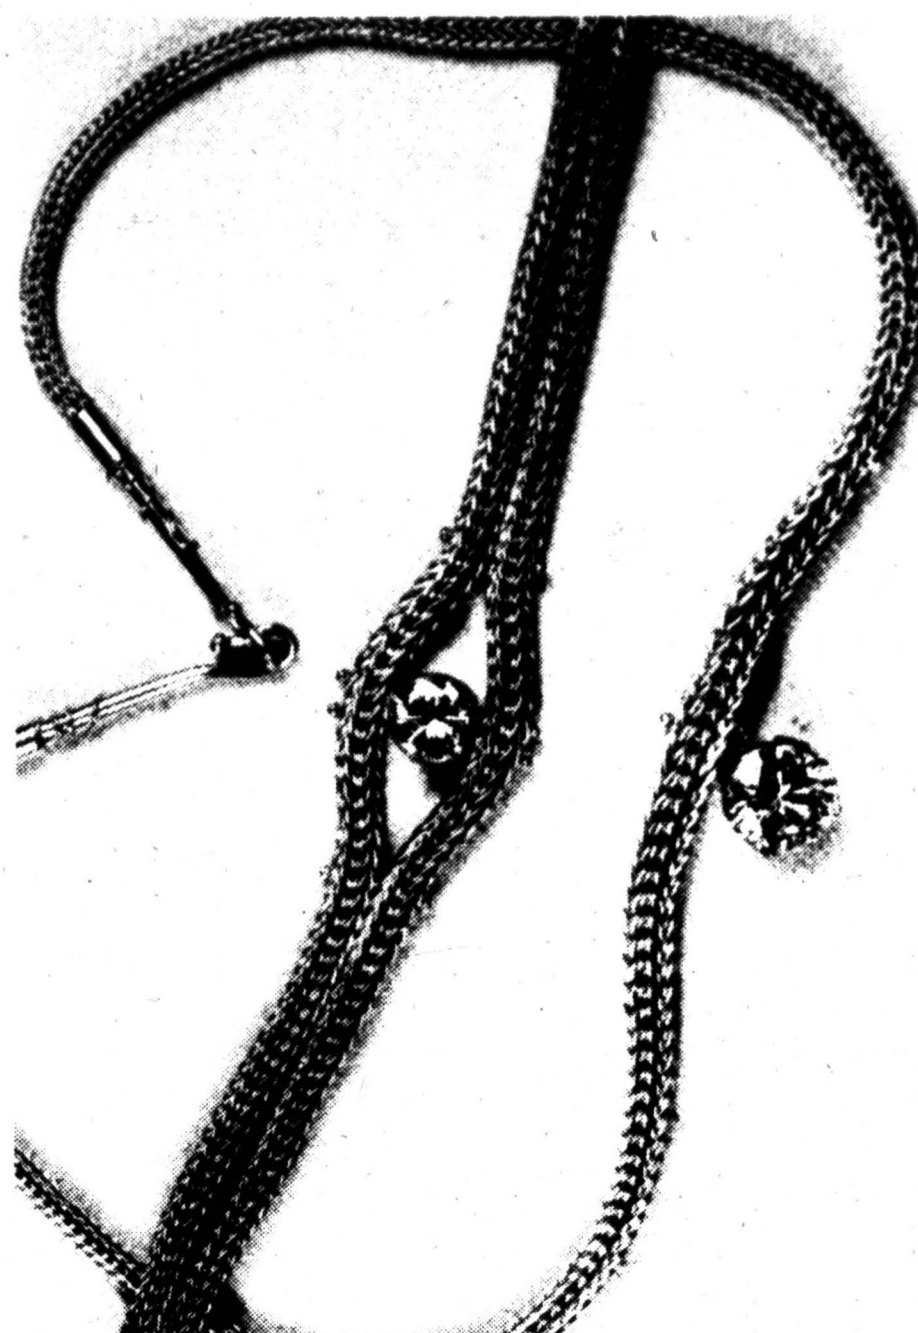

DEEP WITHIN THE HEART of every man is a secret desire to have a barometer on the wall of his office or den. You can satisfy this wish with one visit to Nautilus in the Doud Arcade, San Carlos and Ocean, Carmel.

Fine clocks and barometers with German-made quartz movements and solid brass cases are beautiful, lifetime gifts. Though nautical in feeling, women will appreciate their simplicity and elegance of design and their trouble-free operation. (Get the hint, ladies?)

Other great gift ideas at Nautilus include authentic German beer steins (coveted by both male and female collectors), unique bar accessories, antique guns, Khyber Pass rifles (the real thing!) inlaid with mother-of-pearl, book ends and a variety of genuine weather instruments.

For the pipe-smoker, this could be paradise, with an extensive selection of pipes and smoking accessories.

Now who says finding Christmas gifts for men is a problem?

Corbat for high fashion jewels

CLASSIC DESIGN in fine jewelry is as timeless as Christmas itself at Henri Corbat Swiss Jewelers, San Carlos and Fifth, Carmel.

This holiday, a gift of jewelry will provide years of pleasure to both giver and recipient. Corbat offers a striking array of exquisite high-fashion designs and beautiful gems.

As a member of the American Gem Society, Henri Corbat provides complete gemological services to test and appraise precious stones. Corbat manufactures and designs practically all the jewelry shown in his shop. He specializes in custom orders and also rejuvenates precious heirlooms.

Subdued elegance is captured in graceful designs such as the 18-karat foxtail necklace with a 6.11 carat diamond pictured here.

Both a 2 carat diamond is centered in a matching bracelet. Both are examples of the unequalled quality and beauty of Corbat's designs.

Select a Marielle gift of beauty

HERE'S A CHRISTMAS gift that is guaranteed to win hugs, kisses, fresh-perked coffee, starched shirts and no TV dinners for a year for smart men. It's a full day of beauty at Marielle in The Barnyard, Carmel.

It's such a superb gift idea and so easy for the shopper! Marielle provides a lovely gift certificate for you to place under the tree and presto! You're a hero!

The Marielle day includes a facial, body massage, pedicure, manicure, hair shampoo and styling and a customized make-up application. M'lady is guaranteed to emerge refreshed, rejuvenated, relaxed and gorgeous! And this wonderful pampering costs far less than a cashmere sweater!

(Ladies: if he doesn't take the hint, treat yourself to a day at Marielle after all the work you've done Christmas shopping for him!)

Sweaters make great gifts

SWEATERS AND CHRISTMAS go together. At the Sweater Corner on Dolores south of Seventh, Carmel, you'll find sweaters galore and much, much more.

A very beautiful and practical Christmas gift for her might be the imported Irish fisherman's sweater vest — handmade, of course, as they have been for generations. In pure wool, it will last practically for generations and it's classic look is timeless.

Also shown are pure wool, completely lined dove gray slacks by Jack Winter and a smashing red satin stripe polyester shirt that the Sweater Corner will happily custom monogram for you.

The Sweater Corner will monogram any shirt or sweater in stock in time for Christmas. And there's now a second shop in the American Tin Cannery at 125 Ocean View Blvd., Pacific Grove.

Wrap elegant home gifts

SELECT A SPECIAL gift for your home this Christmas at Guilder-Ha'penny, on Mission near Fifth, Carmel. The shelves are filled with handblown, high-fired vitreous stoneware by Eric Norstad. In addition to their beauty, these pieces are versatile and durable.

Beautifully crafted sinks and basins pictured here add a touch of elegance to the kitchen, bath or bar. Brass and chrome plumbing fixtures selected to complement them are also featured at Guilder-Ha'penny.

The holiday table will be especially inviting this Christmas with any of the selection of Norstad tableware and serving pieces. Purchase a matching set or mix and match for a totally personal look.

Light up someone's Christmas with any of the assortment of striking Norstad lamps. Or, for a romantic holiday lighting effect, select gracefully crafted candlestick holders.

Scan Favela for unique gifts

IF YOU KNOW someone who really has everything and is impossible to Christmas shop for, Joe Favela has the answer!

It is a 6-foot-diameter, 10-foot-tall stained glass globe of truly magnificent workmanship and glorious color. The globe, which took two craftsmen 9 months to complete (working full time), has all political boundaries, major lakes and rivers accurately delineated. It would be smashing in that very special someone's library or study.

In addition to this one-of-a-kind masterpiece, Favela Jewelry & Art Objects offers fine jewelry designs, metal sculpture by Chris Bell and Bill Hunt, paintings by Susan Keane, bronzes by Suzanne Sable, stained glass by David Corby, and woodwork by Craig Lauterbach.

Joe Favela is himself a custom jewelry designer and is happiest when discussing a commission for a client (another perfect gift for that person with everything).

You'll see the globe in the window at Favela Jewelry on Ocean Avenue near Mission Street, Carmel.

La Porte's 'White Christmas'

A WHITE CHRISTMAS means diamonds at La Porte's, the famous jewelry store at 165 Fountain Ave., Pacific Grove. In addition to diamonds, La Porte's offers a dazzling array of precious gemstones to wear and cherish.

Pictured is a diamond cluster ring set with fancy colored diamonds in 18 karat gold. The design is a La Porte's exclusive. The bangle bracelet shown to the left is textured 18 karat gold wrapped with diamonds. Imagine her look Christmas morning as she unwraps a gift like this!

Family-owned and operated for many years, La Porte's is known for high quality and classic design. They specialize in highest-quality diamonds, colored stones, pearls and jade and also have many fine estate pieces.

La Porte's is an American Gem Society accredited gem laboratory and furnishes a complimentary appraisal for every piece of jewelry above $300.

and Thistle features traditional "Down East" casual clothes for women; Mark Cross is known for its impeccable leather goods.

Jade Dynasty, Flowers Ltd., Pebble Beach Camera Shop, Galerie de Tours, Pebble Beach Drug Store, Robert Talbott Ties, William Ernest Brown stationers, Pebble Beach Golf Shop, Pebble Beach Gift Shop, and The Company Store (for fine wines, cheeses and gourmet delicacies) are samplings of the places you'll discover at Pebble Beach

Kingdom Come for meaningful Christmas gifts

CHRISTMAS BEGINS with at least one visit to Kingdom Come Books and Gifts on Carmel Rancho Lane, at the entrance to The Barnyard, Carmel. Here, special books and gifts put the true meaning back into Christmas.

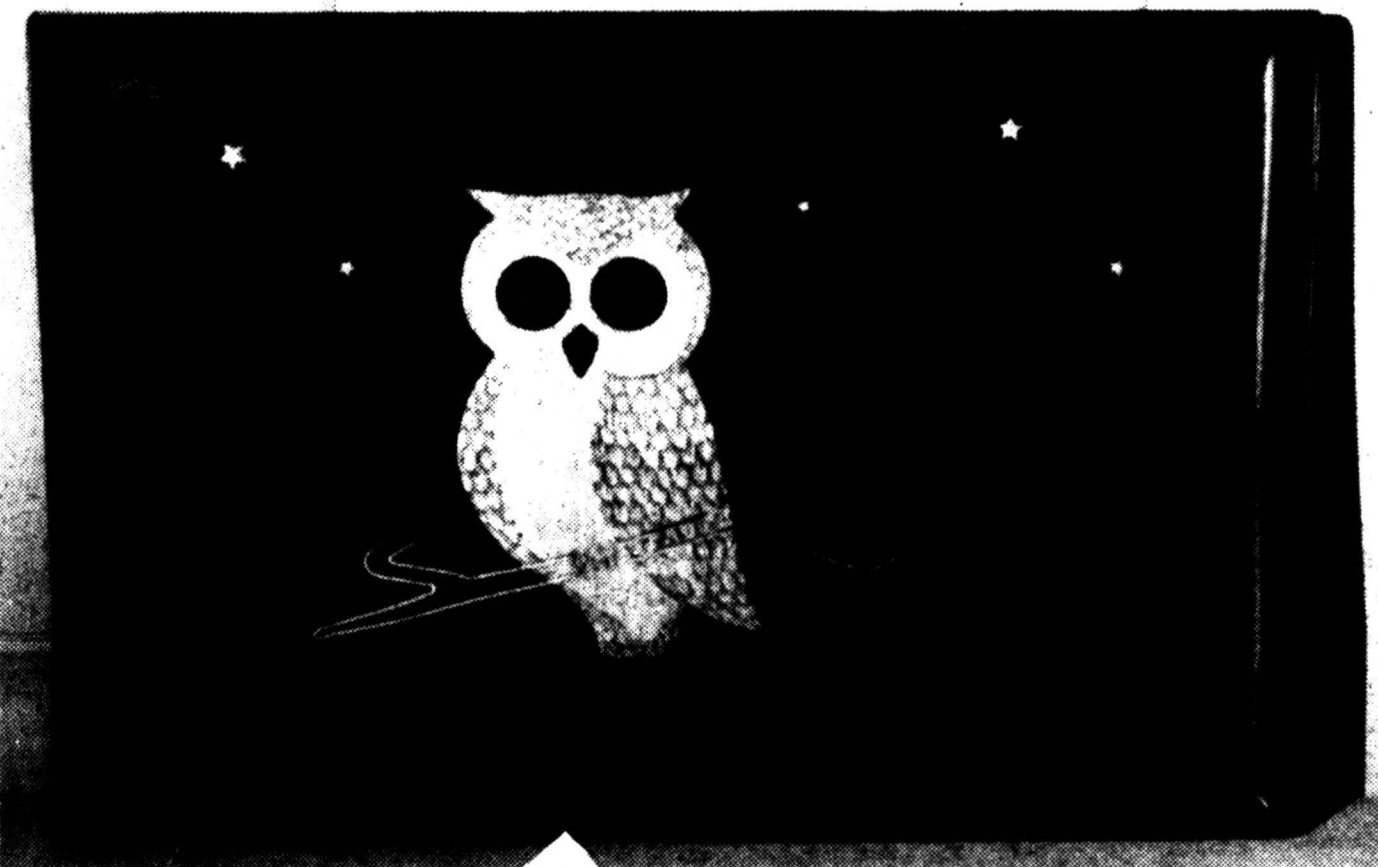

Kingdom Come offers a wide selection of beautiful Christmas cards as well as special Yuletide books, including beautiful editions of the Bible.

A special touch for your home this holiday season, or a sure-to-be-appreciated gift is an olive wood nativity set handcrafted in the Holy Land.

Jonathan and David's "Precious Moments" figurines are charming and popular collector's items that also rate high for Christmas giving. Other seasonal ideas include angels and other tree ornaments, jewelry, records and cassettes.

You'll find a children's corner at Kingdom Come that includes books, cassettes, delightful stuffed animals, games, puzzles and T-shirts

Couroc trays make special mementos

LONG TREASURED as special mementos of the beautiful Monterey Peninsula, a tray by Couroc ranks as a very special Christmas gift.

The creation of Guthrie Courvoisier, who founded the company in 1948, Couroc is a combination of the first three letters of his surname plus "roc" for the hardness of the material. Now, as then, all Couroc designs are manufactured on the Monterey Peninsula.

A special find for smart shoppers is The Second Look, the Couroc factory outlet at 510 Broadway Ave. in Seaside. In addition to perfect Couroc products, you'll find excellent buys on seconds and discontinued styles.

Each Couroc tray, bowl or server is hand-decorated with bits of fine hardwoods and brass. Among the whimsical designs are the owl, pictured above, quail, unicorns, cypress trees, frogs and other birds and beasts, many reminding one of the Monterey Peninsula.

It's In The Bag — gifts that delight

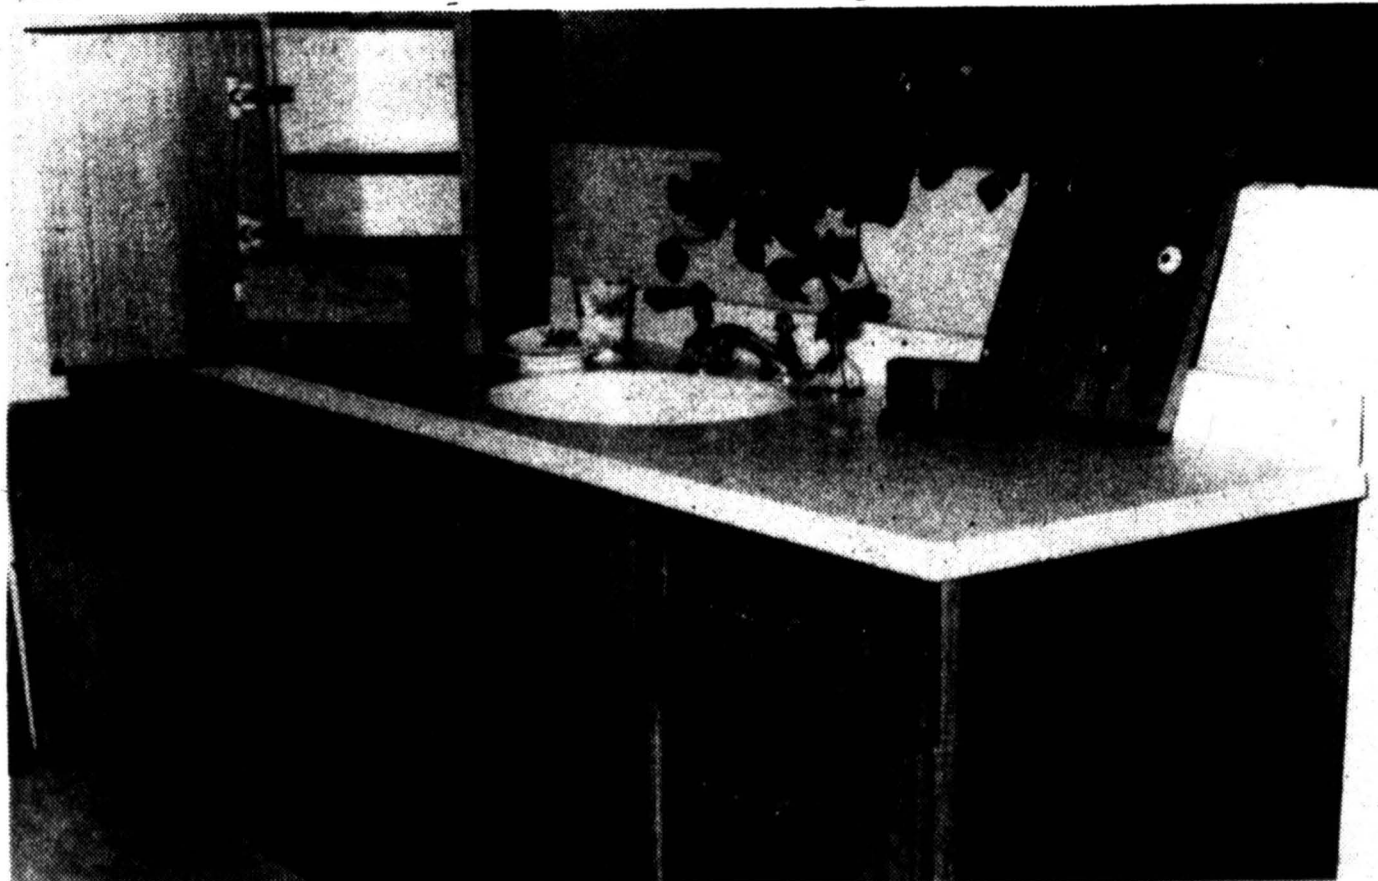

YOUNG AT HEART is the feeling a visit to a unique shop, It's In the Bag, conveys, especially as Christmas draws ever closer. Discover this lively, colorful shop in the Clock Tower Building, adjacent to The Barnyard, Carmel.

Typical of the unusual gift items you'll find here are the whimsical creatures pictured above. These are hens with blue bonnets, but there are pigs, roosters and cows, all handcrafted in California. Not only charming, they are functional as well and are really napkin holders, clocks and planters! (Try the planter for holding kitchen tools brightly on your countertop!)

Wall hangings, hostess and baby gifts, stationery, limited edition prints and unusual gift wrapping are among the finds at It's In the Bag.

The name? It comes from the darling burlap bag tied with a bright calico ribbon that every gift from this shop is wrapped in!

Give your home a present this year

THINK A MOMENT. Is there anything you could give her that would make your wife happier than a spanking new kitchen?

That's where Kitchens & Baths, Etc. comes in. Kitchen and bath remodeling specialists, they can help you plan a wonderful new family-center kitchen from countertops to skylights.

New cabinets and moldings, work islands with storage areas, gleaming new surfaces can transform this much-used room into a bright, pleasant, efficient work area.

Drop by the showroom at 26386 Carmel Rancho Lane, at the entrance to The Barnyard, Carmel, for expert assistance and plenty of inspiration.

Personal gifts at Carmel Drug

VERY PERSONAL GIFTS are the best, and Carmel Drug Store, on Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Dolores, is filled with great Christmas gift items!

Established in 1905, this friendly, real Carmel store has an amazing variety of great gifts. Fragrances for men and women lead the list, of course. Perfumes by Nina Ricci, Worth, Christian Dior, Caron and famed 4711 are all sure to be appreciated, as are the beautiful soaps by Roger Gallet and Maja.

Clocks and watches of all kinds abound. A travel alarm is an exceptionally useful gift, while the Westclox Big and Baby Bens are wonderful at-home alarms. Carmel Drug also carries Timex watches for men and women.

Beautiful brushes and combs by Kent, imported from England, are luxurious gifts. The line includes men's shaving brushes.

Holman's has everything

HOLMAN'S IS HOLIDAY headquarters for smart, creative shoppers. Whatever your gift needs, you'll find the specific item or needed inspiration at this famous department store on Lighthouse Avenue in downtown Pacific Grove.

Holman's offers complete clothing selections for men, women and children with a wide range of fashions that will please young and old alike.

Jewelry, purses, accessories, toiletries for him and her, lingerie, picture frames, art, games and puzzles — you'll find everything imaginable in this gracious, spacious store.

Upstairs, there is furniture and linens; downstairs is a wonderful land of fine china, housewares, small appliances, gourmet foods, plants, tools and toys!

Indeed, wherever you turn, you'll find Christmas gifts galore at this very special store.

Relax and shop Bookworks

BEAUTIFUL BOOKS make such special Christmas gifts! There's really no one on your gift list for whom you can't find a perfect book.

At Bookworks, 667 Lighthouse Ave., Pacific Grove (across from the post office), you can find perfect books and calendars for gifts and relax once your shopping's done.

Now five years old, Bookworks has recently moved to its new location where a coffee house has been added.

The book store itself offers one of the best selections in the area, including a large children's selection, foreign language books, science fiction and best sellers, of course. In addition, you'll find more than 100 different 1982 calendars to choose from, plus uniquely beautiful Christmas cards.

Now for the relaxation! The coffee house serves espresso, teas, hot cider and light snacks including bagels, croissants, cheesecake and sandwiches.

Everyone wants a Valley Cycle

A GLEAMING BICYCLE next to the Christmas tree is what children dream about! At Valley Cycle Center in Carmel Center, behind Longs Drugs, Highway 1 and Rio Road, Carmel, your children's (and adults') dreams can come true!

You'll find fine bicycles from the smallest 16-inch training bike all the way up to racing 10-speeds.

The BMX enthusiast will make Valley Cycle Center headquarters for BMX bikes, parts, equipment and accessories.

Valley Cycle Center also offers complete bicycle repair service from the smallest adjustment to the complete overhaul.

Owned by Chuck and JoAnn Page for 5 years, Valley Cycle Center offers friendly service and great Christmas gift ideas!

Young fashions that please

YOUNG MEN are becoming more fashion-conscious these days and good-looking clothes from the Back Pocket will make their Christmas very special.

The handsome corduroy sport coat shown above bears the famous Sassoon label. Team it with his own designer jeans or dress slacks for a classic well-bred look.

Speaking of designer jeans, the Back Pocket also has Jordache, Calvin Klein and Zeppelin, as well as one of the largest inventories of Levis on the Monterey Peninsula.

For younger boys, there are popular Ocean Pacific shirts and jackets and Levis and Britannia jeans.

Shirts, sweaters, outerwear, ties, suits, sport coats, jackets and casual shoes make the Back Pocket the place for men's, young men's and boys' fine clothing. Discover it on Mission Street just south of Ocean Avenue, Carmel.

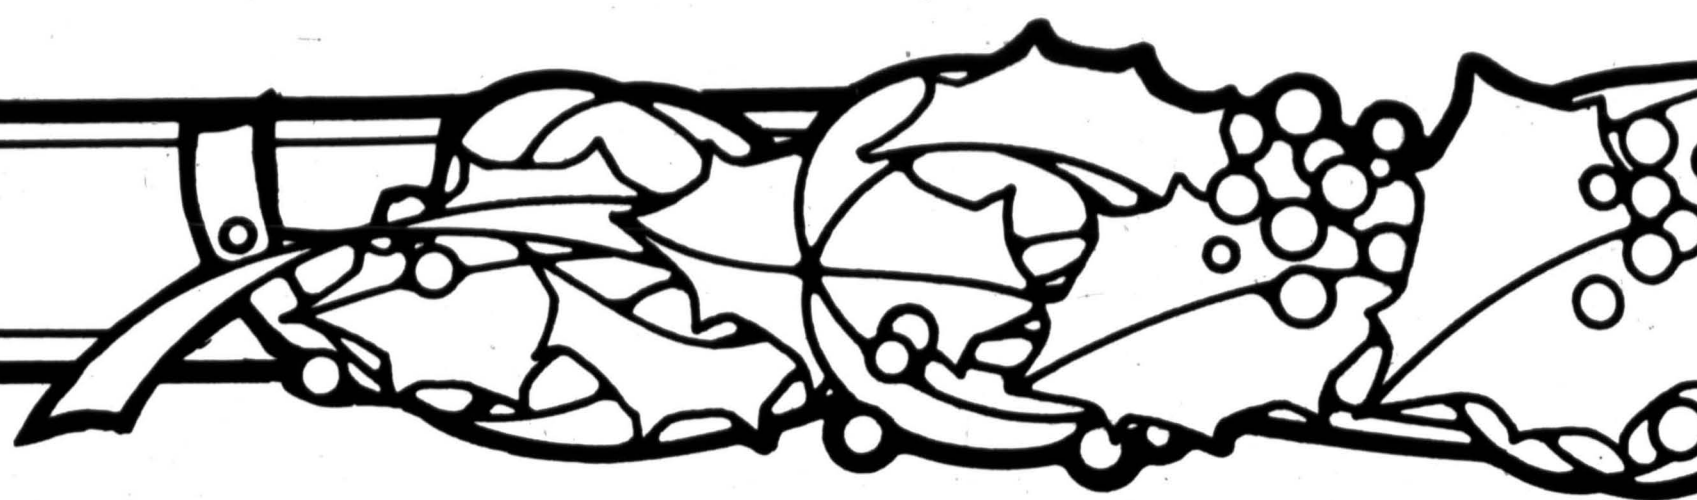

Nature's gifts at Girard's

ONE-OF-A-KIND gifts are the most special. At Girard's Natures Interiors in The Mall, San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth, Carmel, gifts are not only unique, but handmade as well.

That's because clocks, like the buckeye burl pendulum model shown, are created from Nature's designs in fine woods, including redwood, red willow, cottonwood, buckeye and fig. Wouldn't one look grand on your wall?

Other perfect Christmas gift ideas include pen sets in buckeye and redwood, manzanita vases and magnificent cocktail tables with freeform glass tops on redwood bases.

For the timeless, the unique, the fun in one-of-a-kind gifts, visit Girard's Natures Interiors.

Get activewear at Sports Barn

NOW, MORE THAN EVER, activewear heads the "most wanted" gift lists. At The Sports Barn on Carmel Rancho Lane, across from The Barnyard, you will find the latest designer fashions to wear for sports and leisure.

Fausto and Lydia, owners of The Sports Barn, are shown wearing clothes that work hard or play well. Fausto sports a Kyrolan suit by Head and totes a Donnay tennis racket, while Lydia is cozy in a luscious quilted velour warm-up suit by Loomtogs.

Among the fabulous fashions you'll find at The Sports Barn are clothes by Adolfo, designer for Nancy Reagan, Ultra Sport, West 1, Fred Perry, Head, Adidas, Nike, Court Casuals, Paja and many more. The Sports Barn boasts the widest selection of men's, women's and children's warm-ups in Monterey County!

There is also an extensive collection of tenniswear, Ocean Pacific shirts, running apparel and shoes for all sports. These include Adidas, Nike, New Balance and Timberland.

It's a breeze at Surf 'N Sand

SURF 'N SAND Drug Store, Junipero and Sixth, Carmel, makes Christmas shopping a breeze this season! You'll find everything from cookware to candy, from fine wines to exotic perfumes, plus dozens of toys to fill Santa's sleigh, for a merry Christmas for everyone on your list!

A giant teddy bear or a cuddly Raggedy Anne are child-pleasers Yule morning, as are the dolls from the Joan Walsh Anglund collection. Fine stocking stuffers include Lucy's laces, tiny clip-on animals, Matchbox cars and a whole menagerie of beloved Snoopy items and Sesame Street jewelry.

For the chef on your list, you'll find an excellent selection of cookware, cutlery and, from Now Designs, aprons, placemats, napkins and towels.

Special gifts for her include perfumes by Christian Dior, Revlon, Guy Laroche, Lanvin and Nina Ricci — most wanted fragrances all. Gals: for him there are colognes by Kanon, Pierre Cardin, Old Spice and Monsieur Rochas that promise to please on Christmas morn.

Classics at M'Lady Bruhn

IF IN DOUBT, why not give the lady in your life an impeccably-tailored blazer by Stanley Blacker for Christmas? She'll adore it; she'll live in it; she'll wear it proudly year after year — and it appreciates in value!

Gentlemen have long appreciated this fine designer who cuts just as beautifully for gals. M'Lady Bruhn, Ocean Avenue at San Carlos, Carmel, is headquarters for this fine tailor; you'll find classic pure wool suits, as pictured above, and a comprehensive collection of his outstanding blazers, skirts and pants.

Personalized shopping for Christmas is a boon to men. Just ask one of the charming professionals at M'Lady Bruhn and she'll help you personalize your gift even if you're not sure of the lady's size! (That's where M'Lady Bruhn's selection of scarves, jewelry, belts and other accessories comes in!)

Any problem with your selection and it will be cheerfully accepted for return or replacement.

Rainbow Scent shelves overflow with gifts

THE SHELVES at Rainbow Scent in The Barnyard, Carmel, are overflowing even more than Santa's sack! This unique bath shop offers an incredible assortment of bath and body products to tickle the senses and delight the soul.

For a gift of luxury there are beautifully packaged soaps and foaming baths imported from England and Switzerland. A Christmas stocking filled with a colorful collection of pure glycerine soaps would make a most welcome surprise!

Rainbow Scent offers personalized scents blended especially for you from their selection of more than 77 scents. Choose any of the exclusive "Rainbow" line of products — bubble bath, shampoo, bath oil, body shampoo, lotions, conditioners — and have it scented to your favorite fragrance.

You can create a personalized package at Rainbow Scent, too.

Port of Carmel offers unique critters

ANIMAL LOVERS will enjoy a very special Christmas if Port of Carmel has its way! Discover this delightful shop on San Carlos between Ocean and Seventh in the Doud Craft Studios, Carmel.

Pictured are hydro-stone sculptures by Sandi Breu — so lifelike you're tempted to pet them! There are puppies and kittens, a lion cub, sea otter, bunny, squirrel, raccoon, duck and fawn in this amazing material.

Other menageries you'll love include brassware creatures ranging from a lifelike goose to a reindeer, plus freeform stoneware renderings of lions, frogs and dragons.

In addition to its charming critters, Port of Carmel offers a host of unique gifts. There is beautiful handblown glass from Israel, pretty and functional kitchen canisters and potholders, unusual etched glass jewelry boxes to name a few other gift ideas.

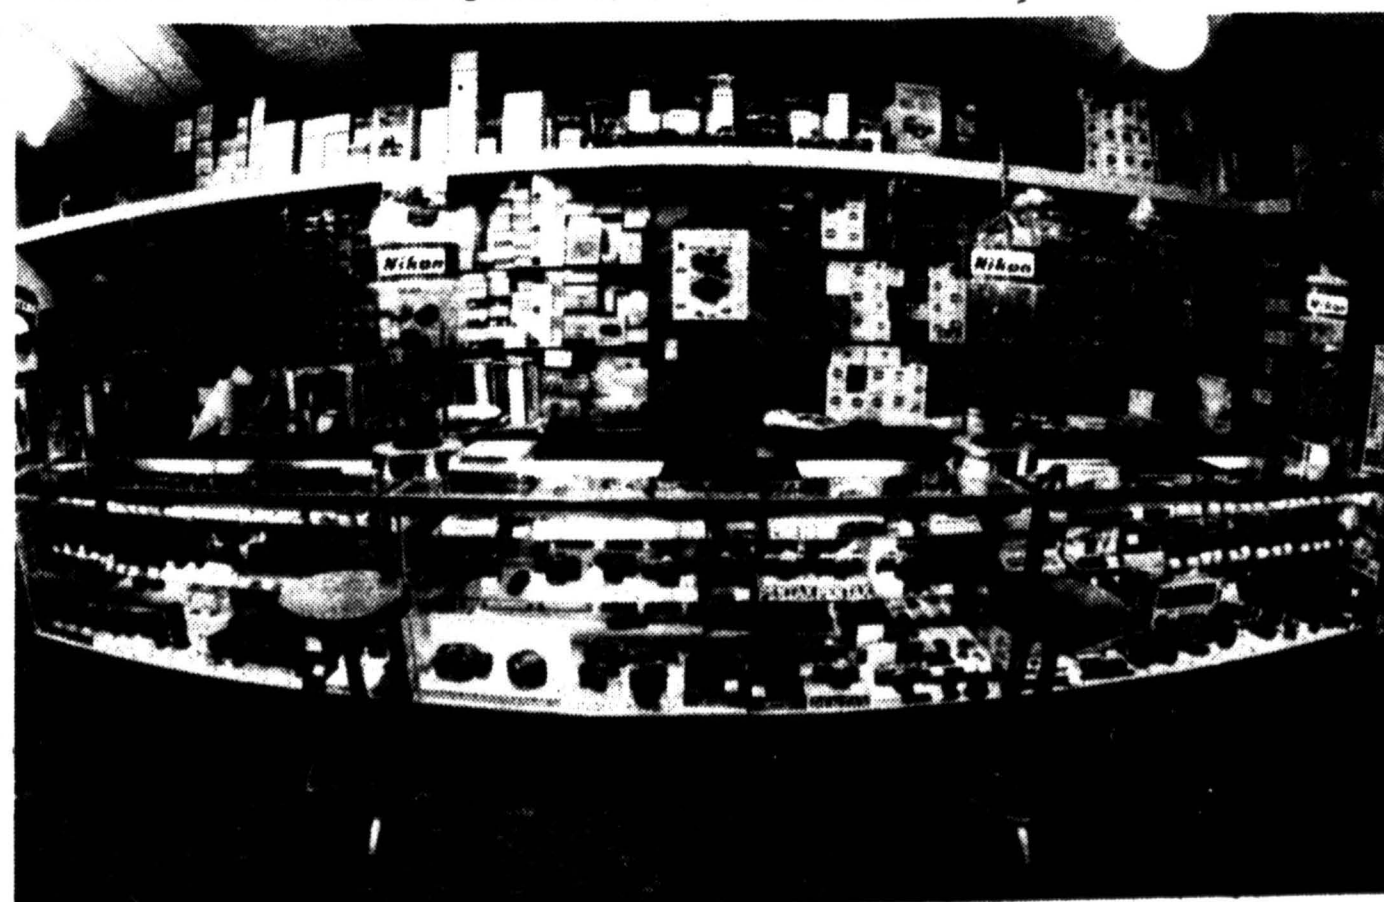

Trust your memories to Bay Photo Lab

MEMORIES ARE MADE of the photographs you take through the holiday season. Bay Photo Lab can help enhance and preserve your special photos and transform them into works of art that will give pleasure all year.

A true custom lab, Bay Photo specializes in custom handwork for the discriminating amateur and professional photographer.

Their Seaside office, at 1776C Fremont Blvd., has been open one-and-one-half years and serves the Monterey Peninsula. The actual lab is located in Soquel.

Bay Photo Lab's primary commitment is to produce the finest quality photographic work. They do restoration, enlargements and copy work of the highest calibre.

Find shutterbug gifts at Camera Center

CAMERAS AND CHRISTMAS go together from a picture-taking and gift-giving point of view. If there's a shutterbug on your gift list, you're in luck! All you have to do is find out what latest gadget he or she is yearning for and head for Carmel Camera Center, San Carlos and Fifth, Carmel, to fulfill that wish!

A photographer's fantasyland, Carmel Camera Center carries all major brands of fine camera equipment: Nikon, Canon, Minolta, Pentax, Hasselblad, Kodak and more at the lowest prices in Monterey County.

Whether you're looking for a simple Kodak Instamatic or a professional-calibre 35mm SLR or medium format camera, the certified photographic counselors at Carmel Camera Center can advise you in your selection.

Give Carmel this year

YOU CAN GIVE Carmel for Christmas in the form of a unique, good-humored "map" of the town painted by local artists Bill Bates and Carol Minou. The original, from which the above detail is taken, graces a 16 x 20-foot wall adjacent to Nielsen's market on San Carlos and Seventh.

The mural recreates some of the famous Bill Bates cartoons that have graced local publications over the years superimposed against a quaint, charming and funny map of Carmel.

Now available as a full-color 18x24-inch reproduction, it will be available in mid-December at various Carmel locations, or may be mail-ordered through the artists.

Be on the lookout for this uniquely "Carmel" Christmas gift idea!

Derek Rayne for classic look

"ALWAYS FITTING — for any occasion," a gift of clothing from Derek Rayne Ltd. on Ocean Avenue near Lincoln, Carmel, is sure to be treasured.

Prestige lines include Oxxford, Southwick, Burberry, Corbin and Hickey-Freeman for gentlemen, Gordon of Philadelphia, Dalton, Merona and others for ladies.

Menswear continues to applaud the tradition of "soft-touch" fabrics like Southwick's natural shoulder lambswool sports jacket, pictured above. Ladies find the classic lines of Dalton separates an always-fitting way to look.

Derek Rayne is known for its extensive selection of fine sweaters in cashmere, lambswool, Shetland and other fine wools, as well as for accessories that include hats, handbags, gloves, scarves and umbrellas.

Jewelry Designs grow in value

ONE PERFECT PEARL, set in pure gold, highlighted by a glittering diamond can make Christmas morning unforgettable for her. Pictured is a wonderful South Seas blister pearl cradled in a custom-designed setting by Michael Sherman.

Well-known for his handcrafted, one-of-a-kind pieces, Michael's headquarters are his Jewelry Designs studio in The Barnyard, Carmel. His work includes rings, pendants, earrings and bracelets; most are made right at the studio.

Colored stones are perfect for the holidays as they reflect the sparkle and joy of gala times. Emeralds, rubies, sapphires, diamonds and pearls grow more desirable with each passing year. Isn't this the Christmas to surprise your special lady with a fine gemstone set in a beautiful mounting by Jewelry Designs?

Fashions for the holiday whirl

CLOTHES TO WHIRL you beautifully through the holiday parties are what fashion is all about at Mark Fenwick at the entrance to Carmel Plaza.

Whether you want to look like a demure princess or a slinky siren, you'll find gleaming, rich, contemporary clothes to achieve your desire. For a sweet and lovely look, begin with a ruffled blouse by A.J. Lowell worn over a matching camisole. Trinity created the cotton velveteen skirt that is made graceful by its flared panels. The satin clutch bag adds a perfect touch.

Holiday silks at Mark Fenwick bear the Irka and Carol Little for Saint Tropez labels in opulent, jewel-like colors. For velvet suits and separates, A.J. Lowell and Sir for Her are the answer.

In between, you'll find day and evening sweaters, skirts and pants and wonderful accessories at Mark Fenwick.

Visit Ron's for Yule cheer

WHY WORRY ABOUT sizes and colors when you can do one-stop Christmas shopping at Ron's Liquors, San Carlos between Ocean and Seventh, Carmel?

Lovely Rona, store manager in Carmel, will be happy to help you select the finest holiday spirits for everyone on your list. And free gift wrapping saves you time and trouble.

Ron's Liquors, with five stores on the Monterey Peninsula, is also holiday party headquarters, catering to every kind of gathering. They also have a warehouse at 1188 Forest Ave., Pacific Grove that offers sizable savings on special items.

Drop in at a Ron's Liquors and learn how quick and easy Christmas shopping can be.

Gift from Allison's will delight

CHRISTMAS DREAMS come true at Allison's Fine Apparel for Children in Carmel Plaza. This holiday season you can outfit the boys and girls on your gift list in a wide range of attractive clothing in sizes from infant through 6x for girls and up to size 7 for boys.

Charming holiday fashions abound at Allison's. Pictured is a festive red polka dotted dress with a pinafore look, eyelet sleeves and contrasting ruffles. Little girls will love to wear the velvet knicker jumpsuit or soft blue velvet dresses now available at Allison's. And what little guy wouldn't look great in a three-piece suit or velvet short pants with matching top for the holidays?

Allison's also has an assortment of adorable Christmas bibs featuring Santa, gingerbread men, candy canes and snowmen. And among the most wanted of presents for small fry, you'll find many delightfully cuddly stuffed animals for Christmas giving.

Choose hats and handbags

FINE LEATHER is practically a lifetime investment. Give a gal a genuine leather handbag and she'll cherish it for years to come.

The same thing is true of an incredible collection of hats — find hats and bags at Carmel Handbag Company in the Doud Craft Studios, San Carlos and Ocean, Carmel — made of pigskin suede with a crushproof crown! (A bonus to early shoppers is that all handbags are on sale through the holidays.)

Other Christmas gift ideas at Carmel Handbag Company include a great selection of custom-fitted leather belts and belt buckles in just about every imaginable size, shape or style.

There are caps for sports car buffs, wallets and leather accessories of many kinds and a whole array of novel items for everyone on our list.

Superb gifts at Woolen Mill

HOLIDAY DREAMS will come true when your Christmas shopping is done at The Woolen Mill, San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth, Carmel.

For men, The Woolen Mill means a good-looking collection of sport coats by Stanley Blacker, Austin Reed and Izod in tweeds, herringbones and wool flannels, plus an extensive selection of slacks to wear with them.

It means fine dress shirts by Damon, beautiful silk neckwear and evening attire by Halston. For relaxed hours, select sweaters by St. Croix (golfers' favorites) and pure Shetlands by Lord Jeff.

A divine pure silk outfit by Carol Little for Saint Tropez in newest colors and patterns would be a sensational Christmas gift — or treat yourself to one for a holiday gala.

Stanley Blacker also designs for gals: his newest designs, including knickers, are at The Woolen Mill right now.

Albert Ltd. for warm gifts

ALBERT LTD., one of the fine Pebble Beach Shops at The Lodge, Pebble Beach, has everything to make this the merriest and most stylish Christmas ever for the man in your life.

A friendly, courteous staff and a fresh pot of coffee ease the pace of holiday shopping here. If you're stumped for the perfect gift, plenty of knowledgeable help is available.

Why not begin browsing through Albert Ltd.'s selection of beautiful imported sweaters? Pictured is a pure cashmere pullover, imported from Scotland, that will make any man purr! The muted-tone Skye tweed sport jacket in a handsome windowpane check is by famed Southwick. (Incidentally, Albert Ltd. is the oldest and largest outlet for Southwick clothes on the West Coast.)

Christmas is a perfect time to give him a new raincoat like the classic version by Burberry our model holds; it features an umbrella that coordinates with the plaid lining.

Stalk gifts at Sample Safari

STALKING CHRISTMAS GIFTS is fun at Sample Safari, a unique ladies' boutique on San Carlos and Seventh, Carmel.

The idea behind Sample Safari is really simple: the shop stocks a sampling of many different manufacturers in a wide range of styles, from very dressy to jogging suits and warm-ups.

In addition to its regular lines, Sample Safari has sample lines produced by manufacturers before they actually ship to retail outlets. That means a fashion scoop for smart shoppers.

A third plus is low pricing. Sample Safari does not take as much mark-up on its clothes and passes the savings on to you.

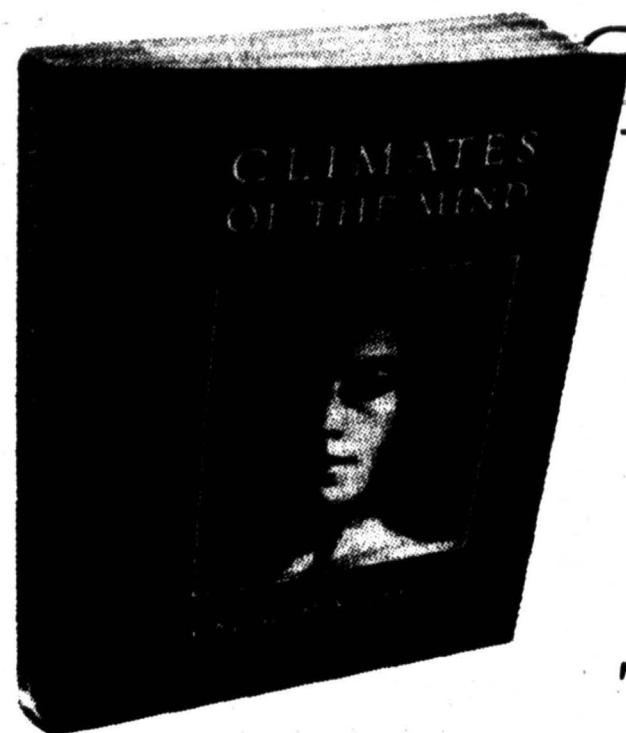

Co-owner Mary Linder models a pure cotton blouse with lace and ruffled trim by Kathleen, a San Francisco-based blouse company. She pairs it with a pure wool skirt by Koret of California in a classic dove grey for a look well-tailored enough to go anywhere.

PASSIONATE —

A TOUR DE FORCE OF THE HUMAN SPIRIT

CLIMATES OF THE MIND

"A rare wedding of poetic prose, philosophy and psychological awareness . . . informs and potentially heals its readers by communicating with love, a sense of what underlies the particulars of their lives."

— Carl A. Faber, Ph.D., Psychologist, Author

"A brilliant creation — reflects deep intuitive insights and illuminations which can serve to open areas of the mind that would otherwise remain dormant."

— Stuart Litvak, Ph.D., Psychologist, Author

"I am grateful for the gift of your vision and courage . . . which erupts into such magnificent power of word and being . . . you have bestowed a treasure upon my life."

— Sister John Martin, Immaculate Heart Sisters

"My life is enriched and my spirit fed by your book . . . you are able to put into words relationships and feelings which I have often sensed, yet feared I could never communicate."

— Joan Healy, Psychiatric Nurse, Nursing Teacher

"This remarkable collection will unerringly help to dissolve those hapless boundaries man (woman) imposes upon himself."

— Jean-Pierre Hallet, Explorer, Humanitarian, Author

The gift shop for men

CAMELHAIR and Ultrasuede, herringbones and corduroys, velvets, cashmeres and woollens — luxurious, lasting, lovely gifts for men abound at Dick Bruhn on the corner of Ocean and San Carlos, Carmel.

If you're afraid to buy him a suit (but he needs one, doesn't he?) because of size, color or style, how about a gift certificate? That means your man can soon look as good as our model in the YSL blue-gray pinstripe in 100 percent worsted wool. Add a fine silk tie by Robert Talbott, and a pure cotton shirt by Halston (you can put those under the tree) and you've got a whole new image for your man the easy way!

Other ideas include camelhair, cashmere or Ultrasuede sport coats, velvet jackets, fine wool or cashmere sweaters, velours for casual wear, silk ties, Izod sweaters...make Dick Bruhn your first —and last — Christmas shopping stop.

Find the sporty gift

MRS. CLAUS is sure to park Santa's sleigh at Village Sports in the Doud Arcade, Ocean near San Carlos, Carmel for the latest sporty dressing.

Featuring casual attire with a sophisticated air, Village Sports has an extensive selection of the Ralph Lauren Polo line. Pictured here is a Lauren jogging outfit designed for style and comfort. Wear it casually or dress it up for the evening — either way it will make a smash this season!

Active sportswear by Geoffrey Beene is a sensation on the current fashion scene. You will certainly want a Beene plush velour jogging suit to welcome Santa. Irresistible in burgundy, purple, black, white, peacock green and teal blue, these suits are designed to delight the woman on your list.

At Village Sports you'll find Izod sportswear and L.A. Seat Covers for women.
